MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING

Of a Woman Called to the Door of Her Home

SHE WAS ASKED FOR LIQUOR ing on the case for two months.

Refusal to Comply With Demand Led to Attempts to Kick Door In, Threat to Burn Down House, and Subsequent Shots From a Revolver

Portland, Me., April 1 .- A shooting affray at Cape Elizabeth, when Mrs. Margaret E. Mansfield was seriously wounded by one of a party of young men and women, is a mystery. The poice of this city have taken hold with the county officers and are assisting in the investigation, but they have hardly any clue upon which to work. From the story told by Mrs. Mansfield and a young man who was in the bouse with er when the shooting occurred, the poice believe the assailant and his companions were under the influence of iquor and the shooting was done more party by his bravado rather than to injure the woman. Working on this theory they are now looking for a hack driver who drove a party to Cape

The shooting occurred about 9:30 'clock Sunday night at Mrs. Mansfield's house near Pond Cove. At the time of the shooting there was in the house besides Mrs. Mansfield, Walter Stearns, a private at Fort Williams. and Harry, Mrs. Mansfield's 3-year-old

The first intimation of trouble came when a carriage containing three men and two women drove up and stopped n front of the house and a man denanded admission. On being asked what was wanted he said they wanted liquor. Mrs. Mansfield told him she had no liquor. He replied that he knew she had liquor and with that made an attack on the front door, attempting to kick it in. Several panels of the door were split, and seeing that the door would soon fall in Stearns started fact, denies Carter's allegations. to open it. Mrs. Mansfield was standing close to Stearns and the door had swung open a foot or so when a shot was fired, striking Mrs. Mansfield in the

The parties outside made more talk, including a threat to burn the house, and fired at least two more shot they drove away. Neither Mrs. Manseld nor Stearns saw any of the party distinctly, but Harry Manstield, from a chamber window, witnessed the whole affair. He says the carriage was a covered one, drawn by a dark horse and that one of the men had a light moustache, wore a light coat and a brown hat. After the shooting one of the men went to the Belmont hotel nearby and borrowed a lantern from a man who has charge of the stable, saying that a woman had been shot down at Mrs. Mansfield's. The lantern was not returned and the stableman saw no more of the party.

Mrs. Mansfield's wound, while a se rious one, will not result in permanent injury unless something unforeseen

The gypsy, who had accompanied him to the camp of the Angara, urged him to put this project into execution. And, indeed, it was necessary to act without delay. The Russian troops of the government of Irkutsk were marching to the relief of Irkutsk. They were concentrating on the higher waters of the Lena and marching up the valley. They would surely arrive before six days. It was necessary, then, that Irkutsk should be delivered up by treachery before six days.

The grand duke, General Voranzoff merchant, with whom had been joined a number of superior officers, had just passed divers resolutions.

'you know exactly our situation. I have a firm hope that we shall be able to hold out until the arrival of troops from Iakoutsk. We shall then know well how to drive away these barbarous hordes, and it will not be my fault of the Currency Ridgley has received if they don't pay dearly for this invasion of Russian territory." "Your highness knows that we can rely on the whole population of Irkutsk," replied General Voranzoff.

"Yes," said the grand duke, "and I render homage to its patriotism. Thank God, it has not as yet suffered from the horrors of an epidemic or a famine, and I have reason to think it will escape them. But at the ramparts I could not help admiring their courage. I trust the chief of the merchants hears my words, and I beg him to report them as "I thank your highness in the name of the town," answered the chief of the merchants. "May I dare to ask you when you expect at latest the arrival of the army of relief?"

"In six days at most," answered the grand duke. "A sharp and courageous emissary has been able to penetrate into the town this morning, and he has informed me that 50,000 Russians are two days ago on the banks of the Lena, at Kirensk, and now neither cold nor struggle, and that he had struggled George's parish, has given $60,000. "Will your highness permit me to make an observation?" said the chief of the merchants. "Make it, sir."

"I have seen the temperature fall nany a time to 30 and 40 below zero, and the river has been filled with floating pieces of ice without being entirely frozen. This is owing no doubt to the rapidity of the current. If, then, the Tartars have no other means of crossng the river, I can assure your highness they cannot possibly cross in that that in such dire manner." in the Mill Situation In New England

WORK GOES ON AT LOWELL

With the Possibility of an Increase In Wages In the Near Future-Blackstone Valley Mills Grant an Increase-Tne Brewery Troubles

Boston, April 1 .- The posting of notices of advances in wages made Easter Monday a particularly pleasant day to tens of thousands of cotton mill operatives in southern New England. Some disagreements over the amount of the raise have arisen and the yarn mill operatives, who have not been included in the increase, are disposed to be restive, but on the whole the mili situation is much better than a week

The chief incident yesterday was the continuance at work of most of the 16,-000 operatives in the seven corporations at Lowell, who on Friday last expected to be idle through the vote of the organized crafts to strike. Work was resumed as usual except in those departments in which orders had been losed out in anticipation of a shutdown. In a few days every available nill hand will be at work and probably the night shifts of spinners and carders in some mills as during the en ire winter months.

It is evident that the Textile Council declared the strike off under the impression that a strike actually would have been turned into a lockout, so de terminated were the mill agents to re sist an increase in wages. There is a general impression that a little later, if market conditions continue strong and the increase in wages in print cloth centres tends to firm prices in other cotton goods, an ad vance of perhaps 5 percent will be granted, or even something better. At present there is no promise or hope of

In the Blackstone Valley

Pawtucket, R. I., April 1.-Every cotton mill in the Blackstone valley with the exception of the Lorraine Manufacturing company, which has given notice that an advance of 10 per cent in the wages of its employes wi go into effect on or about April 7. The management of the Samose company, with mills at Valley Falls and Central Falls, employing over 500 hands, late yesterday afternoon announced that the desired increase would be granted. The Slater Cotton company of this city, employing 750 hands, and the Valley Falls company, situated at Albion, gave notice of a general advance in wages during the day. The Lorraine mills employ about 1900 hands and as yet the management has shown no disposition to revise the schedule of wages. None of the yarn mills in this state has as yet announced an increase. The mule spinners in the employ of the J. & P. Coates Thread company (limited) are making a determined stand for more pay, and they assert that unless their demands are granted they will force the issue. If an advance is granted in one department of the great thread works it is quite likely that difficulties will arise because the increase was not made general.

AS A SENSE OF DUTY

Bacon Wanted Acquisition of

Danish Islands Deferred

THE CHARGES OF BRIBERY

He Does Not Consider True, but Would Await Result of House Investigation -Republicans Raise Objections and the Resolution Is Not Passed

Washington, April 2.-In the excutive session of the senate yesterday Senator Bacon offered a resolution requiring the president to defer the ssuing of his proclamation announcing the acquisition of the Danish West Indies under the terms of the treaty recently negotiated with Denmark until the pending investigation of the charges of bribery made in connection with that treaty should be concluded by the house of representatives.

The resolution provoked a smart debate, which was participated in by Senators Bacon and Money, both Democratic members of the committee on by Senators Cullom, Lodge, Hanna, on the other side. In presenting the resolution Senator

Bacon said he brought it to the attention of the senate out of a sense of duty and of high regard for the position of that body before the country. He outined the charges made by Mr. Gron to the effect that Mr. Christmas, another subject of Denmark, had made a report to the effect that he was to receive 10 percent of the consideration of $5,000,000 to be paid by the United States to Denmark for the islands and that Christmas, in his report, had mentioned the names of several persons to whom he had paid money. Mr. Bacon said he did not for a minute accept this report as true, but felt that, inasmuch as the house had taken sufficient cognizance of it to order an investigation, the senate should take some step, in view of its recent action in ratify ing the treaty, looking to the suspension not believe that the senate could reconsider its action of ratification, but there would be no impropriety in asking the president to hold the matter up emporarily or finally in case it should be proved that the charges were not without foundation. He said that his only motive was to put the senate right before the country, and in this connection, he commented upon the readiness of the public to assume the correctness Senator Bacon was interrupted frequently by Republican senators, and of all charges involving public men. when he took his seat there were several of them on the floor ready to respond to his suggestion. They agreed to a man that the senate was not called on to take any action under the circumstances, saying that the charges had not been made public and were not known when the treaty was ratified; that the president could be depended upon to perform his duties without any hint from the senate, and that the house investigation probably very soon would develop that the charges were based upon nothing. They expressed regret that any charge had been made, but said they saw no reason why the sale of the islands should not proceed. Senator Cullom, as chairman of the committee on foreign relations, said that the treaty had received careful consideration and that there was general agreement to the effect that the United States, from both a strategic and economic standpoint, had done well in acquiring the islands. Senator Lodge and other Republican members took the same position. Senator Nelson said that he did not consider the charge, originating with persons who were unknown to the senate, worthy of that body's serious consideration. In his opinion to take any such step as was contemplated by the resolution under the circumstances would be an insult to the government of Denmark. Senator Hanna denied all knowledge of Mr. Christmas or his mission and expressed his opinion that the transaction, so far as the United States government was concerned, had been perfectly clean. Senator Money spoke in the same vein as had Senator Bacon, saying that he saw no objection to the passage of the resolutions, as they would only serve to delay the matter for a brief time in case the charges should prove diminishing. to be without foundation, while if they were well founded much good might be accomplished by delay. TRAIN CAUGHT IN BLIZZARD

Passengers Spent Many Days on Short | men were quickly overcome Rations and Scant Supply of Fuel-Relief Finally Obtained by the Tapping of a Telegraph Wire

St. Paul, April 3.-Passengers arriving yesterday on a Great Northern train due last Friday, tell of being snowbound for four days and five nights on the prairies of North Dakota n the midst of the worst blizzard the northwest has seen in many years, with only food enough for two frugal meals a day, and with such a scant amount of fuel that the women had to wrap themselves in blankets to keep from freezing. The men had also to wear their overcoats day and night. The train was completely lost to the world. Late Thursday afternoon it left Williston in the hope of reaching Minot, many miles to the east, before night. Almost mid-way, at a little stopping place called Ray, where there is only a siding, water tank and a coal shed, the train was stalled. The engineer thought he could run fle engine back to Williston and gen aid, and taking the conductor with him, started on the trip. The lone engine was stuck in a drift in a cut wshort distance out of the town and had to be aban-

This left the train of eight coaches and about 250 passengers alone or the siding, with all communication cut off. Then began the long siege, during which the cold had to be borne and hunger stifled. There was much suffering.

There was an incipient riot on the first day. The second-class passengers insisted that they must have as much as or more food than the others, and as they were in larger numbers and had more were not willing, as the first-class passengers insisted, that the women and children should be fed and taken care of first, but after some argument they were prevailed upon to subside.

Monday evening Professor Colegrove of the University of Washington atipted suicide by cutting his throat! with a razor. There was a physician on the train but he had no facilities for tomers when he was snot in the back. performing the necessary operation and communication with one of the neighboring towns. In their desperation payment of rent. the passengers broke open everything in the train's chest, and found a telegraph instrument. A young man, an electrician, faced the blizzard and tapped one of the wires and attached the instrument. He notified the operators at both Minot and Williston of what had occurred. From each place a snowplow was started in front of an engine, bearing a surgeon. The one from Minot, after a hard night's work, reached the siding the following morning and the wounded man was removed to St. Paul.

The almost famished passengers, who had suffered from the cold and exposure, were given food and warm berths in the first train pushed through the drifts. The rotary plow made one trip through the drift between Ray and Minot, but the snow piled in so rapidly that it was necessary for the rotary to pass through again and then precede the passenger through the cut. Professor Colegrove's jugular vein is partially severed and it is not believed

The Morning Leader asserts that several officers of this particular irregular corps shot natives like rabbits, murdering men of their own command against whom they had grudges. The incident which led to their court martial was the cold blooded "execution" by those officers of 10 Boers who were journeying to Pietersburg with the object of surrendering. It with them. Actuated by cupidity, the Australians stopped the Boers, tried them by mock court martial and ordered all to be shot. This was done by a squadron of the soldiers : fter some of the non-commissioned officers had refused to carry out the death sentence. The officers then ransacked the Boer wagons and were disgusted upon finding that the £20,000 was in the Transvaal paper money. Continuing, The Morning Leader says a German missionary a few miles distant from the scene of 'he 'execution" heard of the affair. Lieutenant Hancock, one of the Australians concerned, fearing he would divulge his information, shot, the missionary dead. This shooting eventually led to a complaint by the German consul to Lord Kitchener, who proceeded to court martial the Australians.

Edward Everett Hale.

Rev. Edward Everett Hale whose 80th birthday is to be celebrated at Symphony hall, Boston, this evening can boast of a greater number of honorary titles than any other living American.

"Boston's grand old man" and "the greatest living Bostonian" are perhaps the more familiar of these, and he is likewise known as "the living dynamo" and the all-around friend of humanity-preacher, journalist, author, lecturer, organizer, social reformer, philosopher and philanthropist.

Dr. Hale was born in Boston, April 2, 1822 descending from one of the oldest and most prominent New England families.

Comparing the Boston of that day with the Boston of the present, he has said: "I have sailed my bark boat on the salt waters where I now can sit in the parlors of my parishioners."

A purse of $25,000 has been raised by his friends and parishioners which will be presented to him this evening.

A Social Event.

The entertainment at Quincy Music hall on Friday evening under the management of Mr. Emery L. Crane for the benefit of Christ church rectory fund, promises to be a brilliant social event as well as an artistic triumph. There will be orchestra music beginning at 7.50, and the curtain will rise for the farce at 8 o'clock promptly.

TODAY'S COURT.

John O'Brien was arraigned for drunkenness at Quincy and was given until Saturday to pay

Robert Jones was fined $3 for drunkenness at Quincy.

Charles Grover was sent to the State Farm at Bridgewater for being a tramp at Weymouth. Humphrey Coakley was fined $3 for assault on John Maguire at Weymouth.

"A neighbor ran in with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy when my son was suffering with severe cramps and was given up as beyond hope by my regular physician, who stands high in his profession. After administering three doses of it, my son regained consciousness and recovered entirely within twenty four hours." says Mrs. Mary Haller, of Mt. Crawford, Va. Assessments of Some Land Has Within Ten Years.

The Residential Lot of Henry H. Faxon Assessed for $15,000 to His Son.

The Assessors' Figures of 1892 Compared With Those of Last Year -Many Changes in Ownership

About nine years ago the Ledger published the Assessors' values of Hancock street land. The increase has been very marked since, and the figures of 1892 and 1901 are given below side by side. The number of square feet in the lots is practically the same now as in 1892, but there have been a few divisions and some reduction because of street widenings. The buildings in no case are included with the lots, although they are mentioned for identification of estates. It will be observed that the lots generally are large, four or five being over an terian church of Quincy, was installed Wednesday as pastor of the Winthrop acre, and most of them over 10,000 feet.

In making comparisons one should know the character of the land, whether high or low, the frontage, depth of lot, etc.

There are about the same number of land owners on the east side of Hancock street in Ward One as on the west side, the Rev. D. M. Wilson, Col. A. Tate, who played centre field with such B. Packard and Dr. J. A. Gordon owning the largest tracts. # THE COURIER OF THE CZAR

By Jules Verne

Ivan Ogareff gave the mintary salute o the grand duke, not forgetting that he was captain in the corps of the couriers of the czar, and he withdrew. Ivan Ogareff had just now played with success his base role. The grand duke's confidence had been accorded him full and entire. He could abuse it when and where he thought proper. He would even live in that palace. He would know all the secrets of the defense. He held, therefore, the situation in his hand. No one in Irkutsk knew him. No one could tear off his mask. He resolved, therefore, to begin the work without more delay. Ivan Ogareff, having every facility of seeing, observing and acting, spent the next day in visiting the fortifications. Everywhere he was received with cordial congratulations by the officers, soldiers and citizens. This courier of the czar was like a tie which bound them to the empire. Ivan Ogareff therefore recounted to them all the details of his journey, and this with a Hancock Market, first because it will vivacity that was never wanting. Then be cut from a prime grade of beef, adroitly, without at first insisting on it second because great care is taken in too much, he spoke of the gravity of handling the meat, third because it's the situation, exaggerating, as he had cut just exactly as a porterhouse done while addressing the grand duke, should be cut. We take special pride both the successes of the Tartars and in our steaks, but equal care is taken the forces at their disposal. To listen to him, the succor would be insufficient should it even come, and it was to be feared that a battle fought under the walls of Irkutsk would be as disastrous as the battles of Kalyvan, of Tomsk and of Krasnoiarsk

Ivan Ogareff was not at first lavish in these sinister insinuations. He took care they should penetrate by degrees into the minds of the defenders of Irkutsk. He seemed to answer only when a great many questions were put to him and then as though with regret. In any case he added always that it must defend itself to the last man, and they must blow it up rather than sur-

If the defenders of Irkutsk could have been discouraged, Ivan Ogareff had chosen an efficient means. But any circumstance should prevent the the garrison and population of Irkutsk were too patriotic to allow themselves to be frightened. Of those soldiers, of those citizens, shut up in an isolated which he intended treacherously to surtown at the farthest end of the Asiatic world, not one had dreamed of speaking of capitulation. The disdain of Russia for those barbarians was without limit. In any case no one for a moment suspected the hateful role which Ivan Ogareff was playing. No one could have imagined that the pretended courier of the czar was nothing else than a traitor.

A circumstance altogether unnatural was the cause, from his arrival at Irkutsk, of there being frequent relations between Ivan Ogareff and one of its brayest defenders, Wassili Feodor, One knows with what anxiety this unhap py father was devoured. If his daugh ter, Nadia Feodor, had left Russia a: the date assigned by the last letter he had received from Riga, what had become of her? Was she still trying to traverse the invaded provinces, or rather, had she already been for a long time a prisoner? Wassili Feodor could not find any solace for his sorrow except when he had some opportunity of fighting against the Tartars, opportunities which were too seldom for his liking. Now, when Wassili Feodor was informed of the unexpected arrival of a courier from the czar he had a presentiment that this courier could give him some tidings of his daughter. It

The resolution of Wassili Feodor went to find Ivan Ivan Ogareff was taken, and that very Ogareff, who availed himself of this night from the top of the rampart a opportunity to have daily relations with the commandant. Did the renegade think he could turn that circumstance to his own profit? Did he judge 2 o'clock in the morning, that Ivan all men by himself? Could he believe Ogareff had fixed for delivering up Irthat a Russian, even a political exile. kutsk to the Tartars. If troubled by a weak digestion, loss could be so mean as to betray his country? Whatever was the case, Ivar Ogareff met with skillfully feigned eagerness all the advances made to him by the father of Nadia. The latter, the Very next morning after the arrival of the pretended courier, went to the palace of the governor general. There he informed Ivan Ogareff of the circum stances under which his daughter had to leave European Russia and told him the United States senatorship: For now what was his anxiety in her re- James P. This order is a result of the 'ecision by the Manufacturers' association to fight the union. It means that if the strike goes on in the King mill as scheduled every mill in Augusta, Graniteville, Aiken, Warrenville, Van Cluse and Langley will be closed, throwing 10,000 operatives out of work. Union leaders insist that the strike will take place Monday, although many operatives are opposing it.

Brewery Strike Is On

Boston, April 3.-Another strike was ordered last night, when the two Brewery Workers' unio is, comprising about 1200 inside men, employed by the 26 breweries in this city, voted not to report for duty this morning because of the master brewers' refusal to concede their demands for shorter hours with the same wages as at present and for certain other concessions. There are 300 more men, including drivers, engineers, firemen and coopers, who have not yet formally voted to strike, but who express their determination to do so at once in case non-inion ren are put to work in place of the strikers. from Symphony hall. The evening's exercises began with the singing by the Cecilia society of Cesar Franck's arrangement of the 150th psalm. The audience then joined in a number of sentences of responsive reading, and this was followed by Gounod's anthem "Send Out Thy Light." Henry L. Higginson then introduced Senator Hoar, who made an address of greeting and congratula-

Peter Cornelius' grand finale to the opera of "The Barber of Bagdad," ending with the words: "Live till your thousandth year in fame," was then sung by the society, after which Dr. Hale was introduced by Senator Hoar. It was some minutes before the eminent divine could find words to express himself, but at last he said that he was very thankful for the generous welcome. "Put yourself in my place," he said. "I am to do something which I have all along advised young men not to do, and that is to talk about myself. It would seem for a moment as if we must look backward and not

Dr. Hale then spoke briefly of his early life and said that he was urged to enter the navy when a young man, then to take a position in a large manufactory of brick, and finally he learned the printing business. He could not tell why it was that he had entered the life of a minister. With g. eat deftness he turned the thoughts of the audience from himself to the work of the ministry and finally toward the future and the great opportunity of mankind in the present century. He closed with the words: "Each is to live for all and all are to live for each other." Letters were read from President Roosevelt and Senator Lodge. The evening's exercises closed with the singing by the entire audience of the hymn, "St. Martins," and the benediction by Dr. Hale.

His fault was straightway overlooked, and he was afterward held up as an instance of filial plety. There are several proverbs which go to show that the folk think lightly of stealing. One says that "when tailors cease to pilfer cloth their children will have to go without food," and another declares, "When silversmiths do not steal, they will certainly starve."

ILMOT paused at the edge of the steps, ostensibly to light a cigar, but really to avoid walking down the avenue with Ziegfeld, who had come out of the house at the same time. Both the young men had been calling upon Miss Corey. They had arrived simultaneously, had spent a half hour uncomfortably in the drawing room and had gone together, though neither of them knew how that had happened.

Ziegfeld turned as the match flared up and drew a cigar from his pocket, but Wilmot calmly kindled his own Havana, threw down the burned match and started off briskly without having spoken a word. Zieg-

It felt unsteady, and he became aware of something under the inside band. This proved to be a bit of dainty writing paper, folded, and upon opening it Wilmot read:

Come back after that animal has gone. I have something important to say.
G. C.

It was Miss Corey's hand, and the message was very welcome. Wilmot was rejoiced that she should call Ziegfeld an animal; she had always seemed to like him. This was the first intimation that she knew what he really was. As to that, it had lain upon Wilmot's conscience that he had not told the girl more about Ziegfeld, whom he believed to be a cad of the worst description-a scheming, spying, underhand

He put the note into his waistcoat pocket and was about to replace the hat, which meanwhile he had held in his hand, when he suddenly became aware that it was not his. It was from the same maker, but it was a different hat—Ziegfeld's, certainly!

Wilmot felt the blood rush to his head and sing in his ears. If the hat were Ziegfeld's, whose must the note be? And who was meant by "that animal?"

The thing was monstrous: common sense told him so at once. It must be that Grace had made a mistake in the hats. He could not

"She scribbled that note," said he, "when she went to get the cards for the kids"-referring to Miss Corey's little brother and sister. "She got the cards out of the desk, and then she went out into the hall and told the children that they could have that small table to play upon. My hat and gloves were on that table, and she knew it. She knew that Ziegfeld's hat was hanging on that old fashioned thing by the door. She couldn't have been mistaken."

Wilmot wiped his forehead, which seemed to him to be steaming in the frosty air.

"Her brother Bobby," he continued, "took my things and put them with Ziegfeld's, but Grace did not go near had to fix that note was while the two hats were separate, and, by jingo, I remember her standing by the door and telling Bobby where to put my things! She said 'Mr. Wilmot's.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For Week Beginning April 6. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic -Growing in grace.-II Pet. iii, 17, 18; I Pet. ii, 1, 2; Eph. iv, 12-15. The word grace has two meanings in the Scriptures. First, the free and unmerited favor by which God saves us. "By grace are ye saved through faith, and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God." Second, grace refers to "the blessings of the Spirit inwrought in the heart" and manifested life of the believer. The word as used in the topical reference has the latter meaning. To grow in grace means to grow in the graces which under the blessing of the Spirit come to make the Christian character all that it ought to be.

The duty of Christian growth is frequently emphasized in the Scriptures. Christ had much to say about growth and advancement in the Christian life, Paul eloquently pleaded for it, and here Peter joins his exhortation with those of the Master and the great apostle to the gentiles. "Grow in grace" is his command in his second epistle, and that "grace * * * be multiplied" to his readers was his prayer in his first epistle. This constant emphasis of growth by the great Christian teachers is a proof of its necessity and importance. This fact should be impressed upon us, and we should strive by obedience, by knowledge and by prayer to constantly "grow in grace."

The necessity of constant growth in grace lies in the fact that we cannot become perfect in this life. If we could reach perfection, if a time could come in our lives when grace could not be multiplied in us, then the command to grow would be without meaning to us. But such a realization is impossible in this life, at least in the view of the great apostles. Paul served God with peculiar devotion and zeal for threescore years, and yet he knew nothing about the modern doctrine of perfectionism. Perfection is impossible this side eternity, and therefore growth in grace is an imperative 2d--Don't pay too much for it. necessity until the end of time.

Growth in grace is a safeguard against the lack of steadfastness. "Beware," says the apostle, "lest ye also, being led away with the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness. But [that you may not fall] grow in grace." Clothes sooner or later. Growth is absolutely necessary to steadfastness. We cannot stand still in the Christian life and character. We will grow or decline in grace, and that we may not decline, but may be steadfast and immovable, we should constantly advance in grace and in the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God unto a perfect man unto the measure of the stature of Christ.' This is the goal toward which we strive. All the means of grace are for "the perfecting of the saints," which work goes on until the end of life, when "the Fuls of believers are made perfect in holiness and do immediately pass into glory."

Be Reconciled to God.

The shame and curse of the world is that it is alienated from God. That alienation is the curse of human degradatibn and misery, and a supreme duty and a high and peculiar privilege of the followers of Christ are to beseech men, in Christ's stead, to be reconciled to God. In all ages the path to that reconciliation has led through the gate of repentance. It has been the result of being born again by the spirit of God, which has made an inimical human soul a lover of God and the servant of Christ.-Christian Intelligencer (Baptist).

PEACE OF THE WORLD

The Object of Provisions In Cecil Rhodes' Will

CITIZEN OF UNITED STATES

In the Sense That Great English-Speaking Community Was Recognized as Common Fatherland-Scholarships For Americans

London, April 5.—The will of Cecil Rhodes provides for the establishment of colonial scholarships and two American scholarships to each of the present states and territories of the United States.

The will of Mr. Rhodes a so provides for five scholarships for students of German birth at Oxford, to be nominated by Emperor William, and, commenting on the bequest, Mr. Rhodes, in a codicil said: "For a good understanding between England, Germany and the United States will secure the peace of the world, and educational relations form the strongest tie."

All the Rhodes scholarships, American, Colonial and German, are at Ox-

Mr. Rhodes' will is a remarkable and voluminous document of over 3500 words. Even this is not the entire will, as the executors only gave out the portions which they consider to be of public interest. It was executed in 1899. A codicil leaves $20,000 yearly to keep the spot in the Matoppo hills, I here his remains are to be buried. Mr. Rhodes explicitly says he is to be buried in an aperture cut in the selid rock, surmounted by a brass tablet bearing the words: "Here ie the remains of Cecil John Rhodes." No one else is to be buried there who has not deserved well of his country.

Regarding the American scholarships Mr. Rhodes says: "I desire to encourage and foster an appreciation of the advantages which, I implicitly believe, will result from a union of the English-speaking peoples throughout the world, and to encourage in the students from the United States, who will benefit by these scholarships, an atfrom the land of their adoption or scholarships will be 98, even if the claims of Alaska and Indian Territory, which have no delegates in congress are not allowed. Americans "ill thus benefit by the investment of millions of dollars to facilitate their education at Oxford, Eng.

The will provides that the executors may, at their discretion, delay estabtil such time as they may think fit: out it provides also that the territorial scholarships, once established, shall not lapse upon the admission of the territory to statehood.

Another provision is that no student shall be qualified or disqualified for election to a scholarship on account of race or religious opinion.

Mr. Rhodes desires that the students should not patronize any particular college, but distribute themselves throughout the university. The trustees are allowed to suspend or remove any scholar, at their discretion.

Mr. Rhodes expresses the hope that the trustees will arrange an annual dinner and reunion for all students and scholarship graduates who are able to attend and invite thereto as guests "persons who have shown sympathy with the views expressed by me in my

W. T. Stead wrote the following for The Associated Press: "The will of Cecil Rhodes is in every respect worthy of its author. With the exception of some family estates in this country, the whole of which are left to his own relatives, Mr. Rhodes has dedicated Lis wealth in diamond and gold mines to public uses. Its disposition is dierated by what was ever the dominating principle of his life.

Roars of merriment greeted the parading through the room at the opening of the dinner of an enormous picture representing Senator Platt as a Sunday school teacher, addressing a class composed of President Recsevelt, Governor Odell, Lieutenant Governor Woodruff, ex-Governor Black and Senator Depew. As the picture was borne round the room the assemblage joined in singing "The Sunday School." The singing of the "Anthean of the Amen Corner" served as a prelude to the introduction of the guest of the evening. Senator Platt made a characteristic speech, dwelling particularly on national and state politics, and concluded by saying:

"For 21 years I have attended almost nightly at the gatherings of the Amen Corner, and as I look back tonight at the great questions it has discussed, at the important resolutions it has taken, I am profoundly impressed with the fact that it has been our good fortune to live in a sturdy, a noral and progressive age. And the glorious thing about it is that its opportunities increase with the benevolence of its aspirations.

After Assistant District Attorney Krotel had rendered "The Lost Job," a travesty on "The Lost Chord," the orchestra hailed Senato: Depew, who was introduced by Mr. Riggs as "The Bridegroom," with the Lohengrin wedding march. Senator Depew, ex-Governor Black and Mayor Low made

Immigration Commissioner

By Which Deputies McSweeny and ray and Williams at New York-Resignations Probably Voluntary

Washington, April 5.--Frank P. Sargent, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, saw the president as an incentive to young writers of yesterday and formally accepted the prose. It will embolden them to be office of commissioner general of im- merely lyrical, thus hastening the day migration. Mr. Powderly is absent when writers of prose shall be as spefrom the city, but will be back today. It is expected that he will then resign, and avoid any question of removal.

Commissioner Fitchie at Ellis island will neither have to resign nor be removed. His term is fixed by law, and all the president has to do in such a case is to send to the senate the name of a new man as an independent nomination. It is assumed that the New York senators have already given their consent to the substitution of William Williams for Mr. Fitchie.

Concerning Deputy Commissioner McSweeney, there has been more or less doubt here whether he would voluntarily resign. Some of his friends have advised him to do so, and they think he will. The question as to his making a fight has been raised probably through a misapprehension of the civil service rules applicable to his position. The deputy commissionership is in the classified service, but President Roose velt some months ago removed it from the competitive class. This absolves the secretary of the treasury from the necessity of making written charges and giving Mr. McSweeney a hearing on them. The rule has been suspended, also, which would require his successor to undergo an examination under the auspices of the civil service commission, though the door will undoubtedly be closed again behind the new appointee to the place, Joseph Murray.

The choice of Murray was the president's own; it was made because of his belief that the only way the alleged abuses at Ellis island can be set right is to put someone into the deputy's place who will feel so secure in the president's confidence that he will have no fear of the political bosses or their | place under-strappers. The deputy is the man who stands closest to the machinery and oversees most of its working. The commissioner himself, according to the president's notion, should be a man of high principles, forceful character and excellent standing in the community, so that his very name will carry assurance as to the conduct slight change for the better in the con- of things on the island. Prose is not yet written as frankly for its own sake as poetry. It ought to be. Of course I do not mean that it ought not to be continued as a vehicle for A SHAKEUP BY PRESIDENT every kind of didactic purpose. But it ought also to be used by those who could well use it so for the expression of merely lyrical feeling.

In modern English prose there are, it Fitchie Will Be Succeeded by Mur- is true, many lyrical passages, but they are always sandwiched apologetically in the midst of expository writing. The only separate prose lyrics that I can recall written in English are translations from another language, such as Mr. Andrew Lang's translation from Theocritus. I recommend that dear little book

The most famous lighthouse of antiquity stood on the isle of Pharos, off the city of Alexandria, in Egypt. The items of the municipal debt on will be seen, therefore, that it is the small appropriations that really make the big debt; the average is less than $3,000 per item. Debts for street improvements alone aggregate in number over eighty, to which might be added twenty or more sidewalk appropriations. In July the City Council expects a little pressure to be removed, as $27,000 will mature. In August $12,650 more is paid off. It will require a firm stand on the part of several Councilmen to prevent unnecessary appropriations after July 1.

When the year 1902 started in, there was a debt of $52,950 falling due in 1903, and $47,950 maturing in 1904. As these are likely to be increased there is but little prospect of a reduction of the tax rate.

Drift of Opinion.

According to the statements of Dr. C. A. Drew the medical director, at the Bridgewater farm no less than 80 persons who had been indicted or convicted of violations of the laws of Massachusetts, instead of serving out their time in jails. State prison, reformatories etc., were sent last year to the State insane asylum at Bridgewater as "mentally unsound." This is an increase of 50 per cent. above the average 10 or 15 years ago, and the Boston Advertiser finds something startling in the records, and wonders what the reason is for this state of affairs. Possibly one reason is found in the fact that there has been a constantly closer inspection of criminals; another may lie in the fact that so strong an effort is made in these days to send to the institutions for the insane many who in other days would have been sent to the ordinary prisons. We know that a deal of crime nowadays is laid rightly or wrongly, to impulses. - Brockton Enter-

Col. F. W. Parker, Quincy's First Superintendent of Schools.

Behind the work of Colonel Parker lay the great background of his personal character. His dominating passion was his love for little children and in his treatment of them he was infinitely tender and forbearing. He had a humorous side which always pleased them immensely. Often at the close of the "Morning Exercises" rising, he would say, with impressive gravity, "Ladies and Gentlemen! adding after a pause, "am I right! Then, following an affirm ative chorus from the children, he would say "that's all there is to it.

Peptiron is both medicine and food and is therefore in full accord with advanced science as to the proper treatment of all anemic and neurasthenic conditions, in which the need of more and better nourishment is so obvious. It combines iron and manganese with the phosphates and other tonics and nutrients; supplies the deficiency of red corpuscles in anemia; repairs the waste of nerve tissue in nervousness; gives color and stamina. It helps the young, of either sex, through delicate (often critical) periods; tones the stomach, perfects digestion, creates appetite and promotes natural sleep. Peptiron is readily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, nor leave any inky or metallic flavor in the mouth, nor cause constipation. In pill or liquid form, it is agreeable to the taste and acceptable to the most sensitive stomach.

Death of John Chamberlin of Hancock Street.

in Public Office Thirty Years.

Went to California in 1849 but Returned to Quarry Granite.

Mr. John Chamberlin, one of Quincy's well known citizens, died at his home on Hancock street Friday afternoon, aged 73 years. Of late years Mr. Chamberlin had been in poor health and had been under the care of a physician most of the time. His health was not such as to withstand the severe New England winter and he has passed most of the winters of late in the south. He returned from there

Mr. Chamberlin was born in Quincy and has made his home here for the greater part of his life. He received his early education in the public schools and then learned the granite

At the age of twenty years he became imbued with the gold fever and went to California, where he remained seven years. Returning to his native town he engaged in the quarry business as foreman, and later for ten years he was employed in construction work for the Old Colony railroad.

Mr. Chamberlin was perhaps best known in public life. In 1850 he was elected to fill a vacancy upon the School board, and in 1858 he served as district engineer of the Fire department. In 1863 he was elected a member of the General Court and served one year. In 1874 he was a member of the prudential committee for the South district, which had charge of the Adams and old Stone school houses on School street, where the police station is now located. His last public office was as a member of the board of Selectmen and Assessors, where he served three years. In 1877 with Messrs. William A. Hodges and Ensign S. Fellows; in 1878, with Mr. Hodges and William N. Eaton; and in 1879 with Mr. Eaton and Charles H. Porter.

One of the happiest events in the summer. ife of Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlin was on March 15, 1898, when three important events were celebrated at their handsome residence on Hancock street. These were: Mr. Chamberlin's 69th birthday, the fortieth anniversary of lin and Ethel Curtis.

LAMP WICKS.

The Mulfitude of Styles Causes Trou ble For Storekeepers. "You wouldn't think that people would bother to exchange a little thing like a lamp wick," said a clerk in a general supply store, "but the fact is that we are asked to take back yards of the stuff.

"Indeed, of all the commodities we handle none gives us more trouble than lamp wicks. There are at present about a thousand different kinds of lamps and oil stoves on the market, each with different sized burners, which naturally require as many differ ent kinds of wick. We carry an endless variety; still we cannot supply the wants of our customers. This is pretty much their own fault, however, for instead of examining the old wick and finding out just what they need before they leave home they merely guess at its measurements, and when I ask what size they want they say:

"'Oh, about so big!" "They leave me to go the rest of the way blindly. As a consequence I often make mistakes, and the next day they bring the wick back and want to exchange it for something that will fit the burner. If they have taken the precaution to learn what they want, we accommodate them, even though the returned wick does smell to heaven with oil. Through pursuing this policy we now have hundreds of yards of wick on our hands that we can never dispose of, but this question of lamp wicks is so complex that there seems no remedy for the difficulty."-New York Times.

Ivan Ogareff had resolved to employ this terrible means for setting fire to Irkutsk. He therefore made use of the immense reservoir which contained the combustible liquid. He had only to Ogareff. make a few canals to draw in streams into the river. These he had made that very night, some hours before. The cotton wool had been cast on the waters of the Angara. Volumes of blue flames covered the whole surface of the river and shot far up into the sky.

From experience in my own practice, however, I should say that, while other things may last longer, the most intense pain any one ever endures is caused by an attack of acute indigestion."

Crowing In Lent.

"During the season of Lent," says the London Chronicle, "it was anciently the custom of the watchmen to crow the hour of the night instead of shoutremind sleepless sinners of the effect the third crowing of the cock had on St. Peter. This custom, too, was observed at the royal court, an officer known as 'the king's cock crower' performing the duty within the precincts of the palace.

"On the first Ash Wednesday after the accession of the house of Hanover, as the then Prince of Wales, afterward Ceorge II., was at supper, this officer entered and crowed 'past 10 o'clock.' The astonished prince mistook the crow for an insult and rose to resent it, but was made to understand with some Nadia, frightened, yet at the same difficulty that the custom was in acwas from that time discontin-

Malay Weapons.

The national Malay weapon, the creese, is said to have been invented by a Javanese monarch of the fourteenth century. Its varieties are said to exceed a hundred, and there are in Javanese! no fewer than fifty names for them. It varies in size, from the two foot wavy blade of Sulu down to a mere toothpick. But the peculiarity is that the weapon is never ground, but kept rough and sawlike in edge by scouring with lime juice or the juice of an unripe pineapple, sometimes mixed with arsenic, and it is on this account that creese wounds are so dangerous.

Old specimens are so eaten away by this practice that the blade seems formed from a bunch of wires roughly welded up. Such creeses are highly valued, and some of the ancient ones, heirlooms of chiefs; with grotesquely carved and inlaid hilts and sheaths, are almost unpurchasable.

Rhode Island Spinners Will Strike Unless Demands Are Granted

Providence, April 5.-The dissatisfaction among the mule spinners employed in the cotton yarn and thread mills in this state has now approached the point where a strike seems imminent. Unless the manufacturers post notices today announcing their intention to increase wages 10 percent, coincident with the general advance in all cloth mills, a strike of 500 mulespinners, affecting more than 5000 operatives, will probably result.

The Rhode Island mulespinners on March 20 made a demand on the cloth manufacturers for an increase of wages approximating 10 percent. The manufacturers were given until March 27 to make reply. Demands at this time were also made upon the yarn and thread manufacturers for a like in-

At a meeting of the association on March 27 no definite replies had been made and an extension of time was given until March 30. On the day previous the cloth mills granted the advance in wages, but the yarn and the thread mills made no change.

Notice was given to the yarn and thread manufacturers at a meeting held March 30 that the demands in st be granted by 5 o'clock on April 4, the increase to take effect on and after

None of the yarn or thread nanufacturers have as yet made any reply. The mulespinners say they do not expect to receive any answers, and, acting on this supposition, preparations are on foot for a strike to begin on next Monday.

The Brewery Workers' Strike

Boston, April 5.-Neither the master brewers, the state board of arbitration, for the striking brewery employes has submitted any proposition looking toward an adjustment of present differences between the brewers and their striking employes. The strikers have all been notified to appear at their former places of employment this afternoon and receive the wages due them. It is possible that each man will be asked if he desires employment, but it is believed that there will be no break in the ranks of the strikers. #### Cocheco Operatives Uneasy

Dover, N. H., April 5.-The operatives of the Cocheco Manufacturing company met last night to discuss the matter of a raise in wages in con formity with the increased schedule at other places. Much indignation was expressed that the demand for a 10 percent increase had been ignored There was a strong sentiment expressed to go out on strike at once, but finally the meeting decided that it would not do to be precipitate. A reply from the United Textile workers will be awaited.

Won't Strike For Advance

FACTS IN THE CASE

by Australian Officers

Not Sustained by Evidence Adduced at the Trial-Another Sharp Fight In Western Transvaal, In Which Both Sides Lose Heavily

London, April 5.-The war office yesterday afternoon issued an official statement of the facts in regard to the Australians sentenced for murdering Boer prisoners, as follows:

"The Bushveldt Carabineers, who were recruited in South Africa, but included other colonials, were employed, in July and August, in the wildest part of the Transvaal, eight miles northeast of Pietersburg, and took a certain number of prisoners.

Grave irregularities on the part of certain officers of the corps came to the knowledge of the military authorities in October and an exhaustive investigation was ordered by Lord Kitchener. As a result of the inquiry five officers were tried by court martial at Pietersburg, in January, 1902, and were found guilty, as principals or accessories, to 12 murders. Lieutenants Hancock and Morant were sentenced to death, which was carried

"These officers were also charged with the murder of Rev. C. Hesse. Although there was strong suspicion that they committed the murder, the evidence was not considered sufficient to justify their conviction.

"Lieutenant Witton " as found guilty of murder and was sentenced to death, but there were mitigating circumstances, and the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment at penal servitude. Lieutenant Picton was found guilty of manslaughter, and was cashiered. Major Lenahan, commanding the Carabineers, who became aware of the crimes subsequent to their committal, was convicted of culpably neglecting to report them and was ordered home to Australia, his dismissal being unnecessary, owing to the disbandment of the corps.

"No doubt exists as to the guilt of the accused, whose plea in extenuation that a number of their corps vere ill treated by the Boers was not sustained by the evidence at the trial. The sentences were such as would have been inflicted on any officers similarly

There was severe fighting, all day long, on March 31, in the neighborhood of Hart's river, in the southwestern extremity of the Transvaal, between part of General Kitchener's force and the forces of Generals Delarey and Kemp, resulting in repulse of the Boers after heavy losses on both sides. The Canadian Rifles especially distinguished themselves. One party, commanded by Lieutenaut Bruce Carruthers, held its post till every man was killed or wounded.

A Loss to the Navy

Washington, April 5. Lieutenant Commander William H. Schuetze died at the naval hospital here resterday of a complication of acute stemach and lung troubles. He graduated at the head of his class at the naval academy in 1867. He went on the expedition to the Lena delta and brought back the bodies of those who died in the famous Delong Arctic expedition. He was a man of high attainments, unusually well equipped for the scientific branches of the naval service. He was an expert in compass work.

The train was a local freight, 15 cars, and while going down the grade toward a ledge the air brake quit work and the engine ran off the track and mounted the grade to the ledge until it almost stood upright. Then it fell over with a crash. No one was hurt.

The Rothschilds deliberated. After all, they knew nothing of this ambitious young man ..

"Come in a few days," they said, "and we will give you our answer." "Sir," said the young speculator, "I will call upon you again in half an hour. If you have not then decided what to do, I shall go elsewhere." Whereupon they saw he was not to be trifled with, and Rhodes went back to Africa with the Rothschilds' financial backing. When Rhodes was trying to consolidate the diamond business, a time arrived when he was obliged to consult the other men then in control of the mines. These were Alfred Beit and Barney Barnato. The matter was difficult to arrange. Each man hated to make concessions. So the three sat together till 4 o'clock in the morning, Rhodes urging, arguing, persuading. Finally the other two gave way, Mr. Barnato observing: "Some people have

"My dear sir," cried the proprietor, "you are trying to buy off the richest man in the world! Cecil Rhodes has your rooms!"

And he kept them.

When premier of Cape Colony, Mr. Rhodes opened an extension of the Cape Town Suburban railway. Many notable persons gathered for the occasion. Everything was in readiness for the ceremony when it was discovered that the central figure was missing Messengers were dispatched in all directions, and presently the prime minister was found taking a bath in the he hastily abandoned his swim and with head still dripping declared the line open for traffic. The story has often been told as illustrating the great man's contempt for formality or etiquette of any sort.

Rhodes has had a horror of death. Mortimer Menpes, the artist, who has seen much of Rhodes at home, has written of him:

"We were both talking of growing heard him talk I realized the horror he had of it. I thought of the work he had set himself to do. The pathos of the thing almost overpowered me, and I burst out with: 'Rhodes, you'll never be old. Your mind is young and you are young. You must always be a

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

The play announced at the Castle Square theatre the coming week is Charles T. Dazey's 'The War of Wealth," which was played with great success throughout the country a few seaons ago. It is described as a drama of powerful situations, possessing a logical and consistent tory, with an abundance of excellent comedy and some neat touches of character. The play is full of strikingly effective scenes which afford splendid opportunities for stage realism. A fall of the heroine from a balcony overhanging a bluff on the Hudson river, a dynamite explosion within the vault of a bank and the arrival of an express wagon loaded with coin to stop the run upon the bank's funds make three of the most effective scenes of the play. An elaborate production is promised. The cast of principal characters will be: John Warfield, John Craig; Sanford Farley, Edward Wade; Major Pinckney Pointdexter, J. L. Seeley; Philip Norwood, Charles Mackay; James Dodd, Lindsay Morison; Helen Raymond, Eva Taylor; Marcia Dudley, Marian A. Chapman; Hattie Worley, Mary Sanders; Mrs. Worley, Leonora Bradley.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

Among the attractions scheduled for Keith's Boston theatre the week commencing April 7 are the following: Sager Midgley and Gertie Carlisle, the former stars of "Little Red Riding Hood," in one of their clever juvenile specialties; Fred Gay Ellis, a phenomenal male soprano vocalist; the Florenz troupe of acrobats, said to be one of the best organizations of the kind at present in America, and the Ansel troupe of International dancers. House Takes Up Cuban Reciprocity This Week

Regarded as a Foregone Conclusion, but It Will Not Be Accomplished Without Strong Opposition From Democrats and Some Republicans

Washington, April 7 .- The great battle over Cuhan reciprocity which created such a protracted struggle among the Republicans, both in caucus of the house this week. The ultimate passage of the Payne bill providing for a 20 percent reduction on the products of Cuba after the negotiation of a reciprocity treaty and the enactment of our immigration laws by the republic of Cuba is regarded as a foregone conclusion, but the situation is a complicated one, owing to the divisions among the Democrats as well as the

How far the Republican opponents of the proposed legislation will carry their opposition is not definitely de termined. The strength of this oppo sition has dwindled until it probably numbers less than 30. On the other hand, a large majority of the Demo crats favor the greatest possible free om of trade with Cuba and would and means bill proposes. Others are in favor of the immediate annexation of the islands, and quite a number under the lead of the Louisiana members will oppose strenuously any tariff concessions whatever. It is hinted that the attitude of the Democrats in the senate who have fixed on a program of opposition there may result before the vote is taken in more unity of action on the part of the Democrats of the house.

Some of the Republican opponents of the bill will speak against it, but the leaders of the Republican opposition show a strong disinclination to participate in the debate, on the ground that there is no hope of defeating the bill and that their speeches would become Democratic campaign material in the

The bill will be brought up tomorrow s a revenue bill which is privilege under the rules, but no special order will be brought, in for its consideration. In this way the possibility of the defeat of a rule through a combination of the Republican recalcitrants and the Democrats will be avoided.

The general debate will be allowed to exhaust itself. The real fight will come subsequently when the bill is read for amendment under the five-minute rule. It will be then that the Democrats will seek to offer amendments having for their purpose the opening up of the whole tariff question. While some of these amendments might command some Republican votes if they should actually come to a vote, they will be ruled out of order, and the only method by which they can be teached would be by overruling the decision of the chair. The Republican leaders feel assured that none of these propositions will come to an actual vote. The only amendments which will be held to be germane and in order will be those increasing or decreasing the amount of the concession and the leaders feel reasonably safe in the prediction that the caucus decision for 20 percent reduction will stand. It is their hope that on the final vote the bill will be passed by Republican ; otes.

The Chinese exclusion bill, which will come to a final vote today, will command practically every vote in the

The expectation of the friends of the Chinese exclusion bill is that its consideration by the senate will be concluded by the middle of the present week. The Philippine government bill will be taken up immediately afterwards. This bill probably will occupy attention for a considerably longer time than has any measure since the Philippine tariff bill was passed, and the Democratic members of the committee on the Philippines are now very industriously engaged in preparing for the debate.

There is general preparation about the senate for the Cuban reciprocity bill, as it is already apparent that when it comes up for consideration in the senate its passage will be stubbornly resisted.

Klerksdorp, April 7 .- Details re ceived of the battle at Doornbalt l'arm March 31, in which the British had three officers and 24 men killed and 16 officers and 131 men wounded, while the Boers had 137 men killed or wounded, show that 2000 Boers opened a strong attack from different points with three guns and a pom-pom. This attack was made at a moment when the British had left their luggage in laager in charge of the Canadian contingent and were galloping across the open plain with the intention of capturing a Boer convoy which had been discovered five miles ahead. The British retired steadily and, having dis mounted, opened a return fusillade or the Boers. While the baggage in charge of the Canadians was sent for, the British formed a camp and started digging trenches. The shelling of the Boers stampeded the mules carrying pro visions and caused confusion. Other wise it was not very effective, as many shells failed to explode.

The Boer attack was very bold and determined. The Canadians in front were attacked in strong numbers and gallantly repelled every attempt made by the Boers to break through them One party of the Canadians fought until all were killed or wounded, and the last man of this party, although mortally wounded, emptied two bandoliers of cartridges at the enemy and then broke his rifle.

The fighting was severe and general for fully three hours, but after the British had formed their camp and started the trenches, and the guns got into action, the British forces, in close order, repelled numerous and de ermined attacks. Towards night the fire gradually ceased and the Boers re

THE HOTEL BILL.

Sprague the Chairman.

Senator Sprague of Quincy has easily adds: The pose has not been an at- to locate them: tractive one for the Quincy man, for there have been too many smiles going round, and too general a chuckling in the liquor law committee itself to pass the liquor law committee itself, to pass

The senator, it seems, not only failed to dissent from the amendment to the semi-colon law, but furthermore he has taken on the reporting, which neans the defence of the bill, in the enate, and this to allow the hotels to ell one hour extra at night.

To understand what a storm this has created in the Faxon coterie it need only be said that during his term of service in the house and senate, prague has heretofore been an almost rabid temperance man. He has fought against rum amid applause and flowers, and never for an instant has he thought of compromise. His course has been one of a man who could see no good in the trade in anyway. Now there is no year when there are not some men who have to espouse principles of this sort without really meaning them, simply because of the tone of their constituency. The legislature as a whole has recognized this, and has been well disposed towards the man, despite the hypocrisy which must of necessity lie such a course. With Spargue however, it has always been understood hat he regarded it as a labor of love. Of course, the temperance people

Henry Faxon and his able lieutenant Miss Brown, have been displeased. In Sprague they have felt that they always had a champion in whom they could depend. This year they went so far as o think that the best place of all was bave him on the liquor law committee as the senate chairman, In that position he was expected to take up the battle to the firing line and kill the bills in the committee room. They really helped to put him there.

And now, after all, it has been found bill and takes charge of it. Miss Brown, it is said really cried when she heard that he had favored he amendment to the semi-colon law. and that he was to report it. She has had great admiration for him as a temperance bulwark and he has had no more sincerely approving constituency. Of Badger of Quincy the temper people have always bad a feeling that he missed being wholly devoted to their cause, and they tried to have him turned down from the committee. Now it is one of their particular flock who has fallen away. In the committee when the question came on reporting it Sprague was not at all anxious for ne position, one way or another. but in a fashion which they have been chuckling over since, they finally got it into his hands.

Of course as this is Sprague's second year, and he presumably does not care to come back there, is no immediate danger that the people of his senatorial district will have a chance to rise up against him, unless it is true that he is thinking of standing for the congressional Republican nomination in the 10th district.

There has been some talk about that. but it can hardly be true for if he had any ambition that way he certainly would not take this position.

As to how it happened that he thought favorably of such a bill, Harry Adams the police commissioner, is credited with being responsible for his conversion. The members of the committee as a whole made various excursions around town to see how the law operated, but Harry Adams arranged a special trip for Chairman Sprague. He took him in charge personally and the two made a tour. It was a pleasant little trip, and the character of the big hotel dining-rooms were shown to him. member of congress from Missouri,

AID OF BARTENDERS

Extended In Behalf of the Striking Employes of Boston Breweries

Boston, April 7 .- The brewery workers will have strong allies in the members of the Bartenders' union in their fight against the master Lrewers, al though it is yet undecided as to the exact form the latter's method of support will assume. The Bartenders' union 'set last night and discussed the strike for several hours and adopted a resolution pledging themselves to support any action which may be decided upon by the joint committee of the Bartenders,' Brewery committee, it is expected, will decide at once upon the plan of action. The Central Labor union, composed of more than 90 affiliated bodies, at its meeting last night promised the brewery Workers its support during the strike and also adopted resolutions strongly denouncing the blacklist alleged to exist among the brewers against their discharged employes. The lumber teamsters also endorsed the strike and placed their funds at the disposal of the strikers.

Team Drivers' union 25. ing no formal vote on the matter, will refuse to deliver merchandise to nonunion men and will aid the strikers in every way possible.

Everything about the preweries has been unusually quiet and nothing can be seen to indicate a purpose on the part of the master brewers to attempt to start their plants with non-union help. There are conflicting reports in regard to this point.

BODY FOUND IN ROADWAY

Close to the Home of Aged War Veteran Who Is Suspected of Having Committed the Deed-Accused Man Makes a Statement In Self-Defense

Augusta, Me., April 7.-Albert L. Heseltine, aged 30 years, was found dead on Glendon street in this city Appearances indicated that death was James Granger, aged 69, a veteran of the Civil war, is under arrest, charged with the crime.

Heseltine's body was found in the roadway at 4:30 yesterday morning by David Marriner, and he immediately notified the police. A short distance down the street is the house in which Granger and his family live.

Heseltine's body was without coat, est, shoes, and hat, giving the impression that he had left a house in a hurry. City Marshal Breen and Coroner Beane began their inquiry without delay, and soon placed Granger under arrest at his home, in which also were his wife and son Jacob

All three denied that they knew anything about Heseltine's death. Search of the prisoner revealed a jack-knife in his pocket. It originally blades, but the two smaller ones were broken off. The large blade is about three inches long and haif an inch wide and very sharp. On both sides of the blade near the point were bloodstains.

The police heard several stories which appeared to have a bearing on Heseltine's death. From them it appeared that he was at Granger's house Saturday night, and that while there, liquor was drank. One witness to what occurred, in part, was found in Joseph Phelps, a mill operative. He says that he heard Granger utter an oath at Heseltine, implying a threat that he would cut out his heart. Phelps further says that he saw Granger draw. a knife, but that he did not see it used. Phelps is held as a witness until after the hearing.

Granger was locked up at the jail, and last evening he made the following statement: "I put Heseltine out of my house last night; I own up to that, but I did nothing else to him. He came to the house about 7 o'clock in the evening, saying he was hungry. My daughter-in-law gave him some soup, but he found fault with it. He called me an ugly name and I went to put him out. I finally got him out and did not see him again alive. It must have been early in the evening, as I always retire early. City Marshal Breen took my jack-knife and they say blood was found on it. I bought a pig's head Friday. It was a very bloody one. I took it home and cut it up with this knife. If there's blood on the knife that's how it came there. I did not like the way Heseltine acted towards my son's wife, Mary. Jake, my boy, had gone to bed, and Heseltine was trying to talk with her in the front room.

Granger served in Co. B. Sixth Maine infantry, during the Civil war. He was born in England, but has been a resident of this country since 1862. He is a, laborer. Heseltine was a hostler.

As to the Ultimate Status of the Filipinos-Opposed to Forcible Subjugation When Desired Ends Can Be Peaceably Obtained

Boston, April 8 .- Sixto Lopez, who has recently arrived in this city from the far east, in an interview yesterday announced that he was prepared to return to the Philippines and secure final peace, provided the United States gives some intimation to the Filipinos, not necessarily of their immediate, but of their ultimate status. Senor Lopez prefaced his interview with a denial of one said to have been given by him in Winnipeg and published in this city last Regarding the order preventing his return to the Philippines, he said that the American authorities did not object to his landing in Manila provided he took the oath of allegiance. He refused, however, to take it, because he did not believe that any one had a right to interfere with his liberty of conscience. He said he was prepared to take oath not to aid or abet resistance to American authority in the Philippines. He did not see why the allegimee provision was insisted upon, ruless it was due to a misapprehension of his L otives and the belief that he was apposed to peace. As a matter of fact he says that he has been accused by his own people of being too friendly with Amer-

He says he is less opposed to the administration's policy as time advances, bethat for which he has been appealing, that is that the Filipinos, should be status. If the Filipinos should be again accorded to the elementary civil right of liberty to express their opinions, Senor Lopez says he is prepared to urge them to cease hostilities. This, he says, would be his chief object in going to the Philippines, for he believes he could make such representato cease fighting. He says he has reason to believe, that when his object was explained by Mr. Terrell and Captain Dwyer to the civil authorities at Manila, they were favorable to the proposal, but General Chaffee would In conclusion Senor Lopez says that he believes that his task in securing peace would be an easy one if Dr.

HARTFORD'S NEXT MAYOR President of a Labor Union Is Elected by a Substantial Majority CAT LICENSE MEASURE FAVORED.

Massachusetts House Substitutes Bill for the Adverse Report of the Committee.

Boston, April 8.-The house yester- | and reach, and the men were evenly day afternoon gave a life to the socalled cat bill, a measure requiring owners of domesticated felines to pay a license fee of 50 cents a head. The committee on probate and insolvency gave a long hearing on the bill, at which the advocates of the measure claimed that the spread of various diserses was due largely to cats. The committee. however, reported against the bill, and one of the most modest and retiring members was given charge of this adverse report. The report came up for action in the louse yesterday afternoon and the members at once began a sort of mock session. The most ridiculous questions were hurled at the modest committee man, and then the house proceeded to vote down the report and accepted the bill. Mr. Kimball of Newburyport, the originator of the measure, was even more surprised than the committee man, but he recovered quicker, and before the horse realized it he had asked that all rules be suspended that the bill night be rushed through to the engrossment

The move was a shrewd c.e, as the house had practically placed itself on record as favoring it, and could not consistently reverse its action at the same session. The speaser came to the rescue, however, by declaring the motion to suspend rules out of order, so the bill went over until today, when it will probably be nipped in the bud.

TWENTY-O'E KILLED And Over Two Hundred Injured In

Disaster at Football Game

Glasgow, April 7.-The Ibrox park disaster, when a number of persons were killed or injured by the collapsing of a spectators' stand during the international football match Saturday afternoon between England and Scotland, has resulted in the death of 21 persons and the injury of 250. Nearly 200 of the latter were so seriously hurt that they were taken to infirmaries for operations and treatment, where 150 of them still remain. A large proportion of the injured had limbs broken, their bodies crushed and mangled and their heads and faces gashed. Several more deaths will undoubtedly result from the most critical cases of fractured skulls.

The action of the authorities at Ibrox park in averting a more general panic by permitting the game to proceed, while they encouraged the impression of the crowd within the enclosure that the accident was not so direful, is now generally commended. The incongruity of the yells of applause mingling with the groans of the struggling sufferers will never be forgotten by those of the terrace.

A NEW WAGE SCHEDULE

Goes Into Effect In Southern Part of New England

ADVANCE IN MANY MILLS

sand Employes-Northern District Say Conditions Do Not Warrant It

Boston, April 8 .- A general advance of about 10 percent in the wages of the cotton mill operatives in the southern half of New England went into effect yesterday in practically every mill town in the territory named, with the exception of Fall River, where the in crease was given last month. About 50,000 employes began to earn higher wages yesterday and, added to some 27,000 in Fall River, more than 75,000 hands, or nearly half the entire number in New England, have already shared in the present change in pay schedules.

The manufacturers of Maine, New Hampshire and northern Massachusetts have not posted notices. A a result many of their emplores are anxious, and it is thought that some retion will be taken in a number of centres towards averting threatened disturbances. The mill interests in northgoverning the industry hare are not the same as those in southern New England, and that an advance is not warranted at this time. On the other hand. the union officials assert that a reduc tion in Fall River, New Bedford and Rhode Island would have been followed by similar action elsewhere. It is thought that the issue will be settled shortly without serious difficulty.

The advance which went into effect yesterday was in the mills of New Bedford, employing about 10,000; the Rhode Island mills, with about 25,000 hands; the Quinnebaug, Wauregan, Attawaugan, Ballouville, North Grosvenordale, Williamsville, Ponemah and Windham mills of Connecticut, employing about 5000; the Blackstone, Roadville, Dodgeville, Hebrorville, Manchaugh, Uxbridge, Fisherville, Saundersville, Whitinsville, Rockdale, Linwood and Paul Whiting Manufacturing company, nearly all in the Blackstone valley, this state, and employing fully 5000; the Berkshire, Eclipse, Beaver, Greylock and Williamstown mills in Berkshire county and the Pownal mills at South Pownal Vt., employing about '000 more.

In Rhode Island the manufacturers there have been thrown into a state bordering on consternation Ly the new 56 hour law, which has been passed by the legislature and which most of them adopted yesterday. The change, which was entirely unexpected, places that state on the same basis as Massachusetts, and it is claimed will aid southern competition. The operatives are generally pleased with the new law. The change practically means an advance of 2½ percent additional in the pay of mill workers employed by the day.

No Sign of Settlement

Providence, April 8 .- The strike of weavers, as a protest against the double-loom system, as carried on by the American Woollen company in its mills, has, after an existence of 11 weeks, reached a stage where the nated and the battle is now one of endurance. The strikers have succeeded in shutting off the output of 11 mills with 2700 looms, and they announce that they will call out the weavers in two additional mills this week.

Strikers Do Not Respond

Boston, April 8 .- Yesterday after noon the master brewers made their first attempt to enlist a rew force of employes for starting up their breweries, which closed last "hursday morning when the strike begun, but it was unsuccessful. According to the decision of the Boston Master Brewers' association the afternoon was reserved for the strikers to return and take their old positions, and the same offer holds good until this evening at 6 o'clock.

Freight Handlers May Strike

Providence, April 8.-The 200 freight handlers in this city employed by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad have requested that their wages be increased to $1.55 a day, and a reply is asked for within two weeks. They assert that unless a favor ble reply is received from the railroad company within the specified time they will strike.

Strikers Awaiting Decision

Webster, Mass., April 8 .- Yesterday had been set by the management of the Chase Woolen company as the date when it would render its decision in regard to the demands of the striking weavers, but Superinterdent Howard failed to give out this decision. The strikers say they will accept no com-

CUBAN TARIFF BILL May Encounter New Obstacle In

Form of Concentrated Opposition Washington, April ' E .- Representative Hay of Virginia, chairman of the Democratic house caucus, yesterday issued a call for a conference of Democratic members on the subject of Cuban reciprocity tonight. The call followed a petition signed by more than 25 Democratic members, requesting t! e conference. The move caused some agitation on both sides of the chamber, in con-Which Will Benefit About Fifty Thou- nection with the opening of the debate on the Cuban bill today, as it is thought to introduce a new element of doubt Has Not Made Change, as Mill Men as to the final vote on that measure. The movement for a conference is understood to have been in flated by those opposed to the bill, with a view to concentrating the minority in opposition. It is conceded by the supporters of the Payne bill that a combination between the minority and the Republicans who oppose reciprocity will nake the final issue doubtful.

On the Way to Charleston

Washington, April S .- President Roosevelt yesterday started on his first real tour of the country since he became president. His objective is the Charleston exposition, and unusual interest attaches to the trip because of the feeling stirred up a few weeks ago when the two South Carolina senators, Tillman and McLaurin, engaged in a fist fight on the floor of the senate, one of the results of which was that th president withdrew his invitation to Tillman to attend the Prince Henry dinner. As a retaliation a nephew of Senator Tillman withdrew the invita tion which had been accepted by the ern sections maintain that conditions president to present a cane to a South Carolina war veteran at the exposi tion. It was said at the time that be cause of the ill feeling stirred up the president would not go to the exposi tion but he finally decided to go. Dis patches received here say that everywhere on the way the president was greeted by cheering crowds.

Rigid Exclusion Law

Washington, April 8 .- The house yesterday passed the Chinese exclusion bill after incorporating in it several amendments which increased the dras tic character of the measure. principal one not only excludes Chinese by birth and descent, but all Chinese of mixed blood. The bill practically re-enacts all the existing exclusion laws and extends these exclusion laws to the Philippines and the ther possession of the United States and forbids Chinese laborers in our colonial pos sessions coming into this country.

MANY ALLEGED CRIMES

Charged Against the British In South Africa

CREDENCE IS ENHANCED

Because of Recent Revelations o Crimes of Australian Officers-De la Rey Reports the Killing of Wounded Prisoners and Women

London, April 8 .- At a cabinet meeting to be held here today the latest advices from South Africa will be considered in connection with the budget requirements. The date of the introduction of the budget will also be decided at this meeting. This will probably be next Thursday.

The publication of reports of British atrocities from Transvaal sources in Amsterdam and Brussels, the latter ac cusing the British of ill treating Boer clergymen and burning Boer churches, and claiming that there are 10,000 Boer invaders in ape Colony, are regarded eau here has published a report which was sent last January by General De la Rey to Mr. Kruger, and which is countersigned by Ignatius Ferreira, the acting state attorney. This report contains numerous stories of alleged British atrocities, and is supported by affidavits. Be sides the general accusations of placing women as screens around the Brit ish camps, as a result of which practice many women are said to have been killed, General De la Rey gives specific instances, with names and dates, of the killing of wounded prisoners and women. He complains that, owing to Lord Methnen's persecution, his own wife, with six children, has been wandering on the veldt for the past year.

THE BATTLE FOR CUBA

House Takes Up Question of Reciprocity

THE LINES OF CLEAVAGE

Show That Democrats Are as Much Divided on the Question as Are the Republicans-Conference Fails to Develop Concerted Plan of Action

Washington, April 9.-The debate on the Cuban reciprocity bill, which opened in the house yesterday, was disappointing from a spectacular standpoint. There were no 'sensational clashes after the debate was actually begun and none of the bitterness which was expected to crop out on the floor came to the surface.

The vote on the motion to go into committee of the whole to consider the bill, however, developed the lines of cleavage and showed that the Democrats are quite as much divided on the question as is the majority. In the division, which is regarded as practically a test vote on the bill, 114 Republicans and 63 Democrats voted for the motion and 41 Democrats and 39 Republicans against it.

The vote was in reality more embarrassing to the Democrats than to he Republicans, as the members of the minority had called a conference for last night at which they desired to get together on a course of action. The vote forced the hands of the Democrats as individuals before the caucus.

Mr. Payne, the Republican leader, opened the debate for the bill in a strong speech which commanded close attention from both sides of the

After a conference lasting nearly three hours last night the Democratic members of the house tabled a number of proparations which mad been presented relative to the policy to be pursued on the Cuban reciprocity bill now before the house, and then adjourned without action on the subject. The result of the conference leaves each Democratic member free to exercise his individual opinion, and it is generally believed that this will result in the passage of the reciprocity bill, as the test vote in the house showeder Democratic members for the bill to more than offset the Republican defection from the measure.

Representative Hay was in the chair bers were present. For the first hour main discussion occurred on a resolu-Burleson proposing a 20 percent tariff reduction on a number of specified Canada." articles; a substitute by Representative Sulzer, proposing 50 percent reciprocity with Cuba, and an amendment by Representative Newlands that this 50 percent concession be accompanied by a proposition of annexation. The debate took a wide range and finally all of the foregoing propositions were laid on the table, practically without opposition, as it had become evident that no united action could be secured on any of the plans proposed. As the conference had been without result a resolution was adopted before adjourn ment that all of the proceedings should be secret.

Donohue Says It Cost That Sum to Support Gas Company's Scheme

Boston, April 9 .- Sensational evidence was given in the trial of the libel suit of ex-Representative Frank P. Bennett against John F. Donohue and the Lynn Item by Mr. Donohue himself in the superior court yesterday afternoon. Mr. Donohue stated in effeet that upon receipt of $1000 from him as the representative of Mr. Addicks of the Bay State Gas company, Mr. Bennett, who had been attacking the company in the legislature and in his paper, The United States Investor, ceased those attacks and published a long article in The Investor in advocacy of the legislation sought by the company.

He stated further that Mr. Bennett wented to know how much it was worth to refrain from publishing a certain article criticising the Bay State Gas company, and that he told Mr. Bennett that, while he didn't think an advertise ment in The Investor one way or the other would have much influence, he was willing to have the favorable article published and pay $1000 for Mr. Bennett's support.

Granger Held For Trial

Augusta, Me., April 9.-Following the rendering of the verdict of the coroner's jury, James Granger was formally arrested yesterday on a warrant sworn charging him with wilful murder in causing the death of Albert L. Heselton on Saturday night last. Upon arraignment in court Judge Andrews stated that the evidence was not sufficient to warrant him in holding the prisoner for murder. He therefore amended the warrant to one of manslaughter. He held the accused in $1000 for his appearance before the grand jury.

Semicolon Law Stands

Boston, April 9.-In the senate yes terday the 12 o'clock bill, allowing hotels to serve liquor to guests until midnight was killed by a vote of 20 to 13. By this action the "semicolon" law remains in force, and those persons who are bibulously inclined will be forced to satisfy their thirst before 11 o'clock. Reconsideration of the compromise measure will be asked, but it is conceded at the state house that the midnight closing bill is dead for this

Brewery Workers Still Out

His Dream of Trans-Atlantic Great-

London, April 9 .- A letter written by Cecil Rhodes to William T. Stead in 1892 will appear shortly in the forthcoming number of the American Re- the peace of the world would be secured view of Reviews.

The article, excerpts of which follow, consists of a frank, powerful explanation of Cecil Rhodes' views on America | feasible to carry out this idea is a and Great Britain, and for the first time sets forth his own inmost aims. For originality and breadth of thought it eclipses even his now famous will, yet it is merely a collection of disjointed ideas, hurriedly put together by the colossus, as a summary of a long con-

In three columns of complex sentences the whole philosophy of Mr. Rhodes' international and individual life is embraced. Perhaps it can best be summarized as an argument in favor of the organization of a secret society, on the lines of the Jesuit order, for the promotion of the peace and welfare of the world, and the establishment of an American-British federation, with absolute home rule for the component parts.

Mr. Rhodes commenced with declar ing that the "key" to his idea for the de velopment of the English-speaking rac was the foundation of a "society copied. as to organization, from the Jesuits.' Combined with "a differential rate and a copy of the United States constitution." wrote Mr. Rhodes, is home rule or federation. An organization formed on these lines, in the house of commons. constantly working for discentralization and not wasting time on trivial questions raised by "Dr. Tanner, or the important matter of O'Brien's breeches," would, Mr. Rhodes believed. soon settle the ail-important question of the markets for the products of the empire

America, both in its possibilities of alliance and its attitude of commercial rival, was, apparently, ever present in Mr. Rhodes' mind. "The world, with America in the fore front," he wrote, "is devising tariffs to boycott your manufactures. This is the supreme question. I believe that England, with fair play, should manufacture for the world, and, being a free-trader, I besenses, you should declare commercial manufactures. This is my program. land railroad and principal owner of You might finish the war, by a union the Rutland Herald. with America and universal peace after a 100 years." But, towards this milennium, Mr. Rhodes believed the most powerful factor would be "a secret Queens County, in tow of tug Edna society, supported by the accumulated wealth of those whose aspiration is a sprang aleak off the Dumplings yesterdesire to do something."

Reverting to himself, Mr. Rhodes said: "It is a fearful thought to feel you possess a patent and to doubt whether your life will last you through I have that inner conviction that if I can live I have thought out something that is worthy of being registered in the patent office.

"They are calling the new country Rhodesia. I find I am human and should like to be living after my death. Still, perhaps, if that name is coupled with the object of England everywhere it may convey the discovery of an idea which ultimately led to the cessation of all wars, and one language throughout the world, the patent being the gradual absorption of wealth and human minds of the higher order to the

"What an awful thought it is that if, even now, we could arrange with the present members of the United States assembly and our house of commons, for all eternity. We could hold a federal parliament, five years in Washington and five in London."

Mr. Rhodes added: "The only thing secret society gradually absorbing the wealth of the world, to be devoted to such an object."

There was Mr. Rhodes' dream of trans-Atlantic greatness. "Fancy," he says, "the charm to young America, just coming on, and dissatisfied, for versation held between himself and Mr. | they have filled up their own country and do not know what to tackle next. to share in a scheme to take the government of the whole world. Their present president (Mr. Harrison) is dimly seeing it; but his horizon is limited to the new world, north and south, and so he would intrigue in Canada, Argentina and Brazil to the exclusion of England. Such a brain wants but little to see the true solution. He is still groping in the dark, but very near the discovery."

Dealing with the "sacred duty of the English-speaking world of taking the responsibility for the still uncivilized world" and commenting upon the necessary departure from the map of such countries as Portugal, Persia and Spain "who are found wanting," Mr. Rhodes said: "What scope, what a horizon of work for the next two centuries for the best energies of the best people in the world." a

They tell in a nutshell the daily life of the woman who has not recovered and never will recover from the effects of the shock occasioned her by the assassin's bullets that cost the life of her illustrious husband at Buffalo. Mrs. Ida McKinley, whose life was wrapped up in every action and word of William McKinley as he received the plaudits of his fellow man as con-

TOLD TO KILL AND BURN

Astounding Defense Offered by Major Waller

CORROBORATED BY OFFICERS

Samar the Better Pleased He Would Be-No Time to Take Prisoners

Manila, April 9.-Major Littleton W T. Waller of the marine corps, at yesterday's session of the court martial by which he is being tried on the charge of executing natives of Samar without trial, testified in rebuttal of the evi dence given previously by General Jacob H. Smith, who commanded the American troops in the island of Samar The major said General Smith in structed him to kill and burn; said that the more he killed and burned the better pleased he would be; that it was no time to take prisoners, and that he was to make Samar a howling wilderness. Major Waller asked General Smith to define the age limit for killing and he replied: "Everything over 10." The major repeated the order to Captain Porter, saying: "We do not make war in that way on old men women and children.'

Captain David D. Porter. Captain Hiram I. Bearss and Lieutenant Frank Halford, all of the marine corps, testified corroboratively.

The defense requested that a subpoena be served on the adjutant general demanding the production of the records of the massacre at Balangiga of the detachment of the Nnith infantry, in order to refute the statement of General Smith to the effect that the attack on the troops was made according to the laws of war. The request was granted.

General Smith, in his testimony, had praised the work of the marines, but his evidence indicated that Major Waller was governed only by the rules of war, particularly order 100. He had given Major Waller no special order concerning captured natives. He did not see Major Waller's order. If he had, he would have altered it, omitting the appeal to the marines to avenge their comrades who were massacred at Balangiga, the operations in which disaster, General Smith said, were ac cording to the rules of war, with the exception of the mutilation of the dead. He would have also changed the instructions to punish those guilty of treachery according to the summary law prescribed in order 100.

General Smith added that he had misunderstood a telegram he had received regarding the execution of natives, and was not aware of the facts until General Chaffee, while making a tour of Samar, told him that he had been doing promiseuous killing. General Smith denied this, whereupon General Chaffee told him of the trouble in Basey.

THREATS OF BENNETT

Didn't Scare Lawson Into Advertising

LATTER GIVES TESTIMONY

Calculated to Show Plaintiff In Libel Suit ln a Most Unenviable Light-Sensational Statements as to Queer Methods For Raising Money

Boston, April 10 .- The testimony of Thomas W. Lawson for the defense in the libel suit of ex-Representative Frank P. Bennett against John F. Donohue and the Lynn Item, in the superior court yesterday, was more dramatic than anything that has been neard in Massachusetts courts for

In his impulsive manner Mr. Lawson related conversations he had held at various times with Mr. Bennett, showing how he had called the latter a "blackmailer," "scoundrel" and a liar" time after time. He declared that Bennett had attempted to secure his backing for the speakership and in return promised his support of Lawson's gas measure then before the legislature; that he had sought large sums for advertising in his papers, and when this was refused, threatened to make Lawson sorry for it and did attack him savagely in the columns of his paper. During his recital Mr. Lawson was statements created a profound 'sensaion in the court room. Mr. Lawson said that he became acquainted with Bennett in 1888, and the public had a conversation with him about advertising first in 1899, and subsequently Bennett called on him in regard to adertising. He told of a visit of Bennett to Lawson's office in reference to the advertising of the Grand Rivers corporaion in Bennett's paper. Lawson said he refused to advertise, and said that Bennett had threatened to expose Aretas Blood, president of the company, unless advertising was placed in his paper.

"Afterward Bennett came to me and said he had seen Blood, and he was going to advertise. "I said 'I have talked with Mr. Blood, and I find that you are right, out before I bind the contract you are to show me the article you threatened to publish if Mr. Blood did not advertise. "I went with Bennett to his private office. He then produced the story from his files, and I said after reading threatened with total blindness. it: 'I can't believe, even knowing what kind of a man you are, that you would show this to Mr. Blood. And moreover,' I said, 'I don't believe you'll

"Here Bennett broke down," said witness. "He said he needed the money badly. The Grand Rivers company, in which he was interested, was going up, he said, and he had to sell some way. "Well, I'll think about this," said I 'I'll not buy your bonds anyway. gatta. They're worth $3000, about, and you want $10,000 for them, but I will think over whether or not to prosecute you and your papers.'

Witness said he was an officer in the Bay State Gas company of Massachusetts, but never an officer in the Delaware company, and in 1893 was opposed to Addicks of the latter company. In 1898 he had had conversations with Bennett about gas affairs. The first conversation was in Law son's office. Bennett said:

"You've got some gas matters before the legislature and you're going to have a big fight, and I want you to let me take your side."

Witness said, "All right." Bennett then, according to witness, said he wanted $5000 of advertising, threatening to go to the other side unless it was forthcoming. When witness told him he was already on the other side. Bennett said: "But I'll swing around."

The witness told Bennett he would have nothing to do with him. Bennett said he would send proofs of what he wrote to witness and the latter would regret his decision. After that articles referring to witness began to appear in Bennett's papers, accusing him of bribery and other iniquities. These articles continued until late in 1900. In 1899 or 1900 witness had talked with Bennett at Young's hotel and the latter wanted him to back him in his fight for speakership. Bennett said if he was elected speaker he could get whatever legislation witness wanted for his gas company and say who should be appointed on the committees. He asked for $5000 down to be spent in advertising, and $10,000 to $15,000 more would be necessary if he should be elected speaker. Witness refused to have any a furnished room to let advertise in the LEDGER.

occasion Mr. Lawson said he had er bee Mr. Bennett a secondrel of the block est type because of the manner in which he had referred to Mr. Lawson's gas bill before the legislature.

Young Woman Beaten to Death Detroit, April 10.-Just before midnight last night a young girl, aged about 20, who has not yet been identified, was stabbed and pounded to death on Thirteenth street. Her throat was cut from ear to ear, a knife was thrust into her brain behind the ear and a dent in her forehead showed that she had been clubbed. A resident of the neighborhood, Harry Jewell, heard cries and screams, and, looking out, saw a man striking a girl down. After felling her and running away a short distance, Jewell says the assailant turned again and renewed his attack on her prostrate body. Jewell notified the police, who found the girl dead.

Bad Eggs Used by Students

Lexington, Ky., April 10.-Insubordination at the Kentucky Agricultural and Mechanical college here came to a climax when Commandant McKee had a bucket of water thrown over him from a second-story window. He reentered the building and ordered the division of cadets to fall in. The order was obeyed, but suddenly the lights went out and he was knocked down, pounded with bad eggs and water was poured over him. A reporter who visited the college to investigate the matter was egged, rocked and finally marched from the grounds by a crowd of about 200 excited students.

The events of the last four years have shown us that the West Indies and the sthmus must in the future occupy a far larger place in our national policy than in the past. This is proved by the negotiations for the purchase of the Danish islands, the acquisition of Porto Rico, the preparation for building the isthmian canal, and, finally, by the changed relations which these years have produced between us and

Cuba. "As a nation we have an especial right I to take honest pride in what we have Pretoria, April 11.-Mr. Steyn, the done for Cuba. "Above all, the administration of the government, the enforcement of the laws, must be fair and honest. Surrounded by Angry Socialists In Brussels

THEY MET BY ACCIDENT

tators Had Been Started Out of Waved Red Flags In King's Face

Brussels, April 10.-King Leopold was mobbed by Socialists yesterday afternoon, on his arrival here from Biarritz. The meeting between the Socialists and the king was quite accidental, but it was none the less unpleasant for his majesty, whose automobile was surrounded by excited Socialists, who shouted: "Long live the republic! Long live universal suffrage!" and waved red flags in the king's

The Socialists had collected at the railroad station to bid farewell to the members of a delegation of Spanish Republican deputies, who had attended the Socialist gatherings here and who had participated in Tuesday night's demonstration. The police yes terday informed the Spaniards that they must leave Brussels forthwith and the delegates were escorted to the station by a large gathering of Socialists bearing red flags. The king happened to arrive at the same time, and had difficulty in getting his automobile out of the crowd, but finally he found an opening and outdistanced his pursuers.

The smashing of windows, revolverfiring and other disorders continued here throughout the evening. A crowd of rioters, marching towards the suburb of Schaerbeek, drove three policemen into a cafe. The rioters looted this cafe and wounded all three of the policemen by revolver shots. Reinforcements of gendarmes have been sent to Schaer-

At Liege the rioters smashed the windows of a Jesuit church and seminary. A deputy named Troclet was among the persons wounded there.

The anti-Catholic agitation culminated in a riot here last night. A thousand Socialists attended a meeting and afterwards marched to Sentin street, where they stoned the house of a Catholic deputy. The police charged the rioters with drawn swords. number of rioters were severely injured and 20 were arrested.

Gotham's Latest Sensation

New York, April 10 .- Continued efforts to solve the mystery in the death of James McAuliffe, chief witness against Wardman Glennon (who was convicted and sent to Sing Sing for failure to suppress a disorderly house) resulted in a sensation last night at the West 47th street police station. Auliffe was found dead on a sidewalk near his home several weeks ago. It transpired that he had spent the evening in the West 47th street station on a charge of drunkenness and had been discharged in court next morning. Two persons were found who declared they saw a man, answering the description of McAuliffe, put into a cab at the station. Others are said to declare they saw the same man thrown from a vehicle near where McAuliffe was found dead. The officers attached to the West 47th street station were paraded before two of these men-Aaron Cohen and John Lennon-last night. Both declared that Detective Sergeant James Kiernan was one of two men they saw carrying a man from the door of the station house toward a cab standing at the curb.

THE WARE MURDER CASE Once More Comes to the Front in the Pine Tree State

Ellsworth, Me., April 11.-The Saral Ware murder case, which, since September, 1898, has been kept in the minds of Bucksport people, was submitted to the grand jury yesterday afternoon.

Sarah Ware of Bucksport disappeared from her home on Sept. 17, 1898, and her body was found two weeks later a mile from the house. She served as housekeeper for Mrs. Miles. The theory of murder was never con-Said to Have Been Accepted tradicted and the long official inquiry into the case was to find the murderer. Several times the case has been referred to the grand jury, and once a merchant of Bucksport was placed on trial and acquitted in connection with the woman's death. A fund was raised and detectives employed to investigate train and she, in company with her clews which seemed promising. The evidence obtained, however, did not bring an indictment. The Hancock county grand jury last October sat 10 days listening to evidence, and failed to make a report, informing the court at the time that they had agreed to defer action until April.

The murder case has figured not a little in the politics of Bucksport. Because the sheriff failed to make an arrest, was the reason given by many itizens for his failure to be renominated; because the town officers did not appear inclined to act on evidence laid before it, two of the selectmen were defeated for re-election and the town clerk was superseded in office. In county politics the case is said to have had influence to the extent of a new board of county commissioners being chosen Some months ago Deputy Sheriff Genn, who had figured in the case to consider able extent, died.

There were several collisions with the police and many rioters were injured and others were arrested, but the riots were milder than those of Wednesday. Rioting has also occurred at Ghent and Liege.

Towards midnight a part of Brussels | proaching. had the appearance of a city in revolt. perlences of the past few months, Miss Ellen M. Stone, whose ransom was finished. purchased from the brigands in Macedonia, is in the care of loving relatives in Chelsea, her old home. Accompanied by her brother, Charles A. Stone, and friends and representatives of the American board who met her in New York, Miss Stone arrived in this city shortly after 9 o'clock last night. No one save Mr. Stone's son Fred and a few newspaper men met her at the brother and nephew, at once took a carriage for Mr. Stone's home in Chelsea, which was reached about 10 o'clock.

In passing through Chelsea they drove directly past the home of Miss Stone's mother, but owing to the lateness of the hour and the extreme age of her mother, who is 90 years old, Miss Stone decided to reserve her greeting for today. When the party reached Mr. Stone's residence they were met at the threshold by her brother Edward of Melrose and by the wife and daughter of her brother Charles, between all of whom there were most affectionate greetings and expressions of pleasure at the reunion. Miss Stone said she was feeling in excellent health, and she certainly looked it, although greatly fatigued by her long journey and her experience on the water.

Rock Tomb Holds All That Is Mortal of Cecil Rhodes

CEREMONY ON A HIGH PEAK | were made against the Chinese bill in

Participated In by Throng Which to the bill. Formed a Procession Five Miles Long-Impressive Christian Rites Followed by Those of Natives

Buluwayo, Matabeleland, April 11 .-Amid an immense throng of soldiers, civilians and natives, the body of Cecil Rhodes was yesterday committed to its rock tomb in the Matoppo hills. The coffin was shrouded in a union jack, and the wreath sent by Queen Alexandra was laid upon it as it was lowered into the grave.

The funeral party started from Fuller's Hotel early in the morning. The procession was five miles long as it wound through the hills and gorges. Every sort of conveyance was made use of; some were on foot, others were on horseback or on bicycles, while still others were in wagons and carriages. When the procession was a mile from concluded the journey on foot. Twelve oxen hauled the coffin to the almost inacessible summit of the kopje, where and 2000 natives had assembled to witness the Christian interment rites. which they afterwards supplemented in their own fashion by the sacrifice of 15 oxen to the shade of the great dead chief.

Thousands of white persons congregated around the wind-swept hill. The grave was encircled by six boulders. The interment was extremely impressive. The "Dead March" echoed through the hills, and the natives stood like statues. Tears were in the eyes of many of the onlookers. The bishop of Mashonaland, who conducted the interment service, said: "I consecrate this place forever; here he thought, here he lived and died for the empire.' When the coffin was lowered into the omb, chiselled in the solid rock, all those present sang "Old Hundred" and Now the Laborer's Task is O'er.' The remainder of the funeral service was chanted, and the band played the "Dead March" from Saul. The tomb was covered with wreaths.

At the close of the ceremony, those present slowly inspected the spot where Mr. Rhodes lies buried, and threw flowers upon his grave. Dr. Jameson, Colonel Francis Rhodes and all the other mourners left Buluwave last night on a special train.

The scene around Cecil Rhodes' farm the night preceding his interment was most extraordinary. The whole population of Buluwayo seemed to be moving there to camp, and as the darkness closed down, the camp fires sparkled in all directions. The peoole, in every sort of vehicle and on foot, arrived at the camp throughout the entire night. Some natives tramped 100 miles in order to be present at the inerment. The men wore big slovely hats and shirts with short sleeves. Morning revealed an immense camp, in a lovely valley, bright with sunlight. Mighty kopies and granite boulders walled it on every side.

The difficult ascent to the place of burial was accomplished by 9 o'clock in the morning and the obsequies were oncluded at 12:30. After the bishop of Mashonaland had read the poem written for the occasion by Rudyard Kipling, Sekombo, the great Induna and orator of the Matabele, made a speech in which he said: "Both Ceeil Rhodes and Umsiligazi, the founder of the Matabele nation, are buried on the Matoppo hills and the Matabele now consider that the spirit of Umsiligazi is with that of Cecil Rhodes." Professor Stephens' Tribute

Ithaca, N. Y., April 11.-Professor Morse Stephens, in his lecture yesterday in the course on history of the British empire, referred to the large bequests of Cecil Rhodes. Professor Stephens is a graduate of Oxford university. "Surely," said he, "there is nothing much grander in all history. Systematically vilified by almost every newspaper in the United States and by every newspaper in Germany; held up to public scorn as a money grabber and murderer, Cecil Rhodes shows by this bequest that he had at least some great qualities and at least one great virtue—that of forgiveness. Cecil Rhodes had not much opinion of mere learning. He states specifically in his will that in the appointment of the cholar literary qualifications are to ount three-tenths and manly qualities of athletic proficiency and moral force re to count seven-tenths.'

its present form, Mr. Dill ngham concluding his remarks and Mr. Stewart and Mr. Hoar stating ther objections

Mr. Hoar announced his vigorous opposition to the bill, deckring that he never would vote for it. He said that he regarded the pending question as a question affecting the quality of our citizenship.

"It is not race," sad he, "but it is degradation that we digit to strike at and keep out of this country if we can.' The advocates of the penging measure, he said, maintained thatevery Chinaman should be kept out of the United States, even if he posessed every known virtue, and that all other foreigners should be aduitted even though they may have very known vice.

"That," said he, with reat feeling, is a stab at the essentic principle upon which this republic's founded. I will not mark the close my life by joining in such an act. KILLING OF MISS JENNETT

Leads to the Arrest of Professor Miller, Whom Detectives Suspect of Having Committed Murder-Bloodstained Clothing and Hatchet

Detroit, April 11.-What the police consider to be a strong link in the chain of circumstantial evidence that they are weaving about Professor Joseph M. Miller, aged 47, a music teacher and a married man with a family, who is under arrest on suspicion of brutally murdering Miss Carrie M. Jennett on Thirteenth street just before midnight Wednesday night, was discovered last evening.

It is a bloodstained hatchet which was found in the drawer of a table in Miller's kitchen. There is now the following circumstantial evidence against Professor Miller, who was the girl's music teacher and had paid her such marked attentions that her father had asked him to keep away from the house:

When he was examined at the police station what are supposed to be bloodstains were found on his shirt sleeves his trousers, shoes, hat and overcoat; a towel was discovered in his kitchen with what are supposed to be bloodstains on it; when he was asked for an explanation of the stains on his clothing he gave none, but finally the bloodstained hatchet was found last night.

Miss Jennett, who was 22 years of age and who would have become a mother in a few months, was most brutally done to death just before 12 o'clock Wednesday night. She was felled by a terrific blow on the head which broke her neck, and her throat was cut from ear to ear. A blow from some instrument made a hole in the middle of her ferehead and behind her left ear was a deep stab wound, evi dently made by the same instrument that was used to cut her throat. !n addition to these ghastly wounds a heavy blow had been struck on the side of her face, fracturing the cheekbone. Her mutilated body was found in this condition in a lonely spot on Thirteenth street. It was taken to the morgue and not identified until yesterday.

The dead girl was organist of the Rebecca lodge to which she belonged and at the meeting Wednesday night she is said to have been cheerful. Miss Jennett remained until 10 b'clock, when she arose and said: "I don't see what further use von have for me, and I guess I'll go home."

"Wait for us and you'll have company," said one of those present. But the girl insisted on going and went away alone.

The others stayed there until 11 o'clock. The father and mother of the murdered girl sat up late for her return, but finally went to bed, leaving the door unlocked. When they arose yesterday morning they found that d was untouched. father hastily left the house and on the street met a married sister of the dead girl, who informed him that Carrie had been murdered. The old man then went to the morgue and identified the mangled and bloody remains as those of his daughter. The spot where Miss Jennett was murdered was peculiarly adapted to the awful crime. The nearest electric light is three blocks away and there is not a house in the block.

Professor Miller left his bouse, ac cording to his wife, at 8 o'clock Wednes day night, saying he was going to a lodge meeting. At 11:20 p. m., accord ing to his wife, he returned, apparently cool and collected. Miller came home, according to his wife's story, at 11:20, less than half an hour after the murder. He went directly to the sitting room, where he met his wife and an old friend who was calling. Then he went to the kitchen to make ready tea for a light lunch. While in the kitchen Miller was alone. His wife says he had time to wash leisurely before either she or her friend went out there. The washroom in which the towel was found adjoins the kitchen where Miller was preparing lunch. The detectives found no other clue.

She had come to the city to study art, her heart full of ambitions and her ears ringing with wholesome warnings, and she had fallen in love when scarcely across the frontier of Bohemia. She had permitted Mr. Charles Lamoine to whisper tender words into her ear, and, though she couldn't remember what she herself had said, she felt sure that it must have been weak and silly.

That was last evening, and now she was actually going to this young man's studio to face him in broad daylight. She blushed at the thought, but wild horses couldn't have held her from

Miss Sargent sat down by the desk in the office and wrote upon one of her cards: "I understood that you were to be in at this hour. It seems that I have made a mistake."

She had an impulse to underscore the last word, so that he might know that the mistake was not in the hour, but in her permitting the gentleman to whisper tales of love on the previous evening when he had escorted her home from a musicale, or, in the language of the Carrot, a "howl," in Walter Farnsworth's rooms.

"Please put this in Mr. Lamoine's studio," she said, giving the card to

The janitor took the card and thrust it into a side pocket of his jacket. Then he started as if some one had stuck a pin into him and began to nod his head like a restless horse. This is a sign with Jim that he has remembered something, but Miss Sargent was not aware of it, for she had been only a few weeks in Bohemia and was just beginning to get acquainted with the provinces and personages of that country. Jim had remembered that another young lady had called a few minutes before and had given him a note on a card to be put in Mr. Farns-

his pocket reminded him, for that was just what he had done with the other. When Miss Sargent had gone, faithful Jim ferried Limself up stairs in the elevator and put the cards into the rooms. He put Miss Sargent's card upon Mr. Farnsworth's piano and Miss Grace Withington's card upon Mr. Lamoine's writing table. The reason that he got them mixed up was because he was Jim. Miss Sargent walked away from the Carrot feeling very much hurt. It was evident that Mr. Lamoine was a trifler -one of those irresponsible creatures that, the books say, make up the bulk of Rohemia's population. This was what she was thinking when suddenly | Helena perceived at once that the 'a Journal.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. TOPIC. Giving; its law; its reflex influ--II Cor. vili, 1-5; ix, 6, 7; I Cor. xvi,

The Christian life is a constant receiving and giving. The receive great blessings from God daily and are expected in return to give and even to give unto God. Not that God needs our gifts, but that we need to make David's exclamation, "What shall I render unto the Lord for all His benefits?" finds an echo in every heart. Even the idol worshiping heathen in all ages have felt the operation of this same sentiment and have responded to it. It should possess us also. Freely we have received from God, freely we should give to God.

The example of Christ should also be a stimulus to Christian giving. Paul refers to this example in his appeal to the Corinthians for the fulfillment of their benevolent obligations. "Ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor that ye through his poverty might become rich." Paul also used the example and method of the Macedonians to provoke the Corinthians to the good work of liberality. Though in affliction and in poverty, they gave liberally and willingly to their needy brethren after first having given themselves to Christ. In all these characteristics they should stimulate all Christians to increased liberality in giving.

The New Testament law of giving is undoubtedly "systematic and proportionate." "Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him.' In the Old Testament dispensation the law required that a tenth be given to the Lord, but this rule of Paul's is the nearest law to be found upon the subject in the New Testament. It declares in favor of systematic giving in proportion as God blesses us. This law is Scriptural, just and practicable. It makes it possible for all the children of God to meet their obligations in this respect. Rich and poor alike can regularly lay aside a proportion of what God gives them for the support of His Work and the calls of charity that are made upon them. If God gives us but little, then we will have but little to give; if He blesses us abundantly, then we may have the joy of giving liberally to His cause and kingdom. In any case, let us obey this law of giving willingly and cheerfully, for "the Lord loveth a chearful giver."

The reflex influence of giving is a positive blessing and experience. It is a promise of God's word, which, like all His other promises, will not fail of fulfillment. "He that soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly, and he that soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully." The reflex influence of miserliness is poverty - poverty in friends, poverty in peace and poverty in the blessings of God. The reflex influence of giving is riches-riches in friends, in joy, in peace and in the blessings of God. Giving blesses twice in that it blesses him who gives and him that receives. "Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give, not grudgingly or of necessity, for God loveth a cheerful

The Glorious Church.

Men may desecrate the church, as Cromwell when he stabled his cavalry horses in St. Paul's cathedral, or break off the image of Christ, as did the iconoclasts in Yorkminster, or hurl against it august literary antipathies, as did Gibbon, or plot its overthrow, as do some in every community whose pride and hate and debauchery are reproved by the Ten Commandments which it thunders and the sermon on the mount which it breathes, but it will stand as long as the earth stands, the same unique and wonder working and beatific and miraculous thing for which God decreed it.-Christian Herald.

Conscience.

Conscience is always true to the best light it has. No man can go against his knowledge of right without a sense of guilt. When he goes against his conscience, he cannot even respect himself.-Rev. George Schaffer, D. D.

Prayer.

Jesus, engrave it on my heart That Thou the one thing needful art.
I could from all things parted be,
But never, never, Lord, from Thee.

Needful is Thy most precious blood, Needful is Thy correcting rod, Needful is Thy indulgent care, Needful Thy all prevailing prayer.

Needful Thy presence, dearest Lord, True peace and comfort to afford; Needful Thy promise to impart Fresh life and vigor to my heart.

Needful art Thou to be my stay Needful art Triou to be my stay
Through all life's long and thorny way,
Nor less in death Thou'lt needful be
To bring my spirit home to Thee.

DREADED POLLOCK RIP

Adds a Big Steamer to Its List of Victims

THE WILLIAMSPORT SINKS

After Being In Collision With a Barge In Tow of Another Steamer - Monomoy Lifesavers Rescue Crew From a Most Perilous Position

Chatham, Mass., April 12.-The steamer Williamsport of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal company was sunk on Pollock Rip by collision with a barge in tow of tug Plymouth yesterday morning, and now lies a total wreck just out of track of vessels going over the shoals. The Williamsport, Captain Godfrey, was bound from Philadelphia for Portland with coal, and with barge Paxinos in tow. The tug Plymouth was going to the westward, having left Boston Thursday for Port Johnson with three Central railroad of New Jersey barges, Nos. 7, 8, and 10, in tow. It is understood here that the last barge in the tow was the one in collision with the Williamsport.

According to Captain Godfrey's statement the Williamsport was running up Pollock Rip channel, and was close in towards the channel buoy. For some minutes the lights of the Piymouth were seen, but Captain Godfrey believed that she would clear his vessel. The position of the Williamsport was such at that time that her course could not be altered

Captain Godfrey says the steamers cleared each other by a narrow margin, the primest and choicest cuts, and but the last barge in the Plymouth keep on hand at all times the best string erashed into the Williamsport on the port bow. The hole was a large one and the water poured in. Captain Godfrey, realizing that his vessel was doomed, headed her for shore with all the steam he had, but in 20 minutes the engine room was flooded. The fires went out and the steamer lost headway. The boats were lowered and everybody left, rowing to the Plymouth, which was lying by to give assistance. About five minutes after the boats got clear the Williamsport went down in five fathoms of water. From the Plymouth Captain Godfrey and his crew went to the tug International of the Philadelphia and Reading line, which was also coming over the shoals with a tow of barges. The International anchored her barges, and immediately sailed for the westward to land the men of the Williamsport.

The barge Paxinos, which was in tow of the Williamsport, went ashore on Pollock Rip right after the collision. Captain Smith of that craft, on seeing the barge strike the steamer, cast off his hawser and let go his anchors. But he did not get the hooks down quickenough and the Paxinos settled lightly on the shoal. The crew of the barge came very near being lost. The sea was very rough and the men got thoroughly frightened, until all, Captain Smith and four men, took to the small boat. This was just after daybreak, when the Monomoy life saving crew, having seen the wreck, had started from the beach for the barge.

The Paxinos' boat shipped water and with difficulty was kept affoat until the life boat was within hailing distance. The rescue was none too soon, for the small boat was nearly full of water and the men had nothing with which to bail.

The Monomoy crew was in charge of Captain Ellis, the sole survivor of the crew from this station which tried to rescue five men from the barge Wadena, ashore on Shovelful shoal, last month. The crew went on board the Paxinos, and with the rising tide got her afloat and worked her into a safe anchorage to the west of the Handkerchief lightship. The Plymouth continued on to the westward, as the barge which was in and Joe Walcott fought six rounds to a collision did not appear to have been draw at Industrial hall last night. badly damaged, a somewhat remark. O'Brien had a shade the better of the able result because the tow was mov- bout. ing very fast in a strong tide.

The Williamsport's deck houses are in sight at low tide, but it is believed that she will be a total loss. The steamer was one of the finest colliers in the coastwise service. She was built at Philadelphia in 1874 and was of 1283 gross tonnage. Her length was 242 feet, breadth, 42; and depth, 26.6.

Ware of Kansas has been selected by Southern Senators Think Depew Is Mistaken

Representatives of Mississippi, North gossiping women. One horrid relic, Carolina and Kentucky Assert That the New Yorker Is Not Informed as to the Facts Regarding Politics

Washington, April 12.-Some remarks which Mr. Depew made on In this position the "spike wheel" was Thursday concerning the proposed amendment to the constitution providcampaigns was badly wounded. After | ing for the election of senators by popular vote, in the course of which he adverted to southern election methods. precipitated a lively three hours' debate in the senate yesterday. Mr. Money, to whose state reference had been made by the New York senator, replied tartly to some of the statements of Mr. Depew and defended the suffrage clauses in the Mississippi constitution.

Mr. Depew made a warm reply and attacked the election methods not only of Mississippi but of several other southern states. He intimated that if fair methods were employed in those states Republican senators would be here as their representatives.

At the conclusion of Mr. Depew's remarks, Mr. Money corrected what he my appointment and until I receive it, termed "some of the mis-statements" I will not say whether or not! will of the New York senator regarding the election laws of Mississippi.

Mr. McLaurin read at length paragraphs from the constitution of Mississippi and pointed out, that it contained no "grandfather clause.

Mr. Simmons denied some of the statements made by Mr. Depew, saying that the Democrats had not used the election machinery to elect Democratic senators in North Carolina in place of Republicans. In fact, continued Mr. Simmons, the section of the constitution relating to elections had not yet gone into effect.

Mr. Blackburn followed Mr. Sinmons and took sharp issue with Mr. Depew, saying that he was not present when the senator from New York disported himself much like a bull in a china shop. He criticised the New York senator for violating the proprieties of the senate in "springing a bombshell" upon a subject which was to be voted upon in committee next Tuesday. Mr. Blackburn said the object of Mr. Depew was to "wave the bloody shirt," He then read Mr. Depew's remarks regarding the Goebel law and said there was not a single statement of fact in it. He considered Mr. Depew's remarks due to the "exuberant fancy" of the New York sen-

Mr. Depew interrupted Mr. Black burn to say that he based his statements upon newspaper reports at that time. Mr. Blackburn then rehearsed what took place in Kentucky when Taylor and Goebel were rival candidates for maintained that the Goebel election law had been sustained by the supreme court of Kentucky. He (Blackburn) was willing to stand on that judgment.

"I have been informed," interrupted Mr. Depew, "that one-third of the vote of the state of Kentucky was thrown held in Vienna by Chancellor Von out in a recent election. Is that true?" "It is no more true," replied -Mry Blackburn, "than many of the other statements the senator has made about Kentucky affairs." In conclusion Mr. Blackburn said sareastically that he would suggest a manner in which the New York senament was adopted New York might be old, was found by his father last even- excepted and then the railroads of that state, and especially the New York in Nanking road. Monkeys' toe nails, Central railroad, need not be deprived of representation in the senate. In a brief reply Mr. Depew said he was proud of his connection with the railroad interests of the country-a connection which, with one million of associates, he had always considered honorable. When the Chinese exclusion bill was taken up an agreement was reached that a vote should be taken on it next Wednesday at 1 o'clock. Mr. Teller supported the measure in a brief speech, maintaining that it was necessary and that it was not in contravention of our treaty obligations with China.

Debate on the Cuban reciprocity bill continued in the house yesterday, the principal speeches being made by Mr. Long (Kas.), a member of the ways and means committee, who from the first ardently supported the proposition for reciprocity and who originally favored a reduction of 40 percent, and by Mr. Shaffroth (Colo.), who vigorously opposed the bill on the ground that the sugar trust, which, he said, was waging a war of extermination against the beet sugar industry, would be its chief beneficiary.

TORTURE MACHINES.

Curious Instruments That Were

Used In the Middle Ages. In an old tower in Nuremburg there is a room set apart especially for the preservation of the curious instruments of torture used during the uncertain period historically referred to as the middle ages. In that room you can see thumbscrews of the most approved pattern closely arranged along shelves filled with "liar helmets" and "bridles" for called the "spike wheel," is a heavy cylinder, on one side of which stand out two or more score of sharp iron spikes. In days of old when an offender had been sentenced to undergo a "rolling" he was stripped naked and firmly bound on a plank, face down. slowly dragged up and down his back, the number of times depending upon the gravity of the crime and the wording of the sentence.

In several instances the poor victims were prodded so full of holes that they died before they could be removed from the plank. When death was intended, the number of "rolls" was not specified, but double length spikes, heated redhot, were put in the surface of the cylinder. This mode of carrying out capital punishment was hardly as expeditious as the guillotine, but it was equally as certain.

Pictures In Japanese Temples.

The votive pictures (yema) of Japanese temples are an outgrowth of an old custom. In ancient times departed warriors were honored by offerings of sake and rice placed before their tablets and tombs. As the idea gained ground that their spirits hovered around their graves besides food a certain number of spotless white horses were provided with which these spiritual worthies might take recreation So it became the custom in wealthy Shinto temples to keep one of these sacred animals. There were many shrines that could not afford to buy a white horse, so the next best thing was to get a picture of one; hence the name yema (picture horse) from ye (a -picture) and uma (a horse).

The use of the yema was first confined to the Shinto religion, but the Buddhists took kindly to the custom The word yema has long lost its primitive meaning and has become a generic name for every picture hung up in Shinto shrines or Buddhistic tem-

Hedgehog and Viper.

A resident of Versailles, M. Guignet. sends to Nature a vivid account of a duel he saw between a hedgehog and a viper. The two enemies knew very well at first sight who was who, and eyed each other as if they knew a moment's inattention would be fatal. The viper was the first to get tired of gazing, and it began to glide away. Just then the hedgehog rushed for the viper's tail, and, having nailed it fast with its teeth, it rolled itself up. The hedgehog was very careful, however. not to cut the tail off. The viper curled back and delivered furious assaults on its aggressor, wrestling and rolling with the curled up hedgehog all over the place. At length the snake, counded in a bundred places, died The hedgehog began its repast on the tail of its victim and was careful not to eat the head.

Queer Medicine. At the Shanghai police court recently a curious object was handed up to the bench for inspection. It was contained in a square yellow box and resembled nothing more than a piece of black wax. It weighed about two ounces, and the policeman in charge of the case explained to the court that it was a Chinese medicine compound of monkeys' toe nails boiled down and hardened by being buried underground for a number of years. It had been stolen from a native apothecary's shop it appears, are a well known remedy among the Chinese for stomach trou-

An Odd Turkish Superstition.

An odd Turkish superstition is as follows: If one finds a piece of bread lying upon the ground, he must pick it up, kiss it and carry it until he finds a hole into which the bread can be inserted. To step upon a piece of bread or to leave it lying upon the ground is one of the unpardonable sins and dooms the offender to the third hell, where he is perpetually gored by an ox that has but a single horn that is in the center of his forehead.

Good Afternoon,

The regular State House correspondent of the Patriot writes:

Mr. Badger of Quincy is much interested in temperance legislation as is natural with a member from so wellknown a temperance city. He and Mr. Keith of Brockton are the two foremost members of the House in watching and defending all measures which promote the cause of temperance.

Major Waller Still Holds to That Opinion

TAKES PAINS PRECEDENTS REFERRED TO

Natives Put to Death Without Trial During the Boxer Uprising Without Protest From Americans or Any Other Nations - Acquittal Probabl

Manila, April 12.-Major Waller of the marine corps, who is being tried by court martial on the charge of executing Samar natives without trial, addressed the court yesterday. The major said he was either right or wrong in his actions and added that he desired to cite some precedents which came under the head of his own case. He alluded to the naval battle at Santiago and the humanity he had shown to Spaniards who were captured, and said he had many letters from Spaniards thanking him for the .: indness he had shown them.

Continuing, the major said that, in 1882, he was with the British forces in Egypt, where Arabs captured pickets of Bengal cavalry, decapitated the prisoners and placed their heads on poles. Afterwards, all the Arabs who were caught were shot without trial.

During the campaign in China the Chinese mutilated the dead and tortured the wounded to death. Consequently when a boxer or a fanatic was captured, he was executed im nediately, without reference. This was true in the case of the troops of every nation in China. It was true during the three weeks he commanded the Americans there.

But the same thing occurred, later, when he was no longer in command. No protest was made and he had every right to believe that his acts were approved, so far as the American forces were concerned. He knew they vere approved by those of other nations.

"It is impossible to conceive such treachery as that of the natives of Samar," said the major. "They revel wanton sacrilege of the human body. These fiends stole Captain Connell's class ring, filled the soldiers' bodies with jam and jelly and attempted to murder my command. I shot them. I honestly thought than that I was right, and I believe so now. Neither my people nor the world will believe me to be a murderer."

Captain Arthur T. Marix (maring corps), representing Major Waller, in a forceful argument, maintained that Waller's actions were justified by martial law, quoting numerous authorities on the subject. Captain Marix also said he regretted very much that the prosecution had seen fit to call General Smith. He said that all the testimony went to show that the major was justified.

At the close of the arguments for the defense, the general feeling was that the result of the trial will be the acquittal of the major.

Workingmen In Politics

Bridgeport, Conn., April 12 .-- Encouraged by the election of laboring men as mayors in Ansonia, Bridgeport and Hartford, a movement is afoot for the formation of a new political party, composed of all kinds of workingmen. It is to be known as the Economic League of Connecticut, and will be patterned closely after the Economic League of Hartford, which took an active part in the election of Mayor Sullivan there. The promoters of the movement are all workingmen.

Breweries In Operation

Boston, April 12.-More work was being done at the breweries yesterday than at any time since the strike was started. Non-union men have taken the strikers' places and have enabled the breweries to resume operations, but there are yet many positions vacant. The master brewers show some reluctance about hiring outside men, so long as they deem it possible to get the experienced men back.

Strange Effects of Extreme Cold.

Dr. Moss of the English polar expedition of 1875-77, among many other things, told of the strange effects of the extreme cold upon the candles they burned. The temperature was from 35 to 50 degrees below zero, and the doctor says he was considerably discouraged when coon looking at his candle he discovered that the flame "had all it could do to keep warm." It was so cold that the flame could not melt all of the taile v of the candle, but was forced to eat its way down, leaving a sort of skeleton candle standing. There was heat enough, however, to melt odd shaped holes in the thin walls of tallow, the result being a beautiful lacelike cylinder of white, with a narrow tongue of yellow flame burning on the

the more pliant fabrics rival the taffetas and glace, while laces and chiffons modify them all. There is a light and sparkling element in silks, as in other materials. Gay, prettily colored Pompadour bouquets, such as the pleasure loving dames of the courts of Louis XIV, and XV, affected, figure alike on muslin (silk and cotton), silks and other fabrics.

Something of the prevailing pretty and picturesque effect may be gathered from the gown of the first cut, a satin foulard in a delicate shell pink shade trimmed with white guipure, with frills and pouch front in white silk muslin. The fronts of the skirt tunic are stitched over the narrow tablier from the waist nearly to the knee and thence left free. The picture hat in pink crinoline straw, artistically bent, s set off with black velvet ribbon and feweled clasps, while a black amazon feather curls over the brim and a piquet of tips droops toward the neck.

The toque is an Easter confection green gauze and white chiffon. Four graduated crosses, gold and pearls, nestle amid the folds of the fussy brim; a snail stud secures a slanting emerald green aigret at the side, and a black osrich tip completes the back.

In skirts there is an introduction of novelty, although the long lines and graceful curves of the figure remain a distinct feature in the new models. The new Paris skirt is composed of three pieces of material; the upper portion, fitting perfectly to the figure, widens only slightly over the second and is again repeated at the base. #### A Strange Target.

In "The Book of the Rifle" the Hon. T. F. Freemantle tells the following amusing story apropos of accidents to

"Sir Henry Halford on one occasion -it was not a very clear day-was about to begin shooting at 1,000 yards and, thinking that the marker must now be ready for him to begin, asked him through the telephone, 'Are you all right?' The marker replied, "All right, sir, in a minute;' but, unluckily, Sir Henry took 'All right, sir,' instead of the whole sentence and removed the telephone from his ear. He lay down and fired his shot, and on looking through the telescope to see where it had hit was horrified to see the marker with a perfectly white face staggering toward his shelter. He was intensely alarmed, and in a moment there came a ring at the telephone. 'What has happened? Are you badly hurt?' 'No, sir, I am not hurt; but I had a bucket of whitewash between my legs painting the target, and you put a bullet into it and splashed it all up in my face."

A Poverty Stricken Queen.

Partly owing to the fact that she was wedded to an avaricious king and partly because she was generous with the little money allowed her Elizabeth of York, queen of Henry VII., spent but a small amount for dress. She was very often in debt, and the sums she spent were ridiculously small, 20 shillings ($5) being the greatest amount expended at any one time. Her gowns were mended and turned, and new waists were made for them, as is shown by the record of bills paid to her tailor. These bills prove that she wore her clothes for a long time, for her gowns were obliged to be newly hemmed, and also that, though a princess of the great house of Plantagenet, she wore shoes costing but 24 cents, which were deco rated with tin buckles!

East Indian Idols.

The images of the gods in India are not made by a separate caste, but the carpenters and masons respectively make the large wooden and stone idols set up in the temples, the potters the clay idols consumed in daily worship and the braziers, coppersmiths and goldsmiths the little images in brass, copper, mixed metal and gold and silver that are always kept in private homes. The East Indians regard an alloy of brass with five other metalsgold, silver, iron, tin and lead, making, with the copper and zinc of the brass, a mixture of light metals-as a perfect alloy, and this is highly prized as a material for sacred images.

Lord Palmerston died at his post two days before he was eighty-one, his faculties undimmed and his physical strength little affected by his advanced age. A hidden witness recorded a touching anecdote: A fortnight before his death he saw the old statesman come out of his London house early one morning, look around to assure himself that he was alone, then climb over the area railing around the house and back again to test the strength of his muscles.-Lippincott's Magazine.

HE SERGEANT'S DAUGHTER

There is an old fort on the coast of North Carolina dismantled and under the care of John Conroy, an ordnance sergeant. One morning I strolled from the hotel where I was spending the summer with a view to visiting the place and on reaching it was shown about by the sergeant's daughter, Julia. She was very pretty, and there was an individuality about her which rendered her unforgetable.

"Have you always lived here?" I asked.

"Oh, no, ma'am, but I've always lived in the army. I was born in the army.'

"Are you attached to the army?" "I don't know anything else. I can't say I'm attached to it, because father is only a noncom., and we don't associate with the families of the officers."

"What's a noncom.?" "A noncommissioned officer. But something may happen that will make this different," she added in a confidential tone.

"Who is the officer?" I asked.

"What officer?" "The one you are expecting to mar-

"Oh, dear! How did you know?"

"I didn't know. I guessed." "He is a lieutenant of engineers. He came here to make an estimate for the department as to how much it would cost to put the fort in repair. He stayed and stayed and stayed. When he went away, we were engaged."

I had known army people years before and understood perfectly the complications likely to arise in this case. The youngster just out of West Point usually wears his heart on his sleeve. He may not necessarily come to grief unless he makes a mesalliance. The most unfortunate match for him is with one "from the ranks."

Before the close of the summer a young army officer came to the hotel, and the same day I noticed on the register the name of Francis C. Bouton, United States engineers. He was introduced to me, and we were soon well acquainted. He told me that he had come to make some corrections in an estimate he had made on repairing the fort. It was plain that he was the lover of the sergeant's daughter. I did not tell him that I knew her story, but waited to be informed as to his intentions toward her. I was six years his senior, and a boy of twenty-two is more in harmony with a woman of twenty-eight than one near his own age. It was not long before he confided to me that he had given way to a fancy for the girl, knowing that their marriage would blight the lives of both, and once in love's meshes he had not the firmness or the meanness, which better expresses it, to break with her. It was not long before I found myself in a position to decide the fate of these two people. Lieutenant Bouton, notwithstanding his mistake in becoming involved, was a conscientious young man and was about to sacrifice himself to what he considered his honor. I had gained a considerable influence over him and could determine what he would do. What should I ad-

The more I thought of the matter the more I wished to wash my hands of it, but I felt as Lieutenant Bouton did about his own complication. Honor compelled me to help him. The result of my deliberations was an attempt to discover how the loss of her lover would affect the girl. I went to the fort and, seating myself on a rampart. waited for Julia. She soon saw me and came out to chat with me.

"Julia." I said after we had talked awhile, "I am similarly situated to you. I am engaged to an officer of the engineer corps."

She paled. She had seen me in company with her lover and knew what was coming. I had not the courage to

"Oh, ma'am, you don't know how you have stabbed me! You are going to marry my Lieutenant Bouton, but it is better that you should have him than I. I have been thinking lately what a drag I would be to him."

"If he had acted dishonorably toward you, I would not marry him for the world."

"Don't think that. He fell into it just as I did-without thinking." "And it won't break your heart to lose him?" "That I don't know. It's bleak here in winter, and I fear I shall be always with you."

When I returned to the hotel, I carried a verbal release to Lieutenant Bouton and sent him away without seeing the girl he had wronged. I went to her every day to watch the effect of her loss, having promised him if it | proved that she could not bear it I would bring him back to her. When autumn came, I took her with me to the city and began her education in a field for which I had seen evidence of her fitness-art. Never for a moment did she show me the least jealousy, though I knew she at times felt it and struggled hard against it.

Years passed. Julia Conroy had be come proficient in art and had made some reputation. I saw her occasionally, and she would ask me why I had Thames river with a shield fastened in never married Lieutenant Bouton. I the middle of it. Three or four boys always evaded giving the true reason. would row rapidly up to it, one stand-The truth was that I had undertaken to bring Julia up to a standard where she might be Lieutenant Bouton's wife. When she had spent years associating with people of education and refinement and had made a name for herself in her profession, I brought Captain (not Lieutenant) Bouton back to her, and they were married.

There once was a drought quite severe In the kingdom of Skittles and Beer. With nothing to drink But iced Indian ink-

A beverage rather austere.

Along came boy giant Ah Grim; The people their woes told to him; Root beer springs were dry, Naught but ink could they buy, Which was bad for a bath, drink or swim.

The giant suggested "some rain," And, seizing a big piece of cane, He stirred up a cloud Till it thundered aloud And showered o'er mountain and plain.

In the kingdom of Skittles so queer The people have nothing to fear; Now water they drink, Which is better than ink And wholesomer greatly than beer.

An Old Game.

CNY

The Britons derived nearly all their games from the Romans and Greeks, and in the fourteenth century perhaps the most popular was what was called Dandelion blossoms, kissed by the sun, "water quintain." This was played by boys and was very popular in London. A pole or mast was fixed in the ing in the stern of the boat with his When he drew near enough to the shield, he would endeavor to break his lance against it. If the stroke was not skillful enough, the standing boy would be thrown with some violence into the water. But if the lance broke the boy would preserve his position and the boat would proceed on its way.

Dandelion Blossoms. Little buttons of burnished gold, Clasping a mantle of green, Over the russet gown of earth,

With jeweis sewn between. Stealing his rays of light And hiding them in your yellow folds While the daisy pales in affright; Nothing daunted by wind or storm, Bravely you face the gale Till December chills your trembling hearts

And your little forms grow pale, So your gold is lost in the fluffy down And you glisten awhile on the spray; But, alas, the frost king's icy breath Scatters your soft down away-Away o'er the waves of the laughing

That sweetly to me doth sing, And I know that again in your yellow gowns will dance with the flowers of spring.

WEEKLY THADE REVIEW

Weather, and Labor Drawbacks Have

Not Had a Serious Effect New York, April 12 .- R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: Good news predominates in the business world, notwithstanding two somewhat serious drawbacks. Weather conditions have been unsatisfactory at many points, retarding retail distribution and delaying outdoor work, while excessive rain has put many southern planters behind with work in the cotton fields. Still more of a handicap is the strife between wage earner and employer. Manufacturing is exceptionally active in lines not disturbed by strikes, and there is a vigorous movement of goods through regular channels.

Not only pig iron, but bars, billets and structural shapes are also sold so far ahead that new business is comparatively light, although conumers would quickly absorb any early deliveries that might be offered.

Firmness in cotton goods naturally follows the combination of light stocks and the interruption of work at some mills with threatened disturbance at others, together with the higher prices of raw material. In many lines it is no longer possible to secure prompt deliveries and buyers have practically ceased to ask concessions.

Clothing buyers are seeking to secure woolen goods to sub for deliveries retarded by the strike, but find the market heavily overbought, and many lines withdrawn or advanced in prices. Worsted manufacturers are busy and there is a noticeable inquiry for yarns. Footwear manufacturers have secured a little more business and shops have been able to avoid the reduced time that was feared. Quotations are fairly steady and in jobbing trade there is a greater demand for tan shoes than was expected.

Pennsylvania Boss Breaks Silence Philadelphia, April 12.-After months of silence, Senator Quay announced yesterday that he is opposed to the nomination of John P Elkin for governor of Pennsylvania. This announcement came as a great shock to the friends of Mr. Elkin and has caused a tremendous stir in political circles. Israel W. Durham, leader of the Republication organization in this city, who some time ago publicly announced that he was for Elkin, "sink or swim, has been won over, and last night said that he concurs in the view taken of the situation by Senator Quay.

Philadelphia, April 12.-Steps were taken yesterday by the children of the late Colonel John McKee, the colored millionaire, to prevent the registration and execution of the decedent's will. McKee was a life-long member of the Presbyterian church. His will, made public yesterday, devises the bulk of his $2,000,000 estate to charitable uses under the control of Archbishop Ryan and the clergy of the Roman Catholic church. His next of kin are cut off with a mere pittance.

The settlement was brought about by Deputy Minister of Labor King, who induced both sides to make concessions.

The firm was esthis is consequently their 45th anniversary. Many of the present Barre manufacturers have worked in their sheds at Quincy.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

The policy of the Castle Square Theatre management is evidently to afford the patrons of this playhouse opportunities to become familiar with the plays of the day as well as these which have been standards in the past. This latter class of attraction will be represented in the production of the coming week as " Hamlet" is announced, with a cast of characters drawn exclusively from the regular membership of the Castle Square stock company. The fact that this production, like all those of recent years at this theatre, is in the hands of Mr. J. R. Pitman assures a following of the best stage traditions regarding the presentation of this play, as he has probably been associated with more this country. Great care is promised by the management in the way of stage settings and costumes, and the cast will be as follows: Claudius, Henry L. Hall; Hamlet, John Craig; Bernado, G. Lawrence; Francisco, C. W. Lawford; First Player, Edward Wade: Second Tuesday afternoon the Philergians Player, John Geary; First Grave-Digger, John

COLONIAL THEATRE.

So much has been said at one time or another about the Klaw & Erlanger production of "Ben Mr. Orrin W. Hollis, for the past Hur" now running at the Colonial Theatre, eight years employed as stenographer Boston, that there is little left to write that savors for the engineer's department of the of news. The play has reached the public as none other and has broken all records for business success. It is now in its closing weeks at education in the Methodist Conference appointed to the position of chief clerk the Colonial Theatre and all who have not witnessed this marvelous stage spectacle should not miss the opportunities afforded during the next three weeks as "Ben Hur will close its engagement on April 26 and will be seen nowhere else in New England. "Ben Hur" is one o the greatest plays ever given to the stage, and doubtful if it will ever be eclipsed. Its story is well known through the wide circulation of Gen Lew Wallaces's great religious romance, and through the play itself which has probably played to more people since its production than any other dramatic work. The recent London production at the Drury Lave theatre, is another for some years, having associated with American triumph and is especially noteworthy in view of the fact that there is much complaint that the American stage is dependent upon foreign brains for its greatest plays.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

Keith's is still holding the record for phenomenal patronage among Boston playhouses, and it is an accepted fact that at this beautiful theatre one usually gets about twice as much pleas ure as anywhere else. One critic calls it "the home of laughter," and thinks there is nothing tablished in 1857 at Quincy, Mass., and to wonder at because the claim is made by the management that it is the resort par excellence of women and children. It is a rare night when one does not see in the boxes or orchestra seats at Keith's one or more parties representative of the best citizenship of the capital city of Massachusetts. For the week commencing April 14 the following entertainers are scheduled to appear: Sidney Grant, monologue comedian and mimic of other stage favorites, who is acknowledged matinee favorite of the varieties; Weston and Raymond, travesty comedians, introducing Miss Eunice Sayre, in the screamingly funny burlesque, "Hearts in Maryland," in which she appears as Mrs. Leslie McCarter; the Bachelor's Club, one of the best organizations of singers and comedians in the business. There will be an entire set of new motion pictures in the bicgraph, and Director Baer's orchestra will perform popular selections during the intermissions. The Almondbury bell ringers, a famous English organization, is heavily underlined for the week of April 21.

PARK THEATRE.

Neil Burgess, in his incomparable character of Abigail Prue, with his horses, cows and other farmyard accessories, will appear at the Park theatre, Boston, on Monday, April 14. This is one of the most important theatrical events of the season. "The County Fair" is known to those who take an interest in things theatrical as one of the most successful presentations of rural New England life ever seen on the American stage. "The County Fair" is a success no matter how you take it, but with the original Neil Burgess in the role of the quaint, good-humored old maid, Abigail Prue, there is nothing in the line of comedy drama to equal it. It is a real buman-like production.

BOSTON HORSE SHOW.

Mechanics Building, April 14, for a run of gist six days, promises in many ways to eclipse any of the past shows held in that city. The finest horse show horses in the country will be seen at their best in the ring, and more of them will be exhibited during the show week than ever before. The entries for this year's show are before. The entries for this year's show are nearly 25 per cent more than those of last year, and over 1,000 entries have been made. The pick of the tan bark performers of the East will compete for the "blues," and in every class the teresting owing to the merits of the horses entered. The success of the show is already guaranteed, owing to the extra large entry, and from a social standpoint the successes of past years promise to be repeated. There will be three performances daily, at 10 A. M., 2 P. M.,

Newton Police Had Clothing Torn threatening at the same time to lock From Their Backs, but They Landed them up unless they hurried up about Their Man After Fighting a Crowd of Two Hundred Disturbers

Newton, Mass., April 14.-Battling against a mob of over 200 persons, Sengeant Purcell and Patrolman Wade E. Dearborn of the Newton police department had an unpleasant experience hour yesterday. For over half an hour. officers received injuries requiring the attendance of a physician. They were terribly bruised and their uniforms were torn from their bodies. They succeeded, however, in locking up their prisoner, Joseph Thomas, 23 years old, a laborer, who is booked upon two charges, disturbance and assault on an

Shortly before 1 o'clock Patrolman Dearborn saw Thomas and several companions alight from a Boston car. They started up Washington street, and were warned by the officer to make less noise. Refusing to heed the advice. Dearborn started to place Thomas under arrest. He had no sooner done so than he was set upon by the rest of the party. Warding off their blows as best he could he hurried his man in the direction of the police station. At the same time, it is claimed, Thomas turned and struck the officer in the

The disturbance was heard by Sergeant Purcell, who was standing in the square some distance away, and, accompanied by his son, he hastened to aid Dearborn. About this time four cars from Boston pulled into the square and many of their occupants, seing the trouble, hastened to the rescue of the prisoner. More than 200 persons joined in the mixup, directing all their efforts against the officers. When within 20 yards of the station house, the officers made a stand. Drawng their clubs, they struck right and left with but little effect other than to increase the anger of the crowd. They closed in on the two officers and rained kicks and blows upon them as they stood hemmed in and unable to move. Sergeant Purcell was kicked in the back and fell to the ground, losing his elmet. Dearborn at the same time was tripped up, and together with the prisoner rolled into the street. Regaining their feet they struck blow after blow with their clubs, with telling effect. Assisted by Patrolman Bosworth, who had been summoned, they succeeded in locking their man up. The mob followed the men to the station and filled the street until dispersed by the officers, who were once nore obliged to use their clubs.

Sergeant Purcell had his helmet and padge taken away, and the uniforms of both men were completely ruined. They were bleeding profusely from numerous cuts and were badly bruised Thomas was also roughly handed and Dr. Utley, after attending to the officers, took two stitches in his head.

ASSAULTED BY TOUGHS Boston Police Officer Has a Rather Unpleasant Experience

Boston, April 14.-Police Officer Perley Miller of the Dedhem street station was brutally assaulted by a gang of toughs at the corner of Newton street and Harrison avenue just before midnight Saturday night and left unconscious on the sidewalk, while his four assailants made their escape. Officer Miller's condition is serious, but not necessarily fatal.

According to the story told by witnesses, Miller was standing on the corner when he was approached by some sort of a remark to the patrolman and the latter, evidently resenting it, ordered the whole four to move on, it. The answer was a crushing blow in the face. Miller jumped backwards and started to draw his club. In an instant two of the men leaped upon him. and while one held him by the throat the other tore the club from his hand and started to use it on the officer. Another of the crowd drew a short iron bar from under his coat, and in an instant both bar and club were raining a shower of terrible blows upon the officer's head. Suddenly one of the blows, more forcible than the rest, staggered the victim, and he sank to the ground, his assailants meanwhile keeping up their brutal work. After terribly beating their victim the men an rapidly away.

While hardly any clue to his assailants is held by the police, it is supposed that the job was a carefully

Brewery Workers Confident Boston, April 14.-Judging from the sentiments expressed at the meeting of the striking brewery workers yesterday their prospects for winning their struggle against the master brewer were never brighter than at present, and there was a unanimous determination expressed to maintain a solid front. Many of the affiliated bodies of the Central Labor union met yesterday and besides endorsing the strike voted to levy a fine, in some cases as high as $10, upon any member who should patronize non-union places.

Davenport, who was aged 90, and in which $60,000 is at stake, and which has been on trial in the supreme court for a week, rendered a verdict that the will and codicil at issue were procured by undue influence on the part of William W. Davenport and Charles H. Johnson. William W. Davenport a few years ago inherited $700,000 from the estate of Oliver Davenport, the husband of Alma J. Davenport.

Their hopes were fulfilled, for the eldest brother at the close of his college life went to China as a missionary, while another became a minister. ### THE CHANCES OF PEACE

Appear to Have Grown Much More Hopeful

CONFERENCE AT PRETORIA

Supplemented by General Conference of Cabinet Officiais at London-Belief That Boer Leaders Have Agreed Upon a Basis of Negotiation

London, April 14.-The announcement of the presence at Pretoria of the Orange Free State and Transvaal leaders and generals who have been at Klerksdorp considering terms of peace, has caused a decided increase in the hopefulness of the public concerning the possibilities of peace.

The expectations aroused by the conference at Pretoria have been further heightened by the movements of Secretary Chamberlain and other members of the cabinet in London as well as evidences that important dispatches are passing between Lord Kitchener and the government. A conference of members of the cabinet was held Saturday night in Mr. Chamberlain's house. Mr. Chamberlain, War Secretary Brodrick, Chancellor of the Exchequer Hicks-Beach and the Duke of Devonshire. president of the countil, were present.

The conference terminated at 1 o'clock Sunday morning and yesterday Mr. Chamberlain and several of the colonial office officials were in their offices. Messengers passed between them and Mr. Hicks-Beach at his resi-1 1:24 a.m. Quarter 15 a.m Grull 22 p.m dence. Mr. Chamberlain drove to Buckingham palace yesterday afternoon and remained with King Edward for two hours. During the afternoon messengers carried dispatches from the essengers carried dispatches from the foreign office to Lord Salisbury, who, with Mr. Balfour, the government leader in the house of commons, was at Hatfield House.

These outward signs of Sunday activity have not been supplemented by any authentic or official statement. The question most discussed, thus far, has been whether the peace negotiations a liquor tax certificate, it was much would affect the government's financial proposals, which promise to be sub- hotel. The buyer also found that while mitted to parliament today. The fact that Mr. Hicks-Beach was engaged in of cheese and crackers with his drink, his office most all day is taken in some quarters to indicate a modification of the budget statement.

There appears to be no doubt that the Boer leaders have communicated the results of their deliberations to Lord Kitchener. Attempts will be made in parliament today to draw out what information the government has on the South African situation and to learn its intentions, but it is not expected that the government can forecast the probable outcome of the negotiations. Whatever instructions have been sent to Lord Kitchener are believed to be only provisional in character.

The comparatively brief duration of the conferences at at Klerksdorp is regarded as an indication that the Boer leaders found little difficulty in agree ing upon some basis of negotiation. The transfer of the negotiations to Pretoria, where both Lord Kitchener and Lord Milner, the British high commis sioner in South Africa, are at present. is interpreted by the morning papers as meaning that the Boers are prepared to make formal peace proposals.

CHARGED IN EARNEST

Brussels, April 14.- The threatening aspect of a mob near the Maison du Peuple at 11 o'clock last night caused the police and gendarmes to charge it, with the result that five of the demonstrators were wounded. One of the injured men will die. He received a bayonet thrust in the back. Sixteen arrests were made during the course of the evening.

This big casualty list for a comparatively insignificant encounter is taken as evidence that the gendarmes, who inflicted the injuries, are disposed to handle the groups without mercy.

From the gay aspect of the city yes-erday, nobody would suspect the terday, nobody would suspect the bloody scenes which were enacted Saturcay. The cafes were crowded with holiday makers and a considerable crowd visited the quarter where the riots occurred. But except for a furled red flag, tied, with crepe, over the Maison du Peuple, nothing was visible to recall the events of Saturday. In the same square where the cavalry charged Saturday a dozen workmen were yesterday playing a Flemish game of ball No revisionist demonstrations have occurred, and in order to avoid collisions between the strikers and the police, the Socialist committee has countermanded the orders for the monster meeting which it was intended to hold today.

TO RESTOCK THE FARMS

Concession Made to Boers by the British

Will Meet With Opposition in Parliament, but Will Ultimately Be Approved-Hicks-Beach Praises Valor of Boers and Hopes For Friendship

London, April 15 .- Not for many years had Great Britain's fiscal program been awaited with such interest as that which attached to this year's announcement, and there is no doubt that all the proposals contained in it will be adopted. It is equally certain that none of these proposals will meet with the unanimous approval of either

More important, perhaps, than the curious forms of the new taxation is the statement made by Mr. Hicks-Beach, the chancellor of the exchequer, that the government had acceded to the Boer demand concerning the restocking of farms.

The Associated Press learns, upon excellent authority, that the principal provision of the budget, namely, the treasury loan of £32,000,000, upon which Hicks-Beach was remarkably reticent, has a serious bearing upon the peace question. There appears to be a very strong belief in the cabinet, that, owing to the expected early termination of the war, this £32,000,000 will never be needed. When that section of the budget gets to the committee stage, the peace negotiations will probably have reached such shape that Hicks-Beach will be able to announce a diminution of yesterday's estimate. In any case, this loan will probably be called up on in small installments.

The failure to explain this important point is caken in the house or commons to indicate that the government has strong hopes of a speedy issue of the negotiations now progressing at Pretoria between the Boer leaders, although it wishes to impress the world in general, and the Boers in particular, with its ability and determination to push the war to a finish should the British terms of peace be refused.

but when he referred yesterday to the government's intention to restock the Boer, as well as the colonial farms, his voice rose to an eloquent pitch. His gestures, as he spoke in praise of the valor of the Boers and expressed his hopes for subqseuent friendship between Briton and Boer, took the house with him, and the cheers, especially from the opposition, prevented the speaker from continuing his speech for several moments. During this pause the chancellor of the exchequer turned towards Mr. Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, who sat pale and motionless and palpably none too pleased at this official presentation of his "unconditional surrender" formula.

Summed up, the chancellor's statement shows a total ordinary expenditure for 1902-03 estimated at $645,597,-000, with war charges amounting to $227,250,000, making a grand total of $873,045,000, which is $64,965,000 below the total of 1901-02.

The chancellor estimated the total ordinary deficit for the present year at $134,120,000. To the deficit must be added about $85,000,000 additional war expenditure. The estimated revenue for this year, on the basis of the present taxation, is $738,925,000, not including the cost of gratuities at the end of the war, the transporting of troops home, etc. The grand total deficit is $225,000,-

A penny tax is imposed on dividend warrants and 2-penny stamps must be placed on checks, instead of 1-penny, as heretofore. A duty of 5 pence per cwt is imposed on flour. The sum of $160,000,000 will be borrowed.

The income tax is increased a penny in the pound sterling. A duty of 3 pence per cwt is imposed on all imported grain. The duty on meal is 10 cents per cwt. The revenue from that new taxation is expected to be $25,800,000. After borrowing $160,000,000 the chancellor of the exchequer will make up the deficit by drafts on the exchequer. The chancellor denied that the registration of duties on wheat and flour violated the principles of free trade, or would increase the cost of food. He thought the duties recklessly had been abandoned and declared their remission did not reduce the price of food.

The opinions gathered by The Associated Press in interviews with members of the house of commons indicate the existence of a considerable divergence of ideas with regard to the new taxation, which, although comparatively unimportant in the revenue it will yield, affects important eco-Advertise It in the Ledger. nomic principles which have hitherto gists.

been held rather sacred by certain BRUSSELS IS TRANQUIL In the house of commons, the general debate on the budget followed party lines. The house divided on the corn and flour duties resolution, which was But Situation In Other Parts adopted by a vote of 254 to 135.

of Belgium Is Serious

For Universal Suffrage Without Being Which Deprive the Working Classes of Representation

Brussels, April 15.-Yesterday passed here in perfect tranquility. Several meetings were held in the suburbs during the evening. Socialist leaders made violent speeches in the vicinity of the Maison du Peuple last evening, but order was maintained. This fact was demned any effort to produce on the said she had received messages from | mainly due to the conspicuous absence | public stage any scenes from Christ's of the police, especially the gendarmerie, whose excess of zeal has been the chief cause of collisions during the past few days. The civic guard formed lion-I had almost said the mouth of | in cordons around the Maison du Peuple hell," she said. She concluded with an | and their sensible attitude kept the crowds in good humor.

Dispatches from the mining and industrial regions indicate the existence of a serious situation with regard to the strike. This has even extended to the Textile workers at Ghent. Except from Huy, no reports of grave disturbances have been received. At Huy the striking quarrymen had an encounter with the gendarmes in which several men on both sides were injured. One gendarme was fatally wounded and another escaped by swimming the river. A feeling prevails here that the government may make a decisive declaration on the subject of revision.

No credence is given here to the report of the existence of a plot against King Leopold at Biarritz.

The impetus to violence and rlot throughout Belgium has a distinctly Socialist origin. It must not be confused with anarchism, which so often seeks to shelter itself under the cloak of Socialism. The Belgian Socialists are now fighting for universal suffrage. The present franchise on its surface is of a thoroughly popular type, for every man of the age of 25 has a vote. This was gained by the last great demonstration about eight years ago when the Clerical party was frightened into submission.

But the people now complain that the franchise is so weighted with provisions for plural voting with property on which he was riding. There are two upper classes of voters, one with three votes, the other with two votes each according to station and education. The Socialists show that this system was engineered so as virtually to disfranchise the workingmen. The populous centres now demand "one man, one vote," and that the age of voting be 21.

At the general election two years ago 33 Radicals, 33 Socialists and 85 Roman Catholics were returned. The two former sections have since combined as an anti-clerical party to force the Socialist program of universal suffrage with an increased number of deputies. The government wishes to take the votes on the provisional credits first, promising to introduce the question of revision afterward. The opposition distrusts this, fearing that once the

The fact that King Leopold favors universal suffrage, while the government must recognize the real danger of revolution, renders it probable that a concession will again be made to the a concession will again be made to the popular demand. Nevertheless, there is unquestionably real ground for apprehension among the teeming artisan population of the French-speaking provinces of the south, always peculiarly open to incitement to disorder. Added to this is the general strike begun by order of the council general of the labor institute, while most serious of all is the danger of the attitude of the military, on which the gov-New England Methodist Conference | BATTLE OF THE SOCIALISTS | ernment must rely to suppress any outbreak. The soldiers, undoubtedly to a great extent, sympathize with the people, and may partly fail the government. oss is estimated at $200. When the lamp exploded Mrs. Richard's clothing took fire. She managed to extinguish the dames, but her hands were quite badly burned.

It was while responding to this alarm that one of the three horses on the central station truck dropped dead. Henry T. Brown was driving. The apparatus dashed down the School street hill and had reached a point where it is crossed by Fort street when the nigh horse suddenly dropped. Driver Brown clung to his seat and did his best to check the speed of the remaining horses. The dead animal was dragged a hundred feet or more and the team was checked by colliding with one of Abbett & Miller's express wagons. When the driver of the express team saw the fire apparatus coming he pulled up onto the sidewalk so as to give plenty room and it was while standing there that the Hook &

Ladder truck dashed into him. xpress team both fortunately escaped dragged off the street, and another horse obtained from the Central station

THE NEW REVELATIONS

As to Doings In Philippines Will Be Sifted

MATERIAL FOR DISCUSSION

Which Will Greatly Hinder an Early Adjournment of Congress-Senator Hoar to Thoroughly Analyze All the Philippine Testimony

Washington, April 15 .- The prevaent view of several weeks that congress would make an early adjournment this year needs some modification even with all due allowance for the Democratic threats of delay. The recent disclosures in the Phrippines cannot but affect the situation. Several Republican senators who have never been known as anti-imperialists declare in private conversation that the revelations of the last 1 days are more than they propose to stand for, and that they shall not object to a considerable discussion on the question. It had been intended earlier in the session to have all of the Philippine debate take place over the tariff bill, and it will be recalled that the Democrats occupied many days in discussing general Philippine conditions. It was then planned by the Republicans to say nothing when the civil government bill came up, more than to explain its terms, and it was expected that the Democrats would be pretty well talked out, too, and ready to join in an early adjournment program. But a series of sensations has changed all this, beginning with the Waller charges, Waller's counter charges against General Smith, supported by the Major Gardner report and that of the provincial secretary of Batangas. Yesterday's hearing by the Philippine committee furnishes still more fuel for the flames. Sergeant Charles D. Riley, formerly of the Twenty-sixth United States volunteer infantry, described the water cure. Senator Lodge, chairman of the committee, read a list of the brutalities of the Filipinos inflicted on eaptured American soldiers, and questioned the witness concerning them.

Senator Hoar is quoted as having said to friends that he purposes to make a thorough analysis of all this Philippine testimony, even if it takes two weeks to do so. While this investigation is not wholly on the lines that he suggested, it is bringing out enough information on the conduct of the war to furnish material for considerable discussion. The Democratic senators on this committee have all become enthusiasts on this question. The very closing of the committee room doors to all correspondents, except those of press associations, will serve to prolong the debate. Democratic senators will bring out in the congressional record all of the testimony that has been adverse to the imperialistic pol-Another topic which will occasion some delay is the canal. Advocates of each of the two canal routes are predicting victory, and it is evident that neither side will consent to defeat till all the resources of argument have been exhausted. That either side will give in without a struggle is not to be expected.

In Congress

Washington, April 15.-That the Republican opponents of the Cuban reciprocity bill are determined to prolong the struggle as much as possible was made manifest yesterday by their refusal to allow speeches to be printed in the record. The speakers yesterday were Messrs. McCall (Mass) and Brantley (Ga.) for the measure, and Messrs. Robertson (La.) and Stevens (Minn.) against it.

The Chinese exclusion bill occupied the attention of the senate throughout yesterday, Senators Foraker and Mc-Laurin (S. C.) making extended speech-

DELIBERATE MURDER Story of How Peter Hallenbeck Wa

Killed by His Nephews Hudson, N. Y., April 15 .- Harvey Bruce, who turned state's evidence in the Van Wormer-Hallenbeck murder case, went through a terrible ordeal when he took the stand yesterday. He was made to tell the whole story of his own and his cousins' doings on Dec. 24, when Peter A. Hallenbeck met his death at his own home. He went over foot by foot the entire ride of 36 miles to the Hallenbeck home and returning.

After purchasing masks, Bruce said that all four got into a buggy and drove to their uncle's farm. "On reaching the farm," he said, "we took off our overcoats, turned them inside out, and then put on the masks. We then went to the back kitchen door and knocked. Mr. Hallenbeck came to the door. Burton pushed him in and immediately jumped into the room. He fired. The door sprung back and I held it open. I fired two shots, one in the door and one in the ceiling. Fred came, in and im mediately commenced firing. My revolver was then taken out of my hand. Burton grabbed Hallenbeck while Fred was firing. The fire seemed to almost touch Hallenbeck. I cannot tell how many shots were fired. They were fired very rapidly.

"Hallenbeck finally walked across the room to where his gun stood. Willis stood almost against Hallenbeck. Burton said: 'For God's sake, run; he is after his shotgun.' I followed Burton out.

"On the way back I asked them if they had been shooting at that man. Burton said before any of us got into the room he made a revolver shot. Fred said he shot him in the back. Willis said he did not get past him without getting what his revolver held. They had 15 or 20 cartridges each.'

Three Bullets Fired Into H m In Government Office

HIS ASSASSIN A STUDENT

Who Had Been Sentenced to Compulsory Military Service and Sought Been Made Upon Minister's Life

St. Petersburg, April 16.-The minister of the interior, M. Sipiaguine, was shot at and fatally wounded yesterday afternoon in the lobby of the ministerial offices by a man who held a pistol close to the minister.

M. Sipiaguine was on his way to attend a meeting of the committee of ministers. He had just entered the office of the imperial council when the assassin, who had driven up in a carriage, approached and handed him a folded paper, saying he had been charged to deliver it by Grand Duke Sergius. The minister stretched out his hand to take the document, when the assassin fired five shots at him. Three of the bullets struck M. Sipiaguine and one wounded his servant.

The assassin did not resist arrest. He said his name was Balschauett and that he was a student at Kieff, where he had been sentenced to compulsory military service for participating in the riots of 1901. He said he subsequently had been pardoned, but that he had not been reinstated at the university, and he therefore revenged himself upon M. Sipiaguine.

The minister was taken to the hospital, where he died in one hour. Unlike the murdered Russian minister of public instruction, Bogolepoff, who was of the most piebean origin, being the son of a policeman in a provincial town, M. Sipiaguine, the czar's ninister of the interior, whose life has just been taken, belonged to one of the oldest and most aristocratic families of Moscow, and was pernaps more or a courtier than a statesn an. For he certainly distinguished himself more as a chamberlain of the imperial court and as grand huntsman of the realm than as either governor of Courland, governor of Moscow or as minister of the interior. He was celebrated as one of the best shots in the empire, excelled in the chase of the bear and of the wild boar, and came from a family which had alof sport. To him has been charged the present disturbed condition of the zemski, a cousin of General Prince Viazemski (who was ordered to travel abroad, and deprived of his seat in the council of the empire for his interference with the chief of police in behalf burg) he was but 47 years of age, and in society as at court. Indeed, the czar time when he appointed him minister of the interior he was filling the positrusted with the reception of petitions. He entertained the utmost hor- Canada by the inspector. ror for the press and for everything connected therewith, was a poet of no mean order, and a passionate collector of antiquities, a fad which his means allowed him to indulge in to his heart's content, for he was rich.

At one time he was an intimate friend of Minister of Finance Witte, and actually went so far shortly after his marriage as to take his bride to call on Mme. de Witte. This, however, got him into serious trouble, not only with the great world at St. Petersburg, but likewise at court, where his action was taken much amiss. For Mme. de Witte is ostracized by society and barred from court, owing not only to questionable antecedents, but likewise to the fact that she is the daughter of a rather disreputable Hebrew saloonkeeper; that she quitted her first husband, who was railroad porter, to marry De Witte at the time when he was in the railroad service, and that since De Witte has become minister of finance she has opened her salons to all sorts of financiers, thereby exposing her husband to much malevolent gossip on the part of his enemies.

M. Sipiaguine, after the one visit deed, the action of Mme. Sipiaguine in subsequently ignoring her made matters 10 times worse than if she had never called upon her at all, and the result has been that the official relations between the ministers of finance and of the interior were strained, and that they became enemies rather than

THOUSANDS AT BIER

Funeral Services Over the Late Dr Talmage at Washington

Washington, April 16.-Funeral services were held at the Church of the Covenant yesterday afternoon over the body of the Rev. T. DeWith Talmage. Rev. Dr. Hamlin, pastor of the Church of the Covenant, and Rev. Drs. T. C. Easton of this city, S. J. Nicols and James Damarest, both of Brooklyn, officiated. The casket, covered with violets, rested immediately in front of the pulpit. The floral offerings were mostly of lilles of the valley and white roses. After the family had entered the male quartet sang "Lead, Kindly Light," and during the service "Beyond the Smiling and the Weeping" and "It Is Well With My Soul" were sung. Dr. Hamlin, in his address, pictured Dr. Talmage as one of the great clergymen Revenge-Second Time Attempt Had of the century. He said Mr. Talmage in his marvelous word pictures always bespoke hope and cheer; that he aimed at the hearts and emotions of the people instead of at their intellect.

Dr. Demarest said Dr. Talmage sometimes had been charged with being sensational, but he was sensational because he must be and it was natural.

Dr. Easton protested that it was yet to early to measure Dr. Talmage; that death clears our vision; removes or minimizes our prejudices and reduces the supposed faults. He said no man had lived so apostolic life since the days of Paul. Dr. Nicols referred to the dead man's philanthropic deeds and characterized him as a brave heart, a noble soldier of Dr. Hamlin closed the services with a prayer. Then the immediate relatives passed to their carriages. Following this thousands of people passed before the bier. The casket remained in the church intil late last evening, when it was placed on a special car, leaving here for

New York early this morning. The remains were interred today at Greenwood cemetery in Brooklyn. Getting After Beef Trust

New York, April 16 .- Attorney General Davies of this state came here from Albany yesterday to conduct an investigation into the charges which have appeared in print of late that a combination of the big beef packers of the country have forced up the prices of meats. Of his investigation Mr. Davies said: "I can only say that it looks very much as if the packers had exceeded their legal powers. If I find that they are guilty of overstopping their rights, I shall proceed against them on the ground of restraint of trade and of carrying on a business injurious to public policy."

The schooner had all sails set when a sudden squall from the northwest struck her and she went over. All hands were precipitated into the water, but were subsequently rescued.

President Roosevelt Acts Relative to Philippines -- Cen. Chaffee Instructed.

Washington, April 16 .- As a result of | gation will be made there is no reason the consideration by the cabinet yester- | to doubt. day of the charges of cruel treatment of Filipinos by United States soldiers, Secretary Root has cabled General Chaffee at Manila to investigate the newspaper reports of the Waller trial and if they are correct to court martial General Smith. Also if the facts are established as testified to before the senate Philippine committee to court martial the officers who administered the "water cure" to the presidente of Igbarras. These officers are Major Glenn, Lieutenant Conger and Assistant Surgeon Lyon.

Secretary Root's cablegram says: "The president desires to know in the fullest and most circumstantial manner all the facts, nothing being concealed and no man being for any reason favored or shielded. For the very of fine marble, said to be valuab reason that the president intends to back up the army in the heartlest fash- Chicago, were discovered yesterday ion in every lawful, and legiflmate method of doing its work, he also intends to see that the most rigorous care is exercised to detect and prevent any a clay pit that bricks might be ma cruelty or brutality and that men who are guilty thereof are punished. The president is awake to the seriousness of the situation in this country as well as in the island, and to the fact that the American people will never stand for atrocities committed in the name of forcible pacification. It must not be supposed, because the president welcomes war in certain emergencies as the lesser of two evils, that he loves war for war's sake, or that because he believes, when a nation has entered upon a military enterprise, in pushing it through with such vigor as to confine its horrors within the narrowest possible limits of time, he believes in pure barbarities.

On the contrary his natural impulses are humane rather than cruel, and severely practical rather than sentimental. He wishes to handle the insurrection in the Philippines with a firm and heavy hand; but he has never been willing to let the impression go to the army that he would permit use-

A great deal of what has been published within the last fortnight has evidently thus reached his eyes and ears for the first time.

The two things he dreads are: first, to do injustice to any one concerned by not satisfying himself on every feature of the indictment, and second, to do his work in such a way as to encourage the insurrection. His investigation, made with the end in view of convicting this alleged offender and exonerating that one; it will have nothing "enthusiastic" about it, but be conducted, as an elementary proposition, on lines a little time, but that a diligent invest!- This Remedy is for sale by all druggists.

TRAGEDY IN A HOTEL

Man Disguised as Woman Murders His Wife

HAD BEEN LIVING APART

Because He Is Said to Have Abused Her-Bartender Receives a Shot In the Hand and a Guest Narrowly Escapes Being Shot

Springfield, Mass., April 16.-Disguised as a woman in clothes and wig bought for the purpose, Bernard Weidhaas of this city obtained entrance into the Highland hotel on Hillman street last night and shot and killed his wife, who was employed there. In trying to escape he shot a bartender and fired at a hotel guest.

Weidhaas has lived in New York, Holyoke and Springfield in the past year. He has been in continual trouble with his wife, who claimed that he abused her. He was convicted of assault on her in Holyoke in October. For the past few weeks she had been living away from him, and had been making her living by means of working in the Highland hotel kitchen. A few weeks ago Weidhaas went to the hotel and threatened to assault her. He was arrested and released.

Last evening, at a few minutes before 9 o'clock, Weidhaas, attired in a woman's wig, hat, veil, cape and skirt, sneaked to the rear of the hotel and watched his wife in the kitchen. He finally obtained entrance and then hunted for her. He found her on the third floor. She tried to escape, but he gave chase and fired three shots. One took effect in the brain and she died almost instantly.

Weidhaas then ran down the main staircase and tried to go out the main doorway at the foot of the stairs. This was locked. Men in the bar adjoining heard the firing and rushed to learn the trouble, but Weidhaas met them with two shots. One ball entered the hand of Bartender Henry Kreibs, and the other barely missed W. H. Lovelet. Finding that his escape to the street through the barroom was blocked Weidhaas ran to the second floor and jumped from an open window. He then ran between buildings to the eastward, stripping off his disguise as he ran. This was the last seen of him for 20 minutes. Then a man answering his description was seen in State street. a mile away, running to the eastward. In addition to sending policemen to all sections of the city, Marshal Stebbins sent four teams looking for Weid

The description of the man is five feet. two to four inches in height, 35 years old, 155 pounds in weight, sandy hair, possibly sandy moustache, florid complexion, gray eyes, with slight squint, sear on scalp, seen when hair is parted, dark clothes and probably derby bat and light overcoat

Active Negotiations Still In Progress at Pretoria

EACH SIDE HOLDING OFF

To Secure the Most Advantageous Terms Possible-Boers' Vigorous Demand For a Representative Government Is Strongly Opposed

London, April 17 .- The Associated Press has excellent authority for saying that there have been no definite developments in the matter of peace ne gotiations. The Associated Press learns that Lord Milner, the British high com nissioner in South Africa, has defined certain propositions on which peace may almost immediately be secured, but the cabinet, at its meeting yesterday, is said to have disagreed upon the merits of Lord Milner's terms.

"Sparring for time" best describes the present status of the negotiations, neither side being willing to risk a decision which would break off the present conference. An agreement may be reached at any moment, but this would more likely be the result of semi-independent action by Lord Miluer and Lord Kitchener at Pretoria Chan of the rather involved conditional decisions of the cabinet at London.

The broad lines of Great Britain's terms are now known to the government representatives at Pretoria, and on these representatives the cabinet is apparently shifting the responsibility of taking advantage of all opportunities, provided no cardinal principles be sacrificed. The government has ordered the cable and Pretoria to be kept clear to insure the most prompt transmission of Lord Kitchener's messages.

There is good reason to believe that the Boers are vigorously demanding a representative government, and that this demand is opposed with equal vigor

Pearson Seeking Information

New Orleans, April 17.-General Pearson, the South African burgher, returned from Washington yesterday in response to a telegraphic request from Colonel Crowder, who is conducting the government investigation into the alleged British army post at Chalmette. Immediately upon arriving General Pearson inserted advertisements calling upon all Boer sympathizers who might possess information touching the conduct of the British camp, to meet him in the offices of his lawyers. General Pearson, said he had been cordially received at Washington and that sentiment there had recently grown very strong for the Boers. Referring to the peace talk in the papers, he said be did not believe that there would be any successful issue of the negotiations. Governor's Charges Supported

New Orleans, April. 17.-Colone Crowder, assigned by the government to investigate the reported maintenance of an alleged British supply camp at Port Chalmette, yesterday examined the charges declaring that munitions of war were being shipped from Chalmette to South Africa. All the recent evidence is understood to have been largely in support of the charges made by Governor Heard, and some portions are said to have gone far beyond any allegations submitted to Secretary Hay by the governor.

In police headquarters he detailed his movements of the past few days, admitted buying a disguise and revolver preparatory to visiting his wife Tuesday evening, and admitted shooting her. He charged that a Holyoke man had interfered with his wife, that two Springfield men had taken liberties with her and that he shot her after giving her due warning that she must leave her work and these men and live with him in New York. Some minor changes were made, admitting Chinese persons connected with national expositions and providing for certificates of identification of Chinese in our insular possessions. Otherwise, however, the substitute was adopted substantially in the form that Mr. Platt presented it. The senate, after disposing of the Chinese exclusion bill, made the Philippine civil government bill the un-

SURRENDER OF MALVAR

RESUMPTION OF TRADE

With Pacified Provinces Among the Events of the Very Near Future-Successor of Aguinaldo Was a Slippery Customer Long Sought For

Manila, April 17.-General Malvar has surrendered unconditionally to General Bell at Lipa, Batangas prov- shortly. ince, with the entire insurgent force of the provinces of Laguna and Batangas. General Bell says his (Bell's) influence is sufficient to quell the insurrectionary movements in Tayabas and Cavite provinces and capture all those in the field who have not yet surrendered. but Malvar has ordered the complete surrender of every insurgent to the nearest American force.

General Wheaton, reporting to the division headquarters, says that all remistance in his department has ended and that the surrenders just announced mean that the ports will be opened and that the Filipinois in the detention camps can be allowed to return to their homes in time to plant the crops.

General Wheaton gives General Bell great credit for his indefatigability in conducting the campaign. He was in the field day and night, personally superintending the most arduous opera-

The people of Manila are delighted at the prospect of a resumption of trade with the pacified provinces and are anxlous to show Generals Chaffee. Wheaton and Bell their appreciation, of the fact that the insurrection is really

General Malvar personally requested an interview with General Bell in order to make his complete submission.

The lack of news from the island of Samar is due to a defective cable. It is believed, however, that the American commander there received yesterday the surrender of all the insurgents in Samar, unless the planned proceedings were altered.

W. W. Astor has given £20,000 to endow those professorships in the University college of London, which are now without endowment. General Miguel Malvar is one of the most important and best known of the native Filipino leaders. He was General Lawton's most formidable antagonist, and commanded the insurrectos in the fight at Zapote river, the most serious battle fought in the Philippines. In May, 1901, negotiations for his surrender were under way, but they failed and he announced himself dictator in succession to Aguinaldo. Malvar is a Tagal, and a native of the province of Batangas, and was mayor of his native town of Santo Tomas. He was educated in Manila at the Royal university, and is considered an able and highly cultivated man. He is, according to Sixto Lopez, one of the most popular men in his province, and his popularity extends throughout the islands. Although a good general, it is thought by many that he would make a still better statesman, and therefore during peace he would be one of the most prominent men in the Philippines. He belongs to the best class of Filipinos, and his family is one of the best in his province.

. He was one of the original 38 who came over with Aguinaldo and ook an active part in the operations in Luzon, he having for some time past been engaged in the provinces of Batangas and Tayabas. Interesting stories are told of his methods in the field. They say he rarely camped with his troops-generally with but a friend or two, his Xanthippean wife, a boy to boil his rice, a caraboa and a bull cart. This was the Malvar outfit. Within a mile or so of where he camped, in a circle about the place, were detached columns of 20 or 30 men each. His camp was pitched on the brink of some deep barranca, one of those fissures of the earth that run through the Batangas country. The moment a gun was fired, Malvar disappeared and our troops began the unsatisfactory search for a needle in a haystack. American soldiers long tried to catch him through the striking personality of his wife, Dona Placida, a squat, cross-eyed woman with a masterful voice and a temper. As a result, all the cross eyed women in Batangas have spent much time in prison, but Dona Placida always escaped.

Malvar was wont to visit towns or army posts dressed like " peasant, with his shirt outside his homespun trousers, riding a caradoa with his favorite gamecock under his arm. He came to town in amigo clothes to attend to his own affairs, to hear mass, or to barter with our soldiers for plug tobacco, or to remind the patriots within our lines to pay their assessments to the insurgent treasury. In this guise he has entered Calamba on market day; Lipa, too, when all were celebrating our lady of the rosary. He had passed in and out among thousands of people, each of whom knew him, but his secret was always kept.

Stomachs on Stills.

The man who puts on stilts does not in crease his actual stature by the breadth of a hair. He feels taller while he's on the stilts, and when he's off them he feels

WISHES OF THE PUBLIC

Will Be Considered In Philippine Inquiry

Could Investigate-Sincerity of Purpose Not Questioned, but He Did Not Realize Public's Interest

Washington, April 17.-Whether the publication of the president's instructions for a military inquiry into alleged abuses of power by the army in the Philippines will modify in any way his intention to inquire into the same subject through independent channels, as intimated in these dis patches yesterday, remains to be seen. Much will depend, undoubtedly, on the way the public receives yesterday's news. If Americans everywhere indicate their willingness to accept military judgments on military men as final, that will probably bring the investigating business to an end. If, on the other hand, they sweep this line of inquiry aside as too apt to be prejudiced by professional sympathy, the president will unquestionably respond stitution has been published in the by carrying out what is believed to have been his original program.

The military court idea is based simply upon the principle that there convention will assemble in Havana is a regular order in which things should be done. An accused officer al ways objects to being judged simply by a civil body, on the ground that the commission he holds is subject to cancellation only at the hands of his peers and superiors in the military service. and that that commission is dependent on his continued good behavior. It is not the army whom the president is bound to satisfy now, but the people, and no one realizes, this more, forcibly than he. In his orders for the investigation of the Philippine scandals, moreover, he is giving fresh evidence of the money to be realized from the of the fact that when he acts on his own generous impulses, he is in accord with honest public sentiment. It is never his own disposition to conceal of the commercial side of the bank by anything; and openness is the saving grace even of a blunder when a good man makes it.

The man who will be brought into most unpleasant relations with the pub lie through the existing situation is Secarmy till he could get the other side to put before the people along with them, in order to condemn that action as a mistake. His motive was inherited in when it was still possible to carry out governmental policies without taking the people at large into the confidence of the powers that be. That day passed long ago. In these times all facts are bound to come out, and the worst appendage they can once went to the cells of John Wyckoff | have when exposed is the stamp of atbars of the cell doors sawed through, Secretary Root's training as a lawyer, emergencies, stood him in very bad stead. He did not fully realize how far public interest had been aroused in the Philippine disclosures, and how dangerous it was to let it go to an extreme. The unfortunate experience of his predcessor should have warned him, but it appears not to have done so: and, admirable officer as he has proved himself in a hundred ways, and far removed as he is from any countenance of cruelty toward the helpless natives of the Philippines. the belated disclosure of his knowledge that there were scandals which called for investigation may have a fatal effect upon his fu-

> Already there is a clamor among his enemies for his withdrawal from the abinet, and it would be a terrible blow o the president to have him withdraw but stranger things have happened than the decision of a man of excellent intentions and strong executive powers that his usefulness had been ended by an error of judgment infinitely magnified by external and possibly unrelated circumstances. If Mr. Root reaches that conclusion, he will not wait for any hints or suggestions, but will go without ceremony. The next fortnight is fraught with dramatic possibilities; its events will be watched with great interest by all well-wishers of the administration.

It Might Be Worse

London, April 18.-The Times, in an ditorial article published this morning, in which the analogy between the South African and Philippine wars as llustrated by the recent trials of the Australian officers and the case of Major Waller of the marine corps is referred to, says it thinks that, considering the difficulties and the strain of the campaigning in the Philippines, the wonder is rather at the paucity of such cases. The paper says that in one respect the American troops are worse off than the British, inasmuch as the former are fighting in a horribly enervating elimate.

Criticism of Rules of the National House

THE SPEAKER AN AUTOCRAT

And the Calendar a Graveyard of Legislative Hopes-Cushman Says the Melhods Are a Disgrace to Our Legislative Body

Washington, April 18.-General debate on the Cuban reciprocity bill ntention of the house leaders, if possible, to force a final vote on the passage of the bill before adjournment tonight. All day yesterday the leaders were counting noses and preparing for the final struggle. The Democrats are badly split on the biil. The opponents of the bill occupied most of the time of the debate yesterday, the feature being a vigorous speech by Mr. Cushman (Rep., Wash.) against the meas-

"I make the statement now," said Mr. Cushman, "that no member who introduces a bill, not a private bill, can get it considered unless it suits the speaker, and if any one wants to deny that I am in a personal position and in a peculiarly happy frame of mind right now to give a little valuable testimon on that point.

"Who is the speaker of this house" Is he mortal like the rest of us? Who is the speaker of this house that sets up his immaculate judgment to judge on every bill that is introduced? When a member introduces a public bill in this house what happens? It is referred to a great committee of this house. They pass their judgment on it, recommend it for passage, and then it goes on the calendar. Calendar! That is a misnomer. It ought to be called a cemetery, for theirein lie the whitening bones of legislative hopes. When the bill is reported, what does the mem ber who introduced it and who is charged by his constituency to secure its passage, do? He either consents that that bill may die on the calendar, or he puts his manhood and his individuality in his pocket and goes trotting down that little pathway that leads to the speaker's room. All the glory ered around the holy of he in King Selomon's temple looked like 30 cents; yes, looked like 29 cents, compared with that jobbing department of this government.

Mr. Cushman then quoted Cassius' allusions to Caesar as the colossus of the world and continued: "I make no onslaught on the individual. Thave high regard for the speaker of this house personally and politically, but the fact is that we have adopted a set of rules in this body that are an absolute disgrace to the legislative body of any republic. They are un-Republican, they are un-Democratic, they are un-American. We operate here under a set of rules confessedly designed to belittle the hopes and dwarf the ambitions of the individual members of this body and at the same time to vest more power in the hands of one or two men than was ever enjoyed by oriental despot or a ten-button mandarin.

"Let no man charge me now with trying to tear down the Republican party. I am not trying to tear it down, but I confess that I sometimes feel that I would like to put my hand upon the that they are the Republican party. I am a believer in the party.

"Now in the three years that I have been a member of this body I have always approached that little machine with the deference due to its age and its station; but I hope you will excuse my frankness when I tell you that from this time on I will devote a little of my time and a tithe of my energy to putting a few spokes in the wheel of that machine that the designers of the vehicle never "I will leave the consideration of this subject with the final observation that some time between now and the close of this session I will make a speech on the subject of the rules of this house and I promise you that that speech will be so hot that it will have to be printed on asbestos paper and tied to a hand grenade for distribution

Mr. Cushman then turned his attention to the pending measure and its sponsors. He quoted the utterances of Harrison, Blaine and McKinley on the subject of reciprocity to show that they did not advocate such reciprocity as was contained in the pending bill.

For more than four hours yesterday, Mr. Morgan, chairman of the isthmian canal committee, addressed the senate on the subject of the Nicaragua canal. He devoted the greater part of his speech to a consideration of the desirability and practicability of the Nicaragua and Panama routes. He strenuously favored the former, maintaining that in every possible respect it had many advantages over the Panama

They are purchased by the thinking public. Methodists are no longer loyal to their denomination, and no wonder this is so. With the bright, up-to-date papers and magazines on the table, the religious journals are being ground between two tremendous millstones What will become of the religious journal? #### WATER CURE TORTURE

Described by Witness Before Senate Committee

WAS ORDERED BY CAPTAIN

Presidente of Igbaras Received Treatment Until He "Squealed" Terribly -Native Schoolteacher Maltreated at Same Time-Burning of Towns

Washington, April 18 .- Edward J. Davis of Greenfield, Mass., who was a sergeant in Company M. Twenty-Sixth volunteer infantry, was before the senate committee on the Philippines yesterday. He was present in the convent at Igbaras, Nov. 27, 1900, when the "water cure" was administered to the presidente of the town of Igbaras, as testified to by Sergeant Riley and Private Smith, and related the incidents connected therewith. He was sworn before being questioned by Senator Rawlins. He spoke of the arrival of the regulars under the command of Captain Glenn. He said that under orders from Captain Glenn he, with a squad, had taken the presidente into custody on Nov. 27 and had escorted him to the convent where the "cure" was administered. He repeated the story of the torture of the presidente, adding some details.

"Who gave the command for this treatment?" "Captain Glenn."

"How was the man's mouth kept open?" "By means of a stick, but I could not see just how it was done." Continuing, the witness said that when the victim of the cure was filled with water the members of the detail would force it out of him by rolling their fists over his stomach, and that the process was kept up for about 10 minutes: He described the second application of the cure as previously testified to, and corroborated Sergeant

Riley in the statement that the details of this performance were under the charge of Contract Surgeon Lyons, and that Captain Glenn and Lieutenant Conger were both present when it occurred. Mr. Davis said in reply to questions as to the physicial effect of the process that the man "squealed" terribly and that his eyes were bloodshot, but that the next day he was able to mount his horse and lead the scouts to the mountain. Afterward he was, the witness said, taken to Ililo and placed in prison. The witness also repeated the statement that two police officers of the town of Igbaras had been subjected to the water cure. "There was," he added, "also a native school teacher there who was maltreated at the same time, but the water cure was not administered to him. He was taken into one of the back rooms of the convent by Dr. Lyons, who secured the information he wanted from him by placing two Colt's revolvers to his head, thus rendering it unnecessary to administer the cure.' Mr. Davis also gave the details of the burning of the town of Igbaras, which, he said, contained about 10,000 people, but no business places. All except about 15 houses were destroyed and men, women and children were forced out indiscriminately.

Senator Burrows-"Who gave the order to burn the town?"

The witness-"Captain Glenn." "Did he say why it should be burned?" "He did not."

The witness also said that a neighboring town containing about 12,000 people had been burned, but that he did not know who had given the order for its destruction. He stated in reply to questions that the torture in all instances mertioned had been conducted by the regular soldiers, and that they had not been participated in by the members of his regiment, the Twenty-

Sixth volunteers. After Mr. Davis was excused, the committee, in executive session, considered the question of summoning witnesses from the Philippines. Senator Rawlins thought it would be necessary to call Aguinaldo, Mabini, Sixto Lopez, Pilar, Torres and certain newspaper correspondents. Action was postponed.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For Week Beginning April 20.

Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic .- How can I know that I am saved?-John viii, 31, 32; I John iii, 14; Rom. viii, 1-16; I John iv, 7.

Can I know that I am saved? This is a question that has been asked by many an anxious Christian. Some have concluded that assurance is possible. Others have declared that it is impossible and the testimony in favor of it an unwarranted presumption. The topic assumes that positive knowledge is possible upon this subject. The fact must always precede the method. We must know that we are saved before we can tell how we know it. And this is undoubtedly the Scriptural and only rational view to take upon this subject. That we may be saved and have no way of knowing it is a preposterous supposition. It is contrary to the teachings of God's word. Job says, "I know;" Paul says, "I know," and John fairly bristles with assurance. His principal epistle is practically an elaboration of this precious doctrine. "We know" is its keynote. And if Job, Paul and John could have assurance. so may all Christians. The contrary doctrine is as unreasonable as it is unscriptural. It is insupposable that one could be born again, be truly the child of God, and not have any way of knowing it.

But since assurance is possible, how do we know that we are Christians, that we are saved for time and for eternity? Several answers to this question are suggested in the topical

1. We know that we are saved by the testimony of consciousness. God offers salvation through faith in His Son Jesus Christ. Now, if we have really accepted Christ, if our sins have been par there's a consciousness within us that tells us that this is so. "Our critical beareth with tells us that this is so. "Our spirit" beareth witness within us that "we are the children of God" and consequently saved! How could it be otherwise? Who could live in a filial relation with God, enjoy the fellowships and bless ings of sonship and not know it? 2. We know that we are saved by the testimony of the Holy Spirit. Our spirit beareth witness that we are the children of God, but not only so—"The Spirit Himself beareth witness with our spirit [or corroborates the witness or testimony of our spirit] that we are the children of God. The Holy Ghost in an inexplicable way gives us the sweet inward assurance that we are God's children and are saved. 3. We may know that we are saved by our lives. There are outward as well as inward proofs of this doctrinethe testimony of life, both in its relation to Christ and in its relation to our fellow men. "If ye continue in My word," says Jesus, "then are ye [no doubt about 11] My disciples indeed and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make ye free." Christians as well as trees are known by their fruits. If by faith in Christ we are living Christian lives, are doing His word, we are His disciples and cannot help but know the truth about it, and, knowing that we are His, we are made free from the law and its worries and exactions. This includes also our lives that we are passed from death to life because we love the brethren," love is of God, and every one that lov eth is born of God and knoweth God." Blessed assurance! Jesus is mine! Oh, what a foretaste of glory divine! Heir of salvation, purchase of God, Born of His Spirit, saved by His blood!

BIBLE READINGS. Job xix, 25, 26; Isa. xxxii, 17; John x, 14; Rom. viii, 35-39; Col. ii, 1-3; I Thess. i, 1-5; II Tim. i, 8-14; Heb. vi, 1-12; x, 19-25; I John iii, 1-3; v, 20.

God Given Power to Love.

Loving as we are loved is delightful and human; loving whether we are loved or not is not easy, but it is godlike. In the full heartedness of youth our love goes out in return for kindness and love received. Loving those who love us seems as natural as breathing, and so, indeed, it is. But as we advance in life the Master sets us harder lessons and puts our loving power to fireproof tests. It seems a hard doctrine that loving fallible and unlovely men should be as the test of our love for a pure and holy and all loving God, yet any love worthy of the name, and the only one which will bear testing, is God derived. Only when we look to Him for power to love men do we gain that affection for and sympathy with our fellows which enable us to love others with no thought of their attitude toward us and which He would have us show toward all men.-Sunday School Times.

Christian Religion.

But English literature is already full of the lyrics of the Christ, while the poets are still searching for new tributes to bring to His name. The sublimest oratories have had inspiration from the Nazarene or have been set with Scriptural words which convey His ideas. The heathen jest of the early centuries that "Christianity is the religion of the sorrowful" was ear ly disproved. Christianity is a reiigion that can sing and that does sing .-New York Observer.

COERCION OF IRELAND Will Harden the Hearts of Her Sons and Compel Redress

London, April 18 .- In the house of commons yesterday, John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, speaking on the crimes act proclamation issued by the lord lieutenant of Ireland, Earl Cadogan, said an infamous conspiracy was on foot in England to foment in relation to our fellows. "We know crime in Ireland, where none existed. The stories of outrage and violence in treland were infamous calumnies. The Nationalists in Ireland were only governed by a contemptible minority. A hundred men, continued Mr. Redmond, stood ready to replace every man sent to prison in this struggle. They entreated Mr. Wyndham (the chief secretary for Ireland) to change his policy; but, if he continued it, they would meet him face to face and give blow for blow. Their answer to his coercion of Ireland would be to harden their hearts, strengthen their organization and compel redress. Mr. Wyndham replied that while it was true that there was a comparative absence in Ireland of crime against the person, the lives of people were made miserable by intimidation and boycotting. The government was not acting from political motives, but as the result of a mass of information laboriously collected and carefully examined.

John Redmond and John Dillon have dispatched a joint cablegram to former Congressman Finerty of Chicago, appealing for American sympathy and support in the struggle against coercion.

Portsmouth Strike Settled

Portsmouth, N. H., April 18.-The strike of the longshoremen ended yesterday, when the men returned to work at the north end wharves. The longshoremen get 35 cents an hour, which is within 5 cents of what they demanded and a gain of 5 cents over the old price. At the tub the men get 15 cents an hour. A settlement has also been made with the teamsters. They get an advance of 25 cents a day, raising their pay to $1.75 a day. All the French Canadians who were brought here have returned to Boston.

A VALUABLE MEDICINE

For Coughs and Colds in Children. "I have not the slightest hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all who are suffering from coughs or colds," says Chas. M. Cramer, Esq., a well known watch maker, of Colombo, Ceylon. "It has been some two years since the City Dispensary first called my attention to this valuable medicine and I have repeatedly used it and it has always been beneficial. It has cured me quickly of all chest colds. It is promises are strong to suffer God's especially effective for children and seldom takes more than one bottle to cure them of hearseness. I have persuaded many to try this valuable medicine, and they are all as well pleased as myself over the results."

PASSENGERS WERE IN BED

When Alarm Was Given and a Terrible Panic Ensued-Many Who Escaped From the Floating Furnace Drowned Trying to Swim Ashore

Cairo, Ills., April 21.—One of the worst disasters in the history of Ohio river navigation occurred shortly after 4 clock Sunday morning near Ogden's Landing. While almost all aboard were asleep, the steamer City of Pittsburg was discovered to be on fire and in a few moments was burned to the water's edge. The loss of over $80,000 cargo, both being a total loss.

The latest estimates are that 150 persons were aboard and that not more than half of them were saved, many of the latter being burned or injured. As the register of the steamer was burned, no list can be given, either of the victims or of the survivors, and in the con fusion it has been impossible to get complete lists. Captain Phillips admits that the death list will reach about

Most of the passengers were still in bed when Second Clerk Phillips gave the alarm. The engineers at once started all the pumping engines, while the crew brought all the hose into play. Amid the streams of water on all sides. the flames from the lower deck and dense clouds of smoke, the passengers rushed from their staterooms, and a frightful panic ensued. The appeals of the officers and crew could not apcease the terror-stricken crowds that interfered with those throwing water on the flames as well as with those working with the lifeboats. Few could adjust life preservers or do anything for themselves.

The smoke was stifling. louds floated through the blazing steamer, choking the passengers and adding to the terror. Children eried pitifully, begging that they be saved. Lifeboats were manned and every effort was made to save the passengers from the floating furnace of flames. From the river banks the sparks from the burning craft and the dense clouds of smoke, tinged with flames, made a most impressive and weird spectacle. Boats were sent from shore to help in the work of rescue. Boats, laden to their limit with passengers in the scant attire they were able to gather, were landed at the river banks. As fast as the boats could be emptied they returned to the ill-fated steamer, the res

Over-study is supposed to have one yawl was saved and the women were taken off. About 20 or 30 were taken off in this boat. The rest were picked up out of the water.

Help, except from people living near by, did not arrive until 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and passengers, with only night clothes and without food, suffered terribly. Captain Phillips says 20 or 25 of the passengers are missing and the same number of the crew. One woman passenger lost three children. Patrick Burke of Owensboro, Ky., wife and six children, were all lost.

The fire was discovered at 4:05 a m. There were over 70 passengers and 70 in the crew. The fire started in the forward hatch larboard and burned fiercely and when the steame ran ashore escapes were made over the cabin railing. Very few passengers or members of the crew were aware o fire until it was too late.

The steamer Mand Kilgore brough the survivors to this place at 6 o'clock last night and several societies of the city rendered all assistance in the way of clothing, etc.

Just prior to the boat's departure she underwent her annual inspection by the United States inspectors and was granted first-class papers. The City of Pittsburg was built at

WANT TO RETURN TO WORK Affairs Have Not Turned Out as Bos ton Brewery Workers Anticipated

Boston, April 21 .- A conference with the master brewers has been requested by officers of Brewery Workers' unions 14 and 29. The predicted outcome is a settlement this week of the strike which for three weeks has kept idle all the breweries in Boston. The conference time has not been set, but it is expected to be tomorrow, as the master brewers at no time have declined to meet the strikers or their representatives. There is much restlessness among the strikers over the facts that anticipated strike benefits have no been as large as expected, and the breweries have engaged a large number of inside workmen. It is understood that the unions will propose a reinstatement of all striking employes without discrimination for the purpose of ending the strike. The master brewers are expected to reply that they wil take back their former help until all vacancies are filled and give preference in the future to such who are not em ployed, but they will decline to discharge the inside workmen engaged since the strike began. The union. however, will be asked to invite these latter employes to become members

Others had similar placards such as "Nothing doing," "By order of the police this fountain is closed," "Don't ask for soda or candy, can't sell it."

But even the police did not agree as to the interpretation of the order. In the Back Bay district dealers were informed that they might sell certain carbonated beverages on the ground that they came under the head of "medicine," while in Dorchester ever this word was not recognized as applying to anything not ordered by a doctor' prescription and no latitude was allowed whatever.

GOOD PAYING MERCHANTS

In Need of Many Lines of United States Products-Large Business Could Be Advantageously Done With Other Latin-American Nations

Washington, April 21.-Frederic Emory, chief of the bureau of foreign commerce, made public yesterday an interesting extract from that portion of commercial relations of the United States (now in press) which deals with our trade with Mexico, Central America and the West Indies.

Our goods are favorably known in Mexico, it is stated, but in certain lines, such as dry goods, hats, shoes, notions and men and women's furnishings, our exporters seem to have made practically no attempt to gain the Mexican trade. Americans are more fully realizing that they must accommodate themselves to the wants and peculiarities of the Mexicans, and, as a result, trade is growing.

Many United States houses have adopted the plan of sending out young Mexicans or Cubans as traveling sales men. These men are acquainted with the wants of the Latin-American trade and excellent results have been achieved. Business failures are rare in Mexico. For example, in Mazatlan there has been only one in the last 15 years, and that was due to the failure of the main house in Paris. Commercial travelers who come to Mexico, it is stated, will find a conservative class of merchants who take pride in paying their debts promptly.

Attention is called to an interesting experiment which American firms are try g in the shape of a floating sample store. A vessel is to leave the United States for the western coast of Mexico, Central America and South America, having for sale samples of merchandise of all kinds suitable for tropical trade, each line of goods being in charge of an expert salesman.

In the Danish West Indies the imports from the United States are advancing yearly in spite of trade depression. The uncertainty of communication is the main drawback to our trade, it is stated At one period of last year 52 days passed without a single steamer to the United

In Guatemala our machinery is highly appreciated, though its delicacy will not admit of the ignorant handling of the Indian labor universal to the country. However, it is realized that it is far superior to other machinery in the matter of fuel economy, and as the fuel supply of the country grows less each year this fact is expected greatly to increase the sale of American machinery.

Three-fourths of the imports of Honduras come from the United States, but trade that should have been ours has been diverted to Germany on account of the close quarantine of the Louisiana board of health during the

In Jamaica the United States has supplanted England in many lines of sale, and shoes, cotton goods and coal are almost exclusively supplied by us.

An increasing quantity of goods is being consumed in the Dutch West Indies, more than half of the imports now being American. Our machinery has a firm foothold in Gaudeloupe and our trade is good in Haiti, though it would be improved, it is stated, if United States merchants were willing to extend the credits granted by European Getting Back to Old Conditions New York, April 21.-The Sunday laws were neither enforced, nor observed to the letter in this city yesterday. If there were fewer excise arrests than on any previous Sunday of late, it was not because the saloonkeepers complied with the law. On the east side the police complied strictly with the proclamation of Mayor Low that the Sunday laws be liberally in terpreted during the pending Jewish feast of the passover. All the small butcher shops, grocery, delicatessen, dry goods and other stores were wide open. Peddlers thronged the streets and did a thriving business from their

Transit Tied Up

San Francisco, April 21.- San Franciscans were without the usual facilities of rapid transit yesterday. The street railway strike has become effective. During the day a few cars under police supervision were run over the different lines of the system to comply with the franchise requirements, but no attempt was made to carry passengers. There were no disturbances.

FAMOUS NOVELIST DEAD Frank R Stockton Passes Away After a Very Short Illness

Washington, April 21 .- Frank R. Stockton, the famous novelist, died here yesterday. The cause of death was paralysis, immediately resulting from a hemorrhage in the brain. He was a guest at the banquet held Wednesday night of the National Academy of Science, when he was taken suddenly and mysteriously ill. The ailment did not at that time appear to be serious, and for a while the sufferer seemed to be improving, but a change for the worse came yesterday and death soon occurred. By his bedside when the end came were his wife, who was Miss Tuttle of Virginia, and her sister. He was 68 years of age.

Mr. Stockton had spent the past win ter in New York and had done very little literary work, preferring to rest. After a visit of nearly a month to Atlantic City he came to Washington so the scientists, intending then to go to his beautiful home in Charlestown, W.

Mr. Stockton was a Philadelphian by birth. In early life he was an engraver and draughtsman, but soon abandoned this occupation for journalism. Many years ago, however, he retired wholly from newspaper work reputation as a story writer was worldwide.

A Day of Fires

The son of Chief Magee, who was sleeping at the central station, was found on the floor of the engine room with a fractured skull afterwards. He will probably die. The property loss is $350,000. There is an cpinion that the fires were incendiary.

"The County Fair" is known to those who take an interest in things theatrical as one of the most successful presentations of rural New England life ever seen on the American stage. A miniature steel arena will be used, inside which five huge specimens of the "king of beasts" will be put through a series of feats by a daring female trainer. It is claimed that the act is the best of the kind ever brought to America. Some of the human entertainers to appear are: Monoe, Mack and Lawrence, in the screamingly unny farce, "How to Get Rid of a Mother-in Law"; the Almondbury Bell Ringers, a celebrated English organization; Fred Ward, ecentric comedian, ann Johnnie Curran, popular ballad singer, in a funny sketch; Hal Merrit in a novel poster-monologue, and Hollis and during the service. Washington, April 22.-The house resterday entered on consideration of the military academy appropriation oill. In addition to the regular items t contains provision for the extensive improvement of the grounds and ouildings at West Point. These improvements are to cost $6,500,000, of which a little over $3,000,000 is appropriated in the bill. Twenty-four of the 30 pages of the bill were completed. During the general debate on the bill Mr. Gilbert (Ky.) took occasion to reply o some remarks recently made by Mr. Gillett (Mass.), Mr. Brownell (O.) and General Funston, which he thought reflected upon his state. In the course of his remarks, Mr. Gilbert said that in the south they looked with supreme contempt upon the social equality of the races. The most ignorant white girl norant white man in the world to the nost cultured negro in America. Gentlemen on the other side could not cry down the "taint in the blood." He recalled the fact that when a colored man sat on the other side not one of his colleagues invited him to his house. The prejudice against social equality was as strong in the north as in the south, he declared, and all talk to the contrary was "hypocritical rot and

Mr. Gilbert then turned to Mr. Bromwell's fling at Kentucky politics and gave his version of Taylor's flight from the state after the murder of Goebel. He described Mr. Taylor's appearance at the Philadelphia convention, characterizing him as an "assassin" who was made an "idol in the north."

Mr. Gilbert's remarks drew a reply from Mr. Gillett, who said he was the negro in New England. He thought that, perhaps, there was a greater physical repugnance toward the negro there than in the south. But because one man personally felt a prejudice against a negro, he did not think he had a right to attempt to enforce them upon

Mr. Gaines (Tenn.) asked if the governor of Massachusetts, when he went to the Nashville exposition, declined to take with him a member of his staff who was a negro.

"If he did," replied Mr. Gillett, "it was because he did not want to wound the sensibilities of the people of Nash-

Proceeding, Mr. Gillett explained that in New England they could understand the prejudices in the south against the negro and against negro domination, but the people of his section insisted that social ostracism should not be visited on those who did not chare these prejudices. When a negro man raised nimself above his fellows and led a pure, clean, manly life he thought his worth should be recognized. He did not sympathize with a state of society which accepted a man whose hands were stained with the blood of lynching or with election frauds, but which rejected a worthy, pure man simply beeause his color was black. He objected to making unpardonable the crime of

"Do not dodge the issue," cried Mr. Gilbert, "did you ever invite a negro to your table?"

"I never have," replied Mr. Gillett, but I never have been mean enough o criticise a man who has done so." Mr. Gillett went on to tell of the high onors won in New England by colored nen of worth and concluded by saying that he did not ask the people of the south to put aside their prejudices, but ne did insist that they should not ostraeise others who did not believe as they

Mr. Patterson (Tenn.) said he blushed for the honor of Massachusetts when he heard a defense made of social equality of the negro and white man.

Mr. Cochran (Mo.) made a speech in which he argued that it was the bounden duty of the government to stop the shipment of war material to South Africa. He declared that within 40 miles of his home there was a British garrison engaged in buying war supplies and said the existence of a camp near New Orleans was notorious. He

Without a word of discussion of the merits of the measure the senate yesterday passed the river and harbor bill, carrying in appropriations about $70, 000,000. So thoroughly had the bill been considered by the commerce com mittee that every senator was content that it should pass as reported from the committee. As no senator was prepared to begin debate on the Philippine government bill the measure, after a few minutes of informal discussion went over until today.

BENNETT JURY DISAGREES Verdict Was Looked For

Boston, April 22 .- "We cannot agree," was the announcement of the second session superior court jury in the libel suit of Frank P. Bennett against John F. Donohue and the Lynn was a great surprise to those in attendance, for they were expecting at least a nominal verdict for the plaintiff, because of the fact that the court had directed a return in his favor for one of the statements in the alleged libel and also because the jury had reported a sealed verdict after being out about seven hours, and had been allowed to separate. Of course they had not divulged what was under seal, but it was not believed possible, in a case involving so much, not only in a pecuniary way, but to the reputation of individuals, that anything less than a decisive verdict would have been reached in so short a time.

The members of the jury declined to state how they stood, but it is said that their failure to observe the instruction of the court to return a verdict for the plaintiff upon the charge that he was expelled from the American Wool association on account of his alleged persistent attempts to blackmail its members; because there was no evidence to support the charge, was due to the fact that they could not agree upon the amount of damages such a verdict would necessarily carry.

Verdicts For Defendants

Boston, April 22.-It is announced that the various libel suits entered by Mrs. Josephine C. Woodbury against prominent Christian Scientists, at the time of an action brought against Mrs Mary B. G. Eddy, more than a year ago, have been disposed of, judgment having been entered by agreement, in favor of the defendant in each case.

It has been the custom to tranship Egyptian cotton at Liverpool, but now it is proposed to run a line of steamers to this port direct from Egypt.

THE ATLANTIC CLUB.

Very Interesting Papers and Choice Musical Program.

When Rev. Rush Shippen of Brockton began to speak of John Greenleaf Whittier" at the Atlantic Monday Evening club at the meeting this week, we felt as though we had before us a man of the same fine type as the subject of his paper. This feeling was strengthened as we listened to his narration of the various points in the character of our beloved poet and the three periods into which he divided his And when he read from Whittier's poems some of his own favorite selections with marked appreciation, feeling and tenderness we were sure we had been doubly honored with the presence both of "Whittier" and the speaker.

After the intermission Mrs. W. N. Ware of Atlantic read a paper on "Over the plum pudding" by John Kendrick Bangs. She gave a most pleasing description of the several stories, brought out the specially humorous points, and solved the mysteries attending the origin of the musical classic in a very clever and entertaining manner.

The musical program for the evening was a fine one. Mr. Allen R. Hunter presided at the piano most delightfully and his solos and accompaniments were full of life and expression. His solos were "Valse-Arabesque" by Th. Lacke and "Sweet image thou-Schubert-Liszt.

Mr. Robert Mackenzie sang the tenor olos, "Thou art mine all" by Thomas Bradsky, "Barcarolle" by Gounod, and the encores "I'll sing the songs by Clay and "Under the rose" by Fisher.

Mr. George F. Hiller of Hyde Park sang the bass solos "The miller of Sheen" by Bond Andrew, "The refractory Monk" by Frederick Rosse, and for encores: "Gipsey John" by Clayton Johns, and "Trancadillo" by T L. Molloy. His splendid quality of voice and the spirit with which he entered into the sentiment of his songs cap tured the audience. All the musical talent was fine, and with the opportun ity to hear in addition the exceedingly excellent papers of Rev. Of Extracting Information From the Insurgents-Tells of Burning of Small Villages, and Says That the Idea Was Borrowed From Weyler

Washington, April 22.-The senate committee on the Philippines yesterday | tion of her illness. resumed the examination of witnesses in connection with the investigation of affairs in the Philippine islands. Grover Flint of Cambridge, Mass., who served as first lieutenant in the Thirty-Fifth volunteer infantry, testified that early in May, 1900, he had been a witness to the water cure, as administered to the natives by the Macabebe scouts, and that this was done to get information as to the whereabouts of their guns. The guns were delivered. The following day some men of his own regiment applied the cure, but without a political meeting at La Forte-Bernard, the authority of their commanding officers. The Macabebes at the time referred to were not under command of head. a commissioned officer, but under a sergeant of the United States army.

Flint had been, he said, a witness to at least 20 cases of water cure. He had never seen any one die as a result of the cure, but had seen a hospital corps man working on a native who had been rendered unconscious. It also had been reported to him that one Filipino died from the effects of the water cure. The witness then described the method of administering the cure, and said that in some cases where it was given to old men he had seen their teeth fall out.

Mr. Flint, in response to a question by Senator Deitrich, said he was present upon these occasions, "to draw the line on excesses." He did not recom mend to his major that the practice cease, nor did he give any orders to his him. men to stop the terture.

Answering a question by Senato Burrows the witness declared that the effect of the cure was immediate, the victim invariably turning in his gun or a bolo and giving information as to the whereabouts of others. He said it was impossible to judge whether the victims were insurgent soldiers or peasants, but they appeared to be peaceable barrios or villagers. Some of them were thrown down by force others who were timid would submit readily, while those who resisted were simply held the more tightly. The treatment, he said, never got to the point of great brutality.

Replying to a question by Senator Lodge, the witness said that he had been refused a commission in the regular army because his colonel had re ported him as using intoxicating liquors to excess. The witness deplored the raising of this question, but Senator Beveridge said it had an important bearing on the case. Flint dented that on any of the occasions when he had witnessed the water cure was he unde the influence of liquor. He insisted that in justice to himself he ought to state he was not drunk, but had beer a careless drinker. He had, he said, released several men who did not appear to him to be insurrectos. Major Geary of his regiment was always near, but had not interfered in the administra tion of the cure, simply assigning a commissioned officer to see that the men did not go too far.

After considerable questioning he finally admitted that he approved the water cure, and, responding to a query by Senator Beveridge, said that it was not an American invention, but was as old as the "chronicles of Newgate, Asked regarding Filipinos in guard houses, he said they were treated ex actly the same as American prisoners except that they were supplied with food which they were accustomed to and not with army rations.

The witness described the burning of small villages, the idea being, he said. to drive the people to the woods or to the towns and concentrate them. "Who did the army borrow that from?" inquired Senator Culberson. "I saw it in Cuba," answered the witness, "under the authority of General Weyler."

The committee, in executive session directed that subpoenas issue for : number of sergeants and privates who were witnesses of the water cure. The matter of calling Sixto Lopez, Mabini and Aguinaldo was left for future de termination. The committee then adjourned until April 29, on which date General MacArthur will again be

Another Case of Torture

Norfolk, April 22.-John Nickelson. a returned Philippine soldier, says that he has frequently seen the water cure administered and states that on one occasion a detachment of soldiers gathered around the victim and burned his body with cigars, hoping to make him reveal the spot where the bodies of five American soldiers were secreted. After this punishment, the prisoner still declined. Finally the water cure was suggested. The man was thrown down and an army pistol placed in his mouth as a gag. Two barrels of water were then taken from a vile smelling swamp. These were poured down the throat of the prisoner. His body reached abnormal proportions. A soldier then stepped on the man to make the pain more excruciating. When released he directed them to the spot where the bodies of the Americans were secreted.

WHY STRIKE FAILED

Schaffer Places Blame Upon Newspapers and Federation of Labor Wheeling, W. Va., April 22.-At yesterday's session of the convention of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin workers, in his annual report President Shaffer said that at the opening of last year's strike the Amalgamated association was in a fair way to succeed without the assistance of the other organizations. They were on the highway to success until the circulation of malicious lies by the news papers of the country, which bred doubt in the minds of their own members and there was desertion from the ranks and scabbing.

The American Federation of Laborcontributed not a single cent to the assistance of the association and the flints, the window blowers, the bottle blowers and the pottery workers alone gave through the national lodges.

They received nothing through the national ledge of the mine workers, but the association received much as sistance from the local lodges of many organizations. When it was seen that they were doomed to meet with some thing short of a decisive victory, an agreement was made with President Compers of the American Federation of Labor to meet J. P. Morgan and er deavor to effect a settlement. Mr Morgan went to New York and waited the coming of Mr. Gompers, but that gentleman never appeared. Mr Shaffer then recited the entire history of the strike from start to finish.

PORTER DIVORCE

Cruelty Not the Charge Says Mrs. Porter the Petitioner.

The report that Mrs. Charles H. Porter, Jr., had brought divorce proceedings came as a surprise to Quincy people, who are eagerly awaiting develoments. Mr. Porter is now in this received by Mrs. Blunt and informed Boston, calling on an oculist. The reporter inquired as to Mr. Porter's whereabouts, explaining that he wished to see that gentleman in reference to the report that a suit for divorce had been instituted against him by Mrs.

Mrs. Blunt stared at her visitor as she might at a madonao. It was evident that this was the first intimation she had received of any such pro-

When asked whether or not it was a fact that she had instituted suit against her husband, she simply said that any report to the effect that he had been cruel to her was false; but she had never charged him with being cruel and that she wished that any such report be denied.

That was all she wished to say regarding the matter. She said that she had her husband's post office address and was in correspondence with him, but he was traveling more or less at peedy Cure this time and she did not know precisely where he was.

THE TWO-LOOM SYSTEM

Declared to Be Preferred by Majority of Weavers

TREASURER WOOD'S CLAIMS

Says Strike at Olneyville Is Practically Broken and That Lawrence Operatives Want Extra Allowance Without Effort of Earning It

Andover, Mass., April 23.-Treasurer Wood of the American Woolen company, upon arrival at his home here last night, after visiting several of the mills of the company during the day, said that he knew nothing whatever regarding the rumored offer of Senator Hanna's services as arbitrator to the strike leaders at Providence.

He said: "I feel very well satisfied with the gain the company has made in Olneyville. There is a gain every time the gates open and the management is satisfied, so far as Olneyville and the two-loom issue are concerned, that the strike is practically broken. The Washington mills issue is not a twofrom issue at all, although it runs all its looms, two looms to a weaver. The weavers do not object to two looms at the Washington mills; on the centrary they prefer it. They demand the abolition of the premium, which is a bonus in addition to the regular schedule, and which is intended as an incentive for greater production.

"Apparently the weavers wish to se cure their extra allowance without the effort of earning it, and in its place they demand 20 percent increase to the present schedule.

Mr. Wood further said that as far as he could learn the Washington mills weavers have no reasonable excuse for precipitating a strike. He said they have been exceptionally favored both as to steady work and good wages, and the greater portion of them will admit

Continuing, he said: "There is abso lutely nothing for them to gain by being out on this strike. We are paying the highest wages of any textile mills in the Merrimack valley, particularly in this region. The company will try to main tain the highest wages compatible with the conditions of the business. The po sition they have taken will be firmly adhered to. The company has stated it will not change its rate and method of payment of wages at this time. If the help are wise they will return to work and save themselves and the community at large much distress and idle ness. It would be interesting if the operatives in the mills outside of the American Woolen company on similar work would compare their wages earned with those of the American Woolen company. It would be plainly seen which had treated them the most generously. The American Woolen company, unsolicited, has raised their wages, and this action has not been followed by the outside mills.

"Weavers in Olneyville formerly in r employ, now presumably on stril have obtained work at these outside mills at reduced wages, running two looms, showing very distinctly that if there were any principles involved they have been abandoned. Intelligent inquiry among the best weavers in Olney ville will show that they not only do not object to two-loom work, but prefer it and strange as it may seem, many of those who have returned to us have en treated us to excuse them from single loom work and give them two looms, bo cause they can make more mone

Nothing For Clerks to Do

Plymouth, Mass., April 23 .- The clerical force in the employ of the Puritan mills, a branch of the American Woolen company, were discharged yesterday. The factory has been closed for the present. About 150 weavers have been out on strike several weeks, and as there was no disposition on their part to return the management decided to close the mills.

Mills May Soon Close

Webster, Mass., April 23 .- The only change at the Chase mills yesterday was the laying off of a number of men who work by the day, for lack of material. WISE LIBERALITY Urged Upon England In Dealing With Their South African Foes

London, April 23 .- "I must advise you not to pay too much attention to the extravagant expressions of friendship of a certain well-meaning but diseredited class called, in America. Anglo-maniaes.

That was the keynote of a speech made by John Hays Hammond, the American engineer, last night, before a notable gathering interested in Anglo-American and South African matters, at a dinner given in honor of Mr. Hammond's return to England. With pungent sentences Mr. Hammond explained to his English audience the depth of and reason for American sympathy with the Boers and, as "a candid though a genuine friend of Anglo-Saxon friendship," he impressed his hearers with Great Britain's total lack of effort to counteract the pro-Boer sentiment in the United States. With equal frankness Mr. Hammond urged that Great Britain be generous in her

"Your American friends," he delared, "most earnestly hope that in arranging terms of peace wise liberality will be shown to the Boers.'

Mr. Hammond unfavorably compared Mr. Kruger's attitude with General Lee's "Christian and patriotic action." But he warned his hearers to learn a lesson from another chapter of the American Civil war by avoiding the mistake of the American statesmen who endeavored to govern the southern states by northern office holders, as a result of which many years elapsed before the harm done by the carpetbagger was repaired.

Reeves a Free Man Havana, April 23.-Governor General Wood issued an order yesterday pardoning W. H. Reeves, who was re cently sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $35,516 for complicity in the Cuban postal frauds. Reeves was liberated at once. General-Wood says he pardoned Reeves because he was a witness for the state. This had been denied, as well as the fact that the government had been using Reeves as a witness for the state. Rathbone's lawyers declared that this promise of immunity had influenced Reeves to make statements against Rathbone.

THE TARIFF PROBLEM

We Have Entered, but Not Captured, Foreign Markets

A MOVEMENT FOR REVISION

Proposition That Dingley Schedules Be Tinkered by a Committee During Recess of Congress-The Speaker's Attitude In the Matter

Washington, April 23.-Yesterday's

ing evidence of the persistency of the tariff question. The revised speech of Representative Roberts of Massachusetts delivered last Wednesday, appears with a convincing array of facts and figures on the folly, from every poin of view, of the present duty on hides It is an interesting compilation. He closes the speech by reproducing the letter which James G. Blaine wrote on this subject in 1890 to the chairman of the ways and means committee. Mr Roberts declares that "no better or mor concise epitome of the argument agains a tariff on hides has ever been made." This speech is followed by one of John Dalzell of Pittsburg, which had not been delivered in the house, but i inserted in the Record under the "leave to print" privilege. It consists of a let ter from James M. Swank, the genera manager of the American Iron and Steel association, giving his reasons for opposing the Babcock bill or any re duction in the duties on iron and steel. He recites the familiar explanation of why these products are sold abroad cheaper than at home, and says that there has been too much thoughtless boasting of our ability to gain and keep control of foreign markets for our manufactured products. "We hav entered the foreign markets, but have not captured them. Representative Roberts has anounced his intention to circulate a petition for a caucus of the Republicans of the house on the tariff. If the caucus be called he will submit a resolution for the appointment of a committee to sit, during the recess of congress to prepare a bill for submission at the next session revising the Dingley tariff schedules. Mr. Roberts believes that unless the Republicans indicate to the country that they intend to revise it, the people are likely to turn the a mandate for tariff revision at the carliest possible day.

A member thoroughly enough familiar with the views of the speaker and the leaders of the house to speak with authority, after giving a number reasons why he considered tariff revision at this time inadvisable, explained the position of the speaker as follows

"I know that the speaker believes that ance by the Republican members of the finance committee of the senate and ways and means committee of the president's approval in the matter, it ple who would not steal or tell ties." was found to be impossible to reach

Sent Back to Conference

Washington, April 23.-The hous the omnibus claims bill by the senate, of 'Stones of Venice.' ". Whereupon Mr. aggregating $1,800,000, and on the heels of that action non-concurred in various items having been ruled to constitute a single amendment) and sent the bill to conference.

The military academy appropriation bill was passed after the limit of cost of the improvements at West Point had been reduced from $6,500,000 to $5. 500,000 and the amount of the appropriation in the bill from $3,000,000

A Warship Tragedy

Washington, April 23.-It has just de veloped that during the cruise of the North Atlantic squadron a homicide was committed on board the Indiana. The chief master at arms, James Douglass, disciplined a Japanese wardroom steward, and as the latter was deck and beat him with his fists, from the effects of which the victim died. Douglass was tried by court martial and convicted of involuntary manslaughter. He was sentenced to three years' imprisonment and is now lodged on the prison ship Southery at Boston

No Violation of Neutrality

Washington, April 23.-The report of Colonel Crowder, who investigated the shipment of herses and mules to South Africa from the port of Chalmette, La. was laid before the cabinet yesterday by the president. While the report i incomplete, it developed that the conclusion is reached by the presiden from what he had seen of it, that ther is not sufficient evidence to show pas or present violation of neutrality, and consequently there is no warrant for intervention.

Aged Murderer Pardoned

Washington, April 23.—The president resterday granted a pardon to Robinso Kemp, who was convicted of murde committed in the Indian territory and in 1886 was sentenced to be hanged ward of 80 years of age.

They drop the letters in and along with them the necessary amount of money o pay postage. Of course they know I will do the rest. This is the only way

I have ever found money in a mailbox. "I have been hunting two years or more for the duck who put about three feet of sausage in one of the boxes one night. OUGHT SOON TO BE OVER

As Friendly Sultans Are Not Expected To Resist American Government-Efforts to Secure Peaceful Surrender of Murderers Have Falled

Washington, April 24 .-- The war with the Moros will go on. The conflicting are due to the fact that only half the story has been made known. As previously announced, orders were sent to General Chaffee to hold back the exof diplomatic negotiation had been exhausted. No further move was made till Governor Taft had reached Washment, as well as that of several officers $30,000. who had familiarized themselves with tons of coal. conditions in Mindanao, that the Moros in the lake country were the only ones who were hostile to the Americans.

The other sultans had made good in every way their protestations of friendship, and it was not, and is not now, believed by the president's advisers, in spite of the common religion of the several sultanates, that the friendly sultans will join forces with their unfriendly neighbor in resisting the American government. If this proves to be the case, hostilities will be confined to a very small district and with plenty of energy on the part of the American troops ought soon to be over.

Governor Taft, though counselling the utmost endeavors to procure by peaceful means the surrender of the Moro murderers, admitted that if, after two weeks' notice, they were not given that the sentence of death by the up to us we should be compelled to go and take them at the point of the bayonet, or we never should be able to maintain any authority on the island thereafter. It was suggested to the president, among other things, that a civil process might issue for the body of the murderers, and the arms be used ginning May 4. only as a posse to execute the writ. This idea was rejected because there is no pretence of civil government in that part of the island where the lake Moros a civil process not only would have no carry no meaning to the natives in any

Of one thing the president took good are-the designation of the officer who, if an expedition must be undertaken, shall head it. General Davis is one of the men in whom he has the utmost confidence as an officer of discretion, and abundant patience and humanity. The point settled, word was sent to General Chaffee to go ahead, giving the natives every opportunity consistent with the honor and prestige of this government to change their minds about surrendering the murderers, but as long as a clash had actually occurred to go ahead and do what may be necessary to bring them to terms.

A Rather Expensive Mission Washington, April 24 .- The declination of Captain Clark, U. S. N., to be a member of the American ambassy to King Edward's coronation, is viewed with general regret. However, it is realized that the mission for which Captain Clark was slated involves personal outlay for entertainment and exchange of courtesies of a very formidable character and entirely beyond his private means. Admiral Watson has een appointed in his place.

Can't Agree on Treaties

Washington, April 24.-The senate committee on foreign relations yesterday again failed to reach a decision on any of the reciprocity treaties now before the committee. The committee decided, however, that all the treaties now pending should be reported, either favorably or adversely, to give the senate a chance to consider all of them, even though the committee may be opposed to them.

This treaty is similar to the protocol recently signed, the terms of which have been published.

Keeping Republicans In Line Washington, April 24.-There is a great deal of activity among the Republican senators over the Cuban reciprocity bill. The present effort is an attempt to secure united Republican action, if possible, the desire being to prevent a minority of the Republicans acting with Democrats from controlling the situation either in committee or senate.

After taking the steel trust as an example and stating that it had increased the average wage to each laborer 20 percent, the speaker said of trusts: "Did these organizations cause all this progress? No, the American people, with powers unfettered, caused it; and industrial and commercial organization is only one of the people's methods of progress. ### LYNN MEN'S TESTIMONY

Of Tortures Inflicted Upon Filipinos by Soldiers

Men Who Applied It Were Not Particular as to Its Condition-Priest Who Would Not Disclose a Secret Succumbed to Ill Treatment

Lynn, Mass., April 24.-Two Lynn. men, who were formerly members of Company D, Twenty-sixth regiment, U. S. V., and stationed in the Philippines, have written Senator Lodge, giving him a full statement of instances of the application of the water cure in the Philippines that came under their observation. Senator Lodge informed them that the matter will be laid be fore the proper authorities.

The men who have made the state ments are Private William Labelle and Albert W. Bertrand. In his statement to Senator Lodge, Labelle says he per sonally saw several instances of the application of the water cure. He says that while at Anilao, three natives, two young men and a man about 50 years of age, were taken by Company D men into a Catholic church at Anilao, their hands were tied, and a squad of men applied the water cure to the three men. Labelle says it was understood the three natives knew where insurgent gues were concealed, and the water cure was given them in an attempt to have them describe the whereabouts of the arms.

Labelle says one of the natives re fused to tell where the guns were se creted, and after he had been given the water cure he was blindfolded, and one of the soldiers fired his gun near the man's head. The same instant the gur was fired another member of the squad hit the native with a stone, and he was told that he had been shot. The na tive then told the soldiers where they could find the insurgent guns. In relating this incident Labelle gives the names of the officers and privates who participated.

Continuing his statement. Labelle mays that in the summer of 1900, while the United States forces were about three miles from Estancia, Company D captured three natives and gave them the water cure. The water was muddy and it was forced into their mouths with a tunnel. After the men had been filled with water, blood came from their eyes and ears. Labelle says a sergeant had charge of the water cure squad when these men were treated.

Labelle says that after the old man had been given the water cure at An ilao he was jumped upon by a soldier and the water spurted from the man's mouth.

Bertrand has furnished Senator Lodge with particulars of the disappearance and killing of Father Augustine, a Roman Catholic priest, at Bolo. Bert. rand says it was reported that Fr. Augustine knew where insurgent gold was buried, and the men were anxious to have him tell them where it could be found. Bertrand says men from Company D captured him in December, the United States artillery. He was then taken to Banate and kept in a cell. He refused to tell where the gold was buried, and on the night of Dec. 9 he was taken to a house formerly occupied by the presidente of the village, where the water cure was given him by the "water cure squad." Bertrand says the priest was tied on the ground and of immigration at New York to take then given the cure. The men then proceeded to get nearly all the water out of him, but he did not revive and they sent for. His services proved unsuccessful, however, and Bertrand says the priest died on the morning of Dec. 10 Some of the men were sworn to secrecy, and the body was buried in a plot of land used by the troops as a baseball ground. Bertrand says that a non-commissioned officer was seen with the priest's watch and chain, and when a commissioned officer learned this they were turned over to him. In his statement Bertrand gives the names of the men taking part, and also refers to several officers.

According to Labelle, when Company D was out on a hike, while stationed at Dungas, in July, 1900, the men were or dered to burn everything and see that no grown person escaped. He under stood the order as meaning that everybody, with the exception of children should be shot, and Labelle says that is what the men proceeded to do.

Labelle and Bertrand say that while at Dungas the soldiers came to a hut where a native woman had just given birth to a child. The husband was made a prisoner and the woman and child were dragged from the hut and left on the ground. The native shack Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that was then burned, but Labelle and Bertrand do not know what became of the woman and child.

Physical Courage In Battle.

"Physical courage in battle," said an old veteran, "is simply this: Your sense will attend the 7. P. M. services at Christ of duty or your sense of shame is so strong that you can't run away. All this talk about men liking the roar of battle is nine-tenths rubbish. Nobody likes to be killed or wounded, and nothing is more natural than for a man to get out of the way of a bullet if he can do so without too serious a loss of his own self respect or of that of his neighbors.

"I never knew but one man who seemed as if he really relished fighting, and that was General Reynolds, who precipitated the battle of Gettysburg and lost his life in so doing. It was just like him to bring on an engagement. Reynolds was always keyed up very high in action. When that river was the highway between the northwest and the gulf, the steamers plying upon it, handsome boats for their time, carried all sorts of people, among them the most refined in the land. From this time I noticed that whenever he lost he invariably threw the gambler off his balance by some reference understood only by the two players. At last the clergy man, looking his opponent in the eye, said:

Indeed the gambler seemed to have lost interest in keeping the money. Then my man hastily ran over his winnings and called a halt.

AN EDITOR'S DETENTION

In South Africa Leads to Hot Debate In Parliament

London, April 25 .- The forcible detention in South Africa of Albert Cartwright, who, while editor of the South African News, charged Lord Kitchener, prior to the engagement with General De Wet, with ordering his officers to shoot all prisoners, formed the subject of a heated debate in the house of commons last evening.

Mr. Morley moved the adjournment of the house, which practically amounted to a vote of censure on the government in general and on Lord Kitchener and Lord Milner in particular. Mr. Mor. ley pointed out that Mr. Cartwright who had served a year's imprisonment for libel, now desired to come to England, and that his detention was illegal unconstitutional and tyrannical. He added that the explanation of Lord Stanley, the financial secretary of the war office, that the government did not think it desirable to increase the number of anti-British propagandists in this country, was the most outrageous heard in the house since Simon de Montfort invented parliament.

Secretary of War Brodrick, in the course of a reply, raised a storm by say ing that although Mr. Cartwright had served his legal sentence, the question of his liberation was still sub-judice.

This brought forth a vehement pro test from Mr. Vernon-Harcourt (Liberal), who declared that such a proposition was scandalous and contrary to the elementary principles of freedom. Winston S. Churchill also delivered a few caustic sentences, saying he beautiful woman who has lost an eye .- | hoped the house would force the government to withdraw within the limits Professor Monrad says: "Too little of the law and observe the constitu-

MONEY CUTS A CONDUCTOR BEACON ICE CREAN CO. Senator From Mississippi Had a Dis-

pute Over a Car Fare Washington, April 25.-In a disput over a carfare on a traction car near the Capitol yesterday Senator Money of Mississippi cut Conductor Shaner in the right hand. The police report on the case says that the conductor's injury is not serious, and that the cutting occurred while the conductor was seeking to wrest the knife from Senator

Senator Money had neglected to get a transfer on changing cars, and the conductor demanded a fare, which the senator refused to pay. The senator says that the conductor hit him a severe blow over the heart with his clenched fist. This blow, the senator says, was very painful, and in order to protect himself he took a small penknife from his pocket and opened it. This weapon the conductor grasped and in doing so cut his hand so that it bled very freely.

Shaner says that he did not strike the senator until the latter drew his knife, and that he did not make an effort to put him off the car when it was in mo tion. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Shaner on the charge of assault. It was sworn out by Senator

The affair recalls other occasions on which he has exhibited the same uncontrolled temper. Several years ago, in the house committee on naval affairs, he got into an altercation with Hall of Missouri, also a Democrat, in which it was alleged that Money gave him the lie. Hall threw an inkstand which struck Money on the head with considerable force, necessitating his being taken into another committee room for repairs. On another occasion he came near exchanging blows with Senator Wellington over the latter's allegations to the effect that the sena tors who went to Cuba to investigat conditions there were hired to do so by the New York Journal. As Money was one of the Hearst party, he asked Wellington to specify what he meant with results that a challenge was of fered on the floor of the senate.

Tales Gathered Among the Nation's Lawmakers.

Four Redheaded Men Who Became Famous-Backsliding Democrat Aptly Characterized - Bill Jones' Mule Colt-How Senator Vest Requited a Courteous Act-When War Waged Desolation - Caught Them Both Ways-Beaten by a Sixth of a Vote.

(Copyright, 1902, by Champ Clark.) When Senator Joe Blackburn returned to Washington last spring to re-enter the house of the conscript fathers after an enforced retirement of four years, he was joyfully welcomed to "the finest capital in the world" by two of his old Tandems schoolmates, now occupying high stamost illustrious citizens of the republic, Mr. Justice John Marshall Harlan of the supreme court and George Graham Vest, the brilliant junior senator from Missouri. It is an interesting historical fact that these three distinguished men, all redheaded, and another redheaded statesman of equal renown, B. Gratz Brown, were in their youth classmates at an old fashioned high grade academy at Frankfort, Ky. The quartet were all destined to a high career.

Vest's Story.

When Senator Vest was in his prime, he was the prince of stump speakers. He excelled in every feature of that difficult sort of oratory. He used logic, learning, sareasm, irony, wit, humor, eloquence. As an anecdote teller in Motor Bicycles, $150 up to $250, two and public speaking he never had a supe-

Up till the last few years all kinds of independent parties or political side shows flourished in Missouri. The "Granger movement," "the Tadpoles," "the Greenbackers," etc., made life burdensome to the Democrats. Vest is a Democrat of "the straightest sect." and in his speeches he laid on and spared not. He was as merciless in ridcule as Voltaire himself. One of Vest's opponents on one occasion twitted him with the fact that a prominent Democrat had deserted his party. "Oh, yes," replied Vest, "the hereditary enemies of the Democratic party laud every Democrat who deserts to the Tadpoles as a great man and prominent citizen. will tell you about that. When I was a boy and was living in Frankfort, Ky., there was an old fellow named Bill Jones who got drunk every time he came to town. One day by the time he was satisfactorily primed the rains was a rushing torrent. He had to cross it to get home, and people tried to dissuade him from such an idiotic he did. He mounted his old slab sided mare, followed by a diminutive mule colt, and boldly plunged into the river. which carried him, the old mare and the mule colt over the dam, and they disappeared in the whirlpool below. Folks upon the bank watched in vain for them to come to the surface. Taking it for granted that Bill was drowned, the citizens dragged the river to up the attempt and settled down to the onclusion that Bill had floated down into the Ohio. But the next Saturday he rode into town, chipper as ever, and ready for another spree on his old mare, but minus the mule colt. So citizens gathered about him and told how they had mourned him for dead. Oh,' said Bill, 'I got out all right. So aid my old gray mare, and all I lost was that measly mule colt!' And se in this case," concluded Vest, "we have not lost a prominent citizen an influential Democrat, but a scrubby political mule colt!" A Graceful Deed.

To hear certain persons who desire office, but can't get it, talk, politics is a sad business and hardens the human heart to such an extent that Pharaoh's these doctrinaires, all politicians are a bad lot, utterly destitute of the milk of human kindness and with no more sense of gratitude than a marble statue. It is a real pleasure to undeceive

However that may be, the following anecdote will convince all who are convincible that Senator Vest is not an ungrateful man:

He and John D. Stephenson of St. Louis were both elected to the Missou ri legislature in 1860. Vest was easily leader of the southern sympathizers and Stephenson was one of the leaders of the unconditional Union men. But Terms and they were close personal friends. No where on this continent was debate more savage, feeling higher or excite ment more tense than in the Missour legislature in 1860-61. When war be gan, Vest cast his fortunes with the south, and Stephenson entered the Union army, rising to the rank of major general. In the early stages of that unhappy conflict General Stephenson cap tured Boonville, Vest's home town while the latter was far away fighting with "Old Pap" Price. Mrs. Vest was very sick at home. General Stephenson, hearing that and remembering his personal friendship for her husband, placed a guard about her house to protect her from harm and to prevent her and her little babe from being disturb ed by unwonted noise. It was a grace ful deed by a noble man which bore good fruit after he was in his grave.

Senator Vest's Revenge. It's an old saying that "the whirligig of time brings as own revenges.

Square, PHILA., PA. It is an amazing fact that nobody ever time frequently brings splendid examples of gratitude," but it does all the same. Thirty-four years after General Stephenson protected Vest's wife and old general went to his reward, full of His aged widow applied to congress for a pension such as had been granted the widows of General John A. Logan, General Frank P. Blair and other distinguished Union volunteer major generals. The professional economists in the senate made a hard fight against the bill. Vest, remembering General Stephenson's kindness to his dear ones in the awful days of 1861, took up the cudgels for the dead Union soldier and never rested from his labors until the venerable Mrs. Stephenson was placed beyond want for the remnant of her days. Vest's grateful and chivalrie performance is not so widely bruited as that of Sir Philip Sidney, who when sorely wounded himself gave his cup of cold water to a private soldier dying by his side, but it belongs to the same class nevertheless and causes one to think better of human nature itself. Verily, verily, "bread cast upon the water will return again." If critics and cynics will lay aside their preconceived opinions and investigate the matter, they will discover that politicians retain many human virtues.

Caught 'Em Comin' and Goin'.

Nowhere did the civil war rage with more ineffable bitterness and more ungovernable fury than in Missouri. At its close things were in chaos. Four prominent participants in that titanic struggle acted with consummate wisdom-Francis Marion Cockrell, George Graham Vest, John F. Phillips and Thomas T. Crittenden. Cockrell was a major general and Vest a colonel in the Confederate army, while Phillips and Crittenden were Union colonels. All four are Democrats. As soon as "the smoke of battle cleared away Colonel Vest and Colonel Phillips opened up a law office at Sedalia, in Pettis county, and General Cockrell and Colonel Crittenden opened up another law office at Warrensburg, in the adjoining county of Johnson. Par enthetically it may be stated that Pettis and Johnson are two of the richest counties in that marvelous common wealth. So they paired off, a Confed erate and a Union soldier in each firm. They set their traps, "like the nigger's a-comin.

coon trap, to catch 'em a-gwine and Law and Politics. They were four tiptop lawyers and raked in lots of shekels. Whether they originally intended that law should be their serious and principal business with politics as "a side line," or vice versa, I do not know. Whatever they intended, they succeeded well at law and amazingly well in polities. For a had raised the Kentucky river till it third of a century they have been the big four of south central Missouri and Vest and Cockrell the big two of the entire state. In court they had the performance, but go he would, and go cream of the business and were usual ly pitted against each other. In politics they have had the cream and while sometimes pitted against each other have most commonly acted together, at least in late years. Phillips and Crittenden ran against each other for con gress and defeated each other for the nomination turn and turn about, but both got to congress. Vest and Cockrell ran against each other for the find his body, fired cannon to make the gubernatorial nomination, and when corpse rise and did all the things usu- Vest found that he could not secure ally done on such mournful occasions. the plum for himself he threw his strength to Charles H. Hardin, who defeated Cockrell by one-sixth of one vote, the closest shave on record. Neither Cockrell nor Vest became governor, but both reached the senate. Vest has been elected for four full terms and Cockrell for five. They can stay in the senate as long as they live. What they aspired to and failed to get Colonel Crittenden secured, the govbecame president, Cockrell and Vest and collar diagonally in white sating partners in a most handsome manner. They had Colonel Crittenden appointed eral rows run along the outside of the consul general to Mexico and subsequently register in bankruptcy at Kansas City, which latter office he now holds. They had Colonel Phillips appointed United States judge for the western district of Missouri, a life poby comparison was soft. According to sition with a good, fat salary. The career of this great quartet illustrates what may be accomplished by soldiers straw. in times of peace by a judicious combining of law, politics and military records.

Vest's Gubernatorial Namesake. It is very rare that one man still active in public life sees another man who was named for him governor of a great state. Yet that is precisely what Senator Vest has done, the recent governor of Missouri, Hon. Lon Vest Stephens being his namesake. Thereby hangs a tale which furnishes another illustration of Vest's gratitude. When he migrated to Missouri, he located at Boonville. Colonel J. L. Stephens, father of Governor Stephens, the leading lawyer and financier of the town, took the brilliant young Kentuckian into partnership on liberal terms. Soon after a son was born to Colonel Stephens, and he christened him Lon Vest out of admiration for his youthful partner. Time went on. Vest was in the senate; Grover Cleveland was in the White House; a great national bank broke in St. Louis; the senator had his namesake, Lon Vest Stephens, appointed re ceiver out of friendship and gratitude to his father. Lon Vest discharged his duties as receiver with such ability that when a vacancy occurred in the office of state treasurer of Missouri Governor Francis appointed him to serve during the unexpired term. Then he was elected for a full term of four years. He made such an excellent treasurer that in 1896 he was nominated for governor by acclamation and triumphantly elected.

Very popular are hats of tuscan colored rush straw lined with pale blue and trimined with a scarf of black and perhaps a bunch of pink roses, very small roses be it understood. The flower toques reappear in another form, be ing made of a larger shape than formerly, bending down somewhat in the front and sweeping upward at the back.

Simple hats are made of straw and trimmed with a scarf of soft silk with fringed ends, and the black hat is of course as popular as ever, made either in rolls of crin and trimmed with flowers or in folds of tulle and trimmed with black ostrich feathers.

A pretty way of trimming a black hat is to bind the under brim with rolls of white chiffon, laying over this jet butterflies, and the crown of this will be found encircled with a scarf of soft black satin, the ends arranged to fall over the hair.

If there be one shape more especially in favor than another it is that which turns down on the forehead and makes a curve up at the back, the back being filled in with velvet bows or bunches

In the making of coming walking gowns fashion will a tale unfold, for the newest of coats show a tail at the back, and perhaps this is a very desirable state of affairs in view of the fact that we continue to patronize the tight fitting skirt, which is, in truth, not entirely becoming to every woman who elects to wear it.

That small tail at the back of the coat immediately takes off the look of undue tightness. In the front the coats are for the most part cut round and bear revers or a narrow galloon. Many coats are, however, cut three-quarter length, either with a belt or to fit tightly to the waist at the back and to be semifitting in the front.

For Tired Feet. Saleswomen and trained nurses complain much of swollen feet, especially nurses when they first go into hospital service. A powder that is much used in the German army for sifting into the shoes and stockings of infantry soldiers is useful for such cases. It consists of three parts salicylic acid. ten parts starch and eighty-seven parts pulverized soapstone (steatite). This keeps the feet dry, prevents chafing and heals any sore places.

Soapstone alone is useful, but the starch absorbs dampness. Soap is also good, well rubbed over the stocking

What Capital May Do

New Haven, April 26.—Bishop Henry C. Potter, in addressing the Yale students last night in the course on "The Responsibilities of Citizenship," speaking particularly of the citizen and the capitalist, said in part: "Great aggregations of capital may easily be the menace of society. They make it possible for the unscrupulously strong to conquer or crush the timid weak; they make it possible for vast organizations to cite fictitious values on the one hand, and to destroy those that are real on the other. They make it possible to produce a fictitious scarceness of the necessaries of life where there is none, and practically to annihilate values when weaker men refuse to yield to their decrees."

Will Be Recited In Injunction Proceedings, Which, If Successful Change Their Methods

Washington, April 26.-Attorney General Knox's announcement that intrust in the United States courts at Chicago would be begun immediately is taken in consequence of the evidence at hand of the disregard of the United | it away in storage. Then they began States law by that combination for the gradually to force the price of butter purpose of restraining trade, creating monopolies, fixing prices and dividing

It was generally believed that the atwhere he was ready to take action against the beef barons when he went to the White House early in the day to see long consultation between the attorney general and former Judge W. Day was regarded as significant.

It was known that Judge Day, who has been for a long time acting under the instructions of the interstate commerce commission, had been instructed by Attorney General Knox to make careful investigation.

The proceedings which have been taken are aimed against the large meat producers who are working in combination, and may include a few houses under other names which are really branches for the purpose of confusing district attorneys and the public. These houses are said to be Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Nelson Morris & Co., Sulzberger & Schwarzchild, G. H. Hammond & Co., and the Cudahy Packing company.

The first step to be taken will be the preparation of the bill in equity. This bill will cite all the facts of the violation of the law which can be substantiated and other violations of law which have been partially substantiated and which will be susceptible of proof on further investigation. This was the course taken by the attorney general in the proceedings begun by order of the president in the United States court in Minnesota in the Northern Securities merger case.

The injunction proceedings themselves mean that great packing houses must act independently or go out of business. If, after the injunctions are issued, they should continue to regulate prices, blacklist their customers a furnished room to let advertise in the LEDGER. | whom he described as the "jayhawker

> > Trust Run From Cover

New York, April 26.—The price of butter has dropped 7 cents, the beef trust being caught in its own trap and forced Means That Packing Houses Must to give the lie to the claim of a shortage by rushing its heavy stores from hiding It was the utter collapse of the butter corner engineered by the packers. The trust unloaded its huge stores of butter, which it could not sell at its fabjunction proceedings against the beef | ulous prices, and drove the market sheer down from 33 to 26 cents.

Six weeks ago the packers, claiming that there was a shortage, bought up all the butter they could find and put up, until last Saturday it reached the high water mark of 33 cents a pound. For the poor this means 35 or 40-cent butter. Loud complaints came from the dealers, who protested that their terney general had reached a point | trade was ruined and that the people would not buy. The unlooked-for result of the squeeze was that the butter trade was cut in half. Suddenly realizthe president. This visit, following a | ing the danger, the trust began to unload, and yesterday the market was overrun, and the shortage so loudly proclaimed last week had vanished from sight.

The prospect of an increased supply. owing to the pasturage season, helped to run the trust from cover. Some dealers believe that butter will go 5 cents lower before it stops.

The advance in egg prices was also arrested.

CARMACK'S SHARP TALK

In Opposition to Philippine Government Bill

VIOLATIONS OF THE LAW these food products is due to trusts PRESIDENT IS CRITICISED

For Policy and Utterances Declared to Be "Treasonable"-Funston De nounced as a "Jayhawker Brigadier From the Wind-Swept Plains"

Washington, April 26.-Two extended speeches occupied the entire attention of the senate yesterday. Mr. McCumber of North Dakota discussed his bill to prevent the misbranding and misrepresentation of food products which enter into interstate commerce. Mr. Carmack of Tennessee, one of the minority members of the Philippines committee, spoke in opposition to the Philippine government bill now pending. His address attracted to the chamber not only many senators, but a considerable number of his former colleagues in the house.

Mr. Carmack said that this bill, like the Philippine tariff bill, simply presented one aspect of imperialism. It was not a question only of framing just laws for the Filipinos, but a question of right to make any laws whatever for that people. "The claim of the Republicans," said he, "is that they had burned enough towns, wasted enough country and killed enough people to make good their right. The idea that you can transform the character of a race by teaching them to read is the wildest, craziest, the most fantastic dream that ever flitted through a lunatic's brain."

He quoted utterances from Mr Roosevelt, charging that "treasonable" utterances had incited the Filipinos to insurrection, and said that we must not judge the president in his moments of oratorical ferocity or when the in the beef trust question. He says frenzy of battle was in his blood. The president was not vindictive, but in his habits of speech a certain Tenneseean's horse, of which it was said that running away was his natural gait. Mr. Roosevelt habitually had spoken of the Filipinos as "savages" and "barbarians" and "Apaches," and these denunciations had been scattered broadcast throughout the islands to inflame the people against the United States. The effect of the president's language had been to harden and intensify Filipino opposition to American rule. Some of our military heroes had been guilty of a like offence. He referred to III you have a kouse for sale or to let or a recent speech of General Funston, brigadier from the wind-swept plains, the mightiest Sampson that ever wielded the jawbone of an ass as a weapon of war." Papers had quoted Funston as saying that the president wanted him to accept an invitation from the junior senator from Massachu setts to go to Boston and talk to the people there about hanging the senior senator from Massachusetts, but the plain "If men are to be hanged without regard for law for speaking words calculated to incite insurrection," said he, "the first neck to feel the strangling clutch of the soaped rope would be the heroic gullet of Funston." Ever since he had been in the Philippines he had been pouring forth tirades of indiscriminate insult against the whole people, and had outrageously insulted the very men upon whom the commission was relying for aid in pacifying the country. He also had it on the very highest authority that a speech made by the senator from Indiana (Mr. Beveridge) had been circulated broadcast throughout the country with an exceedingly pernicious effect upon the natives.

The dominant idea of the bill now before the senate, said he, was to exploit the Philippines. It was proposed to make a wholesale grant of franchises and concessions, and to dispose of the people's lands to foreign syndicates and corporations without giving the people themselves any voice in the business.

The house yesterday passed 145 private pension bills, including bills to pension the widow of the late General William Ludlow at $50 a month and the widow of the late "Parson" Brownlow Tennessee at $30 a month. The remainder of the day was devoted to general debate on the agricultural appropriation bill.

Killed Man With Tongs Washington, April 26.-The navy department yesterday received the finding of the court martial which tried James A. Paine, a blacksmith aboard the U. S. S. Cincinnati, for the killing of Agnes Williams, a water tender on the same vessel. The court found Paine not guilty of the charge of manslaughter and he was acquitted. Paine believed Williams to be preparing to assail him with a razor, and he had no alternative than to strike out with the simply "strenuous," and resembling only weapon at hand-his blacksmith

A CALICO PARTY.

The Loyal Ladies Celebrate Their Anniversary.

The eleventh anniversary of the institution of the order of the Loyal Ladies of Clan McGregor, No. 1 was very enthusiastically celebrated in Hancock hall last night. A ball and entertainment of singing and fancy step dancing occupied the hours of enjoyment until two o'clock in the morning.

The ladies elected to appear on this occasion arranged in calico and it was evident from the varied and rich assortment of designs and brilliant colors that scintillated in the electric lights of Hancock hall that the possibilities in calico were taken full advantage of.

The worthy ladies had a little joke

From a capacious bag of multi-hued calico each gentleman had to draw an envelope, which contained a necktie of calico corresponding with the material worn by some lady in the hall, who according to arrangement was his partner for the grand march. This bit of arbitrament on the part of the ladies was accepted by the gentlemen very good naturedly, although not a little amusement was occasioned by the search for the matching patterns f the varied colored dresses.

The grand march of fourscore couples led by Miss Bessie Robbie and Mr. Alexander Marnock on the right, and Miss Cathrin Black and Mr. A. Cowe on the left, to the strains of Robinson's orchestra, was the moment of supreme interest as it gave to critical observers an opportunity to compare the style and deportment of the marchers; but amid such a moving galaxy of splendor It is to be hoped that Attorney Gen- and beauty comparisons were of no eral Knox means business and that law value. Quincy's county tax this year will be $878.65 less than last year, because the Norfolk County Commissioners find it necessary to assess but $140,417.61 for expenditures of 1902. Last year the total was $149,500.00, and Quincy paid $14,462.92. This year Quincy's assessment is $13,584.27, Brookline and Milton each being called upon for more, and all the other towns less. ## THE SHADOW OF DOOM

ERRY had been at his desk since 8 o'clock, but he had not accom on a sheet of paper. He covered the sheet and two others, and the absurd occupation seemed to take an increasing hold upon his attention. At the last his eyes were wide open and staring, and the palms of his hands were wet with perspiration. His head hung forward, and he licked his fips as one does who is sick with fear.

An observer might have said that these circles were spells of the blackest magic and that Perry had succeeded in raising the arch fiend.

Presently he got upon his feet, as if animated by a sudden resolution, and assumed a military attitude, with his back to the chair in which he had been sitting. The light from the cluster of electric bulbs hanging over the desk was thrown strongly down upon it by a reflector, but enough escaped to cast a giant shadow of Perry upon the wall.

The shadow swayed from side to side. The unfortunate man opened his eyes, and perhaps he caught a glimpse of the moving silhouette, for nervously. "Talking to myself! That's another symptom."

He stretched out his hand toward the desk. There was a numbness in his fingers, and queer little pains ran up and down his forearm. He picked up a bundle of proof sheets and glanced hastily over the printed lines.

"It can't be true," he

"It certainly is a coincidence," he said, "that I should have written this story. I was not conscious of portraying myself when I drew the character of Langham, but everybody will think so after the book's out, and I'm-done for." He swallowed a mouthful of air at these last words. "In a hurry to get rich was Langham. He had too many irons in the fire. He thought all the time, even when he was asleep. At that he had the best of me, because I don't go to sleep. But paresis got him, and it's got me. I've had two professions, either of them enough to drive a man crazy. I've been a broker and an author. I've gambled with my own brains and other people's money. The money bet won and the brains are lost. I'm done for!"

He paced the strides. There was a band of pain about his head just above his eyes, and the fingers of his right hand twitched with little nervous throbs that extended to the elbow. Suddenly the tears sprang into his eyes. His lids were wet in a flash, and he was ashamed.

"I must take this thing as a man should," he said. "She shan't know, nor any one else. Thank heaven He paced that it has come upon me with unnow, when I can bear it strides. alone! It won't be noticed in me right away. It's slow, but sure. Don't I know the symptoms? Didn't I stuff myself full of them while I was writing that cursed story? All right. I can hold it off for a month or two, while I settle my affairs, and then it will be summer, when a fellow can go out sailing alone and jibe her over with the sheet made fast or swim out a little too far from the shore at Coney Island.

His cheerful soliloquy was interrupt. ed by a rap on the door. Perry admitted a young gentleman named Hammond, whose apartments were upon the same corridor.

Meanwhile not a word to any one."

"Alone, Jack?" queried Hammond, entering cautiously, for he was very imperfectly clothed. "I thought I heard you talking to somebody."

"I was talking to somebody who is now nobody," said Perry. "He's dead and done for. Don't bother about him.' "I don't see any corpses," said Hammond, glancing round the room, "except myself. I'm dead-broke.' "Money is a small matter, a trifle." replied Perry. "A man may be poor one day and rich the next, but there are treasures which, once lost, are never regained."

"If you have such a contempt for money,"

"Alone, said Hammond, "you might lend me a hunqueried dred. The experience will prove to you that money is one of the things that can be irretrievably lost. But what's the matter? Have you got stuck in your story?" Perry made an impatient gesture and continued to pace the floor.

"I suppose this is the new writing table that Ethel Bertram gave you." said | infallibility that he was greatly alarmthe visitor. think." It is utterly hopeless," responded Perry. "I've looked up all the authorities. Mind! Not a word about this. I shall tell no one.' Hammond made a gesture that pledged his soul and body, but about 3 o'clock in the morning, under the influence of a beverage that is known as a club cooler, he confided to the other fellows that Perry was a wreck. "It's a dreadful thing."

he said. He was a brilliant man. He made money in the daytime and fame in the evening. And he was engaged to the prettiest girl in town; rich too.

Isn't it terrible? Well, deal the cards, Jim, and let's thank heaven that none of us will die of overwork.

Left alone in his room, Perry tried to think, but the common sense wherewith he had made money was captive to the imagination of the story writeran imagination overstrained by too much struggling with the troubles of the fictitious Langham. His mind was a prophetic panorama wherein he saw a short future full of grief. When at last he sought his bed, it was to find ten thousand nightmares stabled under his pillow, and in the morning he was unrefreshed and tremulous as a drunk-

Upon leaving the building he went to the barber's shop where he was accustomed to be shaved. The cheerful artist of the razor gave him good day and assured him that he was looking well. "I'll give you a dollar," said Perry sharply, "if you'll tell me honestly how I do look." "You don't mean that there's anything really the matter?" he asked in a tone of real sympathy. "Nothing but paresis," replied the young man.

"Go way," said the barber. "You don't mean it.'

"I mean just that, but you needn't tell anybody. I shouldn't have mentioned it." Perry's partner in business was a cheerful, emotional young man named Joe Lynwood. He was an expert in all matter relating to the stock market, and it was really due to him that the modest enterprise had thriven so well. But Lynwood never would have said business worth? I want to sell out." Lynwood was speechless. Wonder and grief held him helpless. "You're crazy!" he gasped at last.

Perry glanced over his shoulder nerv-"How did you know?" he whispered.

Do I show it?" The explanation which this remark necessitated was extremely painful. Lynwood could not believe the terrible news, yet he had so long been accustomed to put implicit faith in Perry's

Many Are Called, but Few Get Up. The old Yale graduate sat up in bed and rubbed his eyes. It was not his own room at home. Then he remembered; he was back in New Haven, and he had been out the night before with some of the boys who were going to be graduated soon.

Had he left a call at the hotel office? He had, and remembered it distinctly. Seven o'clock was the hour.

He looked at his watch. It was 10:37. His face began to swell, and he forgot that his head was aching. He called the hotel people a few names. As he buttoned his collar he told the mirror what he was going to do to that clerk just as soon as he could get down stairs. By the time he was dressed his rage and righteous indignation were too great for words. He felt like killing some one.

As he threw open the door a slip of paper fluttered to the floor. It read: Room 8. Called at 7 o'clock by No. 12." Then he read a printed line at the bottom of the notice: "Many are called, but few get up."

He paid his bill meekly and went his way .- New York Tribune.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For Week flegianing April 27. Comment by Rev. s. H. Doyle. Topic.-Samuel's call.-I Sam. iii, 1-21. Union meeting with the Juniors.)

Samuel in the Old Testament and Timothy in the New Testament are Perry get through the day fairly the inspirations to the dedication of childhood to faith in God and to the service of God. They stand out prominently as illustrations of the blessed results of early consecration-that is, followed by careful after instruction and nurture. The little men and women of our Junior Endeavor societies can do nothing better than to frequently turn to the story of Samuel's life and read again and again of his pious parentage, of his service in God's temple, of his response to God's call when only a child and of his years of fidelity and faithfulness in his after life. It is a charming story and one that should be a sweetness and inspiration to the life of any boy or girl who wants to be a Christian and a Junior Endeavorer. 1. Samuel was carefully prepared for the call of God. He was the child of pious parents-Elkanah and Hannah. He was an answer to a prayer and to a vow. In fulfillment of that vow his mether very early placed him in the temple of God to be raised for the service of God and visited him once a year and gave to him a little coat, the workmanship of loving hands. With such preparation it was little wonder that God called Samuel to His service and that Samuel promptly responded to the call. In these days, when the church is bewailing the falling off of candidates for the gospel ministry, if there were more Hannahs to consecrate their Samuels to the service of God in His temple and to raise them with this one object in view such a deplorable state of affairs would not ex-

2. God's call came to Samuel at a very early age. Samuel was probably only twelve or thirteen years of age when God called him to a special and important mission. At first he did not recognize the voice of God. How often this is the case! Sometimes for years we grope about in the darkness, without knowing whether it is the voice of God that calls us to His work. But when God wants a man His voice is recognized sooner or later. But if God is calling us to enter the gospel ministry, how may we know it? Eli revealed the voice of God to Samuel. Who will reveal it to us? Three practical tests will probably answer this question: (1) An overwhelming desire to preach the gospel for Christ's sake and that of the unsaved. (2) Natural qualifications. (3) Opportunities. But we may rest assured that if God is calling us He will make the opportunity for us. Samuel had the desire "Miss Bertram gave me the desk, and and ability, and the opportunity came. 3. Samuel responded to the call of God. Willingly and enthusiastically he entered the service of God and gave his entire life to His service, and God crowned his life with success and with honors. If by desire, ability and opportunity God is calling us to His service, especially in the gospel ministry, let us respond to His call and dedicate our lives to this glorious work. There never were better opportunities for young men in the gospel ministry than today. Schools of law, of medicine, of science and art are overcrowd-This is, however, far from the case in our theological seminaries. Here there is a falling off. The ministry is not overcrowded. There are not too many churches. God and His church today call for workers as clearly as God called for Samuel's service. The great Christian denominations stand ready to help in educational preparation all those who, having piety and ability, apply at their doors. Who will respond? Young men, Junior boys, is not God calling you? If so, will you not imitate Samuel's example and re-

Because we have sorrows of our own we must not be indifferent to those of others. Grace removes all selfishness out of personal grief and develops a fellow feeling for another's afflictions True Christians are drawn all the more closely through common trials. As we need sympathy and help in what we endure, so do others in their tribulations, and it becomes us to give out as well as take in kindly consolation and assistance. Our Saviour suffered, but it was that He might be all the more able to sympathize with and aid His people.-Presbyterian.

And how good the dinner always tasted when they would land at some shady nook and cook the fish over the fire of twigs and branches for their noonday

This day had been a lucky one for both the fishers, for Roy had made his tionless about six inches from the wafirst good catch, and now he gazed ter. proudly at the string of pickerel and black bass beside him, which weighed down the little boat as they rowed slowly homeward and trailed its smell of fish through the soft air. Roy turned to look, and there, skimming along over the water and giving his queer little whistle as he came, was a strange, dark bird like none that Roy had seen before.

"It is a sandpiper," said Roy's father in a low voice as the bird drew slowly nearer. "Sit still, and we will watch him. See, he is almost beside us."

The two dropped their oars and sat quite still, while the little boat scarcely stirred in the lazy current. They were near the sandy bank of the James Whitcomb Riley's Little Story stream, and as the bird came closer he seemed to pause in his long, zigzag flight, then, with a quick motion, dartly an hour before, but the clouds over the western tree tops were still bright

Out of 150 recruits enrolled only 32 appeared and they were all rejected for physicial defects. In many of the communes nobody appeared, and at Ny Karelby only one man, a cripple, presented himself. Such is the practical working of the law which General Bobrikoff (the gov

Author of Arbor Day, Whose Constant Motto Was to "Plant Trees"-Ran Agricultural Department on Practical Lines, but With Trouble

Chicago, April 28-Hon. J. Sterling Morton, former secretary of agriculture, died yesterday afternoon at Lake Forest at the home of his son, Mark Morton. For several weeks Mr. Morton had been gradually failing. The nature of his illness had not been determined and a week ago he was brought from his home at Nebraska City, Neb., to Lake Forest for medical attention. The change brought no improvement, and he failed gradually until death came.

JULIUS STERLING MORTON. Mr. Morton's illness began several months ago and in hopes that a change of climate would restore his health he went to the City of Mexico. Mr. Morton continued to grow worse in the southern country, however, and six weeks ago he returned to his old home in Nebraska. After he arrived here he improved some what and it was believed for a time that he would entirely recover from his ailment. Last week he suffered a stroke of apoplexy. JAPANESE FORGING AHEAD

Little Men Who Are Acute Diplomatists and No Mean Warriors-Alliance Repairing promptly attended to. With China Would Work Up a

Power Which Would Make History Washington, April 28-The new international alignments of recent date, with England and Japan on the one side and Russia and France on the other, with the moral support of the world's other powers divided between the two alliances, is furnishing food for reflection to the thoughtful. The London Spectator regards the situation as ominous. It contends that in spite of all diplomatic disguises and sophistries "the fact remains that we and Japan have ranged ourselves opposite to Russia and France, and that our interests may some day plunge us into a war which will be fought in the channel and the Baltic." This may be taking a prematurely gloomy view of the situation, but should the worst be realized we shall see an entirely new factor in Eurepean international combinations. The new power is referred to as "little Japan," though the adjective is entirely misleading. It probably is applied through judging the empire by its little trees, little vehicles, little men and women; but when we come to aggregate all these elements. Japan is not little It covers more than 4000 islands, though only about 500 are inhabitated. But in its measurements it considerably exceeds Great Britain and Hreland, having an area a third larger and nearly 20 percent more population. Then these little men are acute diplomatists and no mean warriors. What they lack in bulk they more than make up in other ways. President Roosevelt is said to be now taking a course in jiujitsu, a bones and even take the life of a larger The Japanese have learned the value of dexterity. No nation has carried it time to time an element of jiujitsu in their diplomacy and in their warfare. The grand total of the imperial army, counting the reserves, is now about 600,000, and when we remember that Japan has a male population of 22,000, 000, which is increasing at the rate of 250,000 a year, it is evident that her fighting force might be greatly enarged. At the close of the year 1900, she had a navy of 70 ships and 68 torpedo boats. Of the former there were 8 battleships and 20 cruisers, and the umber must be larger now, because Japan has been looking steadily ahead and making a considerable annual increase in her naval strength, getting insisting upon having it thoroughly upto-date in all its appointments. So it is a mistake to speak of "little Japan" as something that has value only as ballast. Her population is larger than that of France, and on eastern matters she means more in the international equation. It is possible that she may have ulterior motives in her present agreement with Great Britain. It may be a practice step toward alliances nearer home. With China and Japan working together, an Asiatic power might be worked up that would history. Should China ever make up make new adjustments in the world's her mind to enter the race of modern civilization, she would find Japan her best teacher and Japan would probably not be averse to accepting the re-

A VALUABLE MEDICINE

For Coughs and Colds in Children. "I have not the slightest hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all who are suffering from coughs or colds," says Chas. M. Cramer, Esq., a well known watch maker, of Colombo, Ceylon. "It has been some two years since the City Dispensary first called my attention to this valuable medicine and I have repeatedly used it and it has always been beneficial. It has cured me quickly of all chest colds. It is especially effective for children and seldom takes more than one bottle to cure them of hoarseness. I have persuaded many to try this valuable medicine, and they are all as well pleased as myself over the results.'

A VIGOROUS ONSLAUGHT

On Methods Pursued by Smith In Island of Samar

HIS ORDERS NOT JUSTIFIED

Sibley Would Have Him Stripped of His Uniform at Once-Williams Describes Him as a Brute-Simmons Also Contributes a Chapter

Washington, April 29.-Representative Sibley (Pa.) created something of a sensation in the house yeserday during the general debate on the agricultural appropriation bill by severely denouncing General Jacob H. Smith for the orders he issued in the Samar campaign. He declared that General Smith was a disgrace to the uniform he wore and expressed the hope that the president would strip him of his uniform within 48 hours.

Mr. Sibley's speech was enthusiastically applauded by the Democrats and was received with some evidence of approval on the Republican side. The speech was considered the most remarkable in that it came from a Republican who left the Democratic party on he issues raised by the Spanish war and who since has been an ardent expansionist.

Mr. Sibley said he had always defended the course of the administration and had believed in expansion, but when it came to orders such as had been issued by General Smith humanity seemed to have marched backward.

"I have heard of Timor the Tartar and of the Saracen scourge, but, thank God, it took 18 centuries after Calvary to produce a General Smith." He declared that General Smith should be discharged in disgrace. "He admits he issued the orders to make Samar a howling wilderness," said Mr. Sibley, "and to kill all over 10 years of age. Such a man should not be permitted to stay in the army until the sun goes down. He is a disgrace not only to himself but to every man who wears the uniform of his country. No man can justify such orders, no matter how adroit may be the plea of his lawyers and defenders. He admits he issued the orders and I hope there is enough courage, patriotism and Christianity at the other end of the avenue to see that he is stripped of his uniform within 48

Mr. Williams (Dem., Miss.) heartily endorsed Mr. Sibley's onslaught upon General Smith, whom he described as a "brute in uniform." "But I am a little afraid," he continued, "that he does not strike the evil in the right quarter. It is the system which should be struck ly called the attention of the United at, not the man who unconsciously carries out the spirit of the system. Wherever there is a war of conquest against a weak and inferior colored people deeds of brutality naturally ocmittee of the senate committee on Cu- | cur. The chief danger is not the injury ban relations appointed to make inquiry | to the weak race, but that the temptainto the holdings of Cuban sugar will | tion to tyranny will react upon the soldiers. For that reason such wars should be avoided. I agree with the gentleman from Pennsylvania that there can be no justification for a civilized man to issue an order to lay waste a whole country and kill everybody, including children over 10 years of age.' Mr. Simmons (N. C.) addressed the senate in opposition o the Philippine government bill. He urged that the Philippines ought to be turned over to the inhabitants of the islands. He denounced the "cruelties and barbarities" alleged to have been committed on the Filipinos by the American army and said that he felt "like calling upon the great, brave and humane man now in the White House to probe these things to the bottom and at least to make them odions.'

Representative Burleson of Texas introduced a resolution calling on the secretary of war for information as to whether General Smith's order relative to the war in Samar was based on orders from Washington and requesting the transmission of all orders issued from Washington relative to the suppression of the insurrection in Samar. Representative Conry of Massachusetts introduced another resolution calling for information along the same Testimony In Smith's Favor . Manila, April 29 .- The trial by courtmartial of General Smith was resumed yesterday. Major Waller testified to receiving from General Smith the order to "kill and burn" and render Samar a howling wilderness," previously referred to in these dispatches. The natives of Samar, said Major Waller, were more treacherous and implacable than the tribesmen of the Soudan. Without General Smith's drastic measures the war there would not have been ended vet. General Smith never intended dead by the Samar natives.

"It is with pleasure I recommend Dr. Pierce's medicine," writes Mrs. Nora Tipton, of Cropper (Cropper Station), Shelby Co., Kentucky, "You remember my case was one of female weakness and weak lungs. I had no appetite and would often spit blood; was confined to my bed almost half of the time and could hardly stand on my feet at times for the pains through my whole body and system. My husband had to pay large doctor bills for me, but since I have taken four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, four of 'Favorite Prescription' and three vials of 'Pleasant Pellets' we haven't paid any more doctor bills. It had been seven months since I stopped using Dr. Pierce's medicines and I have been enjoying good health all the time. I can never praise these medicines too highly, for I have received so much benefit. I pray that many who suffer as I did will take Dr. Pierce's medicines. I am sure they will never fell to medicines. I am sure they will never fail to cure when given a fair trial. Everybody tells me I look better than they ever saw me. I am sure I feel better than I ever did before."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testinony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not ccept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

GOVERNOR TAFT AT YALE

Says Humanity and Consideration Have Been Shown the Filipinos-Church and State Problems Will Require Skillful Treatment

New Haven, April 30.-Governor General Taft of the Philippine islands was well received last evening when he addressed about 2000 persons in College street hall at Yale. Judge Taft's lecture was followed carefully by the students and professors, as well as many townsfolk who were present by Governor Taft reviewed the same ground as that covered by his evidence before the senate and house commit

With respect to the evidence as to the water cure and other crueltes, Governor Taft said that it must be re membered that the army of 40,000 to warfare carried on by the insurgents had to be divided into 500 posts, many of which were commanded by first and second lieutenants or captains, and sometimes by sergeants, and that the detachments in the field far exceeded the number for posts; that this explained how it was possible, with many engagements daily, exceptional in without typifying the conduct of the army, which on the whole was humane and considerate toward the natives. It was not to be expected that in an army of 60,000 men there should not b brutes or veak men, who would yield to the temptation of arbitrary power and the provocation, hardly to be under stood, of the ambush and treachery savagery and danger of the Philippin guerilla warfare as it was practiced.

In speaking of the relations between the church and the government in the Philippines, the speaker said that, under the Spanish rule, the church and the state had had their interests so inextricably associated and fused that it was a work of the nicest and most difficult character to separate justly the interests of the one from the other, and yet those interests must be sep arated in order that the church and state in the Philippines should be brought to the condition required by out traditions and system of government. It was an indispensable conditon prece dent to bringing about the necessary sep aration that there should be some con ference between the church authorities and the representatives of this govern ment with a view to an amicable adjustment. Whether this conference should be had between a representativ of the great corporaton of the Catholic church, or should be a conference between a representative of this govern ment and the head of the church, was: mere matter of method and of facility of complete settlement. It could no of course involve the establishment of diplomatic relations with the vatican but if held would be a conference made necessary by the unusual circumstance of a transfer of sovereignty from country closely associated with th church to one which must have the in terests of the church and state separate Serious Situation on the Nile

LABORERS BADLY HURT By Premature Explosion of Unusu

ally Heavy Blast of Dynamite Newton, Mass., April 30.—Domenic Beban and Guiseppi Beban, two Italian laborers, were brought to the Newton hospital yesterday afternoon, the latter suffering from injuries which probably will prove fatal, as the result of a blasting accident in Weston. The accident occurred where a gang of men were engaged in tunnelling out a cellar from solid rock. The two men were preparing an unusually heavy blast of dynamite, and had nearly completed their preparations when from some unexplained cause the charge prematurely exploded.

Guiseppi Beban was standing directly over the dynamite, and he and his companion were hurled high into the air. The other workmen were more or less bruised and cut by the flying rocks Guiseppi Beban's head and face were torn and his throat rent open, and it is doubtful if he will survive. Domenic Beban was badly cut and, it is thought, injured internally.

Her statement was to the effect that she had been awakened about midnight and found him in her room. She had that day received $2,000 in cash, and he demanded the money. When she cried out, he struck her with a club, and during the few minutes she was unconscious he secured the money and fled. Did any one doubt her story? Indeed he was so cool and nervy that the officers, who knew him as well as they knew their own chilas well as they knew their own children, began to doubt if he were really the man before they started back. The prisoner declared the officers mistaken, but made no objection to repeople at the depot to see him. Every one recognized him as Henry Day. Next day he was arraigned before a justice of the peace under that name. He denied it and gave his name as James Bailey. His plea was "not in the county. The doubt which the officers brought back with them now began to bear fruit. When Mrs. Marbegan to bear fruit. I have told you how they failed to prove he was anybody but Bailey, and yet he was Day. Years afterward I interviewed him in a South Carolina jail for two days before he was to be tried for burglary, and he acknowledged his identity and laughed heartily over the details of the case.

M'ARTHUR TAKES BLAME

For Funston's Methods In Capture of Aguinaldo

THE DECEPTION BY FORGERY

Frequently Practiced In War and He Assumes Full Responsibility Therefor-Thinks Absolute Chaos Would Follow Filipinos' Independence

Washington, April 30.-The senate committee on the Philippines yesterday resumed the examination of witnesses in connection with the investigation of affairs in the Philippine islands. General MacArthur continued his examination. He explained the statement in his annual report of June 30, 1900, that "the United States had acquired sovereignty by treaty and in a way owned the Philippine islands, but did not own the Philippine people," by saying that these conclusions were reached after conversation with an infinite number of people and observation, and that they represented the bulk of the views of the Nationalist party.

He then, in response to questions by Senator Patterson, described the different towns embraced within the American lines on the night of Feb. 5, 1899, when the outbreak occurred and identified what purported to be a copy of the order of General Luna for the massacre of the foreign residents of Senator Patterson sought to show that it was not difficult to deceive Aguinaldo by forgery, and referred to his capture by General Funston, through a forged letter signed "Lacuna." General MacArthur, with considerable emphasis, declared that General Funston was not responsible in any way for any of the methods which obtained in the capture of Aguinaldo. "I am responsible in that matter in every way and particular," said General Mac-Arthur. "It was one of the deceptions frequently practiced in war, and the responsibility for whatever deception

With regard to the order for the Manila massacre, General MacArthur said the order he saw was signed by Sandico, and not by Luna. General Mac Arthur detailed the efforts made by him to ferret out Luna's connection with it. Senator Patterson quoted from a report of Dr. Bourns, a surgeon in the United States army, as to how he came in possession of the Sandico order through a Filipino who made a copy of the original. The senator referred to a to the effect that the Filipino might have "stretched things a little." General MacArthur said there might have been two orders. "Would you hang a yellow dog on the testimony that is paraded here as to the genuineness of these orders?" asked med any responsibility for the orders of General Smith to make Samar a howling wilderness.

Replying to a question by Senator Beveridge, General MacArthur said that absolute chaos would result should. the Filipinos be given complete independence and the United States entirely withdraw from the islands; but he said he would like to explain this statement at another session of the committee. He was thereupon excused until

Only nine members of the committee were present yesterday and therefore a decision of the question of calling witnesses from the archipelago was postponed till today. It is believed, however, that the proposal will be rejected by a straight party vote.

Samar Insurrection Ended

Manila, April 30.-The surrender of the insurgents of the island of Samar, headed by General Guevarra, who suc ceeded General Lukban in that island, has been officially affected, though some southern ports are yet to be heard from. It is believed, however, that the insurrection in Samar is ended.
